Pittsburg and, from indications last night, vicinity nearly all of Pennsylvania, will have clear skies for election day. The thermometer which dropped 24 degrees in the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock last night, will probably reach its lowest this morning, and will hover just below the freezing point most of the day. There are no indications of any moderating weather, however, before tomorrow.

The total precipitation yesterday was .28 of an inch, less than was anticipated by the weather sharks. From a maximum of 70 on Sunday, the temperature fell to 32 degrees last night. Indications were that 28 would be the minimum reached during the present wave. The thermometer will slowly climbing last night, with clear weather all through the west.

INDIAN PRINCE COMING HITHER

Personality and Mission Surrounded by a Charming Haze of Mystery.

FOR WEEKS HE PUZZLED LONDON

A Very Retiring Young Potentate With an English Wife, Said to Live Incognito in New York Dancing Girl in His Retinue.

(Special Telegram to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—On his way to visit this city the mysterious prince of India, who has thrown London into a fever of curiosity concerning his identity, has arrived with his retinue of 28 native servants and a dancing girl at Montreal, and it is expected that his coming here will not be long delayed. The prince arrived at Montreal Sunday evening, having left Liverpool on October 24, and with his dancing girl and five retainers, went to the Windsor hotel. The others of his party were sent to the other hotels.

As to his identity, this entry appears in the list of passengers: "His Highness, Prince Ranjit of Baluchistan and retinue." Prince Ranjit is married. His wife is an English woman, who is now living incognito in New York; hence, it is believed, is the real object of his visit.

London has been suffering for weeks from an acute attack of "curiosity fever" concerning the young Indian prince. His visit was not officially known or recognized, and all attempts by the press and public to discover the identity of the prince and his mission proved futile. His highness seems to have preserved his individuality and thwarted the curious with signal success. He has also succeeded in sealing the mouths of his retinue.

It was not until Friday evening that the prince appeared in public on the steamer by attending a concert given in aid of the Liverpool Seamen's orphanage. He allowed his dancing girl, Bahar Bux, and two musicians to contribute an Indian song and dance to the program. The prince was evidently pleased and emphasized his appreciation by a polite bow and pleasant smile.

It is now said that the mysterious traveler's real name and title are Prince Joe Ranjut, prince of Kurachi, and that he is the son and heir of the rajah of Baluchistan. He is 24 years old. His complexion is swarthy, and his hair, beard and mustache perfectly black. He has beautiful teeth, and small, sparkling, sympathetic eyes. He betrays considerable nervousness and physical weakness, and evidently desires to avoid public observation.

The apparently mysterious tour of the prince, it is said, was first suggested by his father, the rajah, who wished that his son, who is destined some day to succeed him as ruler of his province, should acquire a practical knowledge of the world and civilized nations. It was not originally intended that the prince should extend his tour beyond the continent and England, but he decided to visit Canada and the United States.

To provide his son with a retinue befitting his rank and as an eastern potentate, the rajah is said to have deputed some of his personal servants and a few additional natives to accompany the prince, with the mandate that strict reticence in all matters was to be observed. Prince Ranjit is not only well protected by a bodyguard, but in his retinue are two natives who in general appearance bear a very strong resemblance to his highness, and for an ordinary observer it would be difficult to tell one from another unless the three were together.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

Rumored Agreement on Northern Pacific Muddle by Mutual Concessions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—It was unofficially stated tonight that an agreement had been practically reached whereby the tangle in the northwestern railroad situation resulting from the corner of Northern Pacific shares on the stock exchange early in May, and which caused the panic of May 9 will be settled. Officials connected with the various companies at interest absolutely refuse to give out any statement in regard to the rumored agreement. It was stated on good authority, however, that the settlement, involving the conflicting interests of the Union Pacific railway, the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railroads, will be based primarily on the retirement of the Northern Pacific preferred stock on a basis of 115 or above and the issuance of 4½ per cent bonds, one-third of which it was stated would be allotted to the Union Pacific interests.

The crux of the reported agreement lay in the proposed division of territory whereby the railroads mentioned shall have complete traffic agreements regarding a certain territory in the country tapped by those lines.

It is generally understood that this plan of settlement waits the approval of W. K. Vanderbilt, who is expected to arrive from Europe on Wednesday's steamer.

GRAIN ELEVATORS BURNED.

275,000 Bushels of Wheat, Corn and Oats Worth $175,000 Destroyed.

PORT HURON, MICH., Nov. 4.—Fire tonight destroyed two large grain elevators owned by the Botsford Elevator Company here, entailing a loss of $300,000. There were 171,000 bushels of wheat, 90,000 bushels of corn and 14,000 bushels of oats in the building and the grain was all destroyed. The loss on the buildings is estimated at $125,000, with $62,000 insurance, and $175,000 on the grain. The grain was fully insured.

The steamer Spokane from Chicago was unloading grain when the fire started, and was only saved by the heroic efforts of her crew. One residence nearby was also burned.

The elevators were to have been used as one of the storage points in the projected through grain route of the Grand Trunk railroad system, from Duluth, Minn., to Leith, Scotland. J. E. Botsford stated that the loss of these elevators would not hinder the project, as a million bushel elevator would be constructed at Point Edward, Ont. The burned elevators will probably not be rebuilt.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Fire tonight destroyed the lamp work of John D. Boyd & Co. Three firemen were injured by falling walls. The loss will be about $80,000, with $50,000 insurance.

STIRRED THE ENGLISH.

Ambassador Choate Tells How the News of McKinley's Assassination Was Received.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Joseph H. Choate, the American ambassador to the court of St. James, arrived in Washington this evening. He will call on the president Wednesday.

"I was in England when President McKinley was shot and during the days preceding his death," said Mr. Choate tonight. "The English people were very deeply stirred over that event. They felt a sincere grief. Some Americans believe England only appeared to feel our president's death, but I know that throughout the length and breadth of England and the English colonies the people felt as if one of their own loved leaders had been taken away."

REEDER RAISES HIS ESTIMATE

Later Reports from County Chairmen Convince Him Republican Plurality Will Be Nearly 110,000.

PARTY SPURRED TO EFFORT BY ASSAULTS OF OPPOSITION

Enemies of National Administration Will Find No Encouragement in Election Returns from the Keystone State--President Roosevelt Will be Indorsed by a Tremendous Majority in Pennsylvania for an Off Year.

Headquarters Republican State Committee.
Philadelphia, November 4, 1901.

My estimate, given Saturday last, was that the Republican majority in Pennsylvania would be 100,000. Since then I have received reports from a number of the western and northwestern counties, in which the Republican leaders have raised their original estimates of the probable Republican majorities. I am now convinced that the majority for the Republican state candidates will be nearer 110,000 than 100,000.

The latest reports all indicate that the Republican committeemen have been spurred to unusual activity by the assaults of the insurgent and Democratic newspapers, and the Republican voters generally intend to express their condemnation of such malicious and unjustifiable attacks upon the Republican organization.

With the news that Maryland may go Democratic, and that Republican majorities are to be cut down in several heretofore stalwart Republican states, the Republicans of Pennsylvania do not propose that the Democrats and their Union party sympathizers shall get any encouragement from the election returns in this grand old Republican commonwealth tomorrow. The party of Lincoln, Grant, McKinley and Roosevelt can, after tomorrow's election, still look to Pennsylvania as the bulwark of Republicanism.

The administration of President Roosevelt will tomorrow night receive a message of encouragement and support which will forecast a strong Republican delegation in the next congress from the Keystone state.

FRANK REEDER,
Chairman Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania.

CREASY DECLINES TO GIVE FIGURES.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 4.—William T. Creasy, chairman of the Democratic state committee, left this evening for Catawissa, where he will vote tomorrow. Mr. Creasy said:

"From reports received at the Democratic headquarters today I can conscientiously say that Coray and Yerkes will be elected. Two-thirds of the counties of the state will give majorities for them."

Mr. Creasy declines to give any figures or estimates of majorities for the Democratic candidates.

MAJORITY TOO BIG TO BE IN DANGER

Fight Upon Justice Potter Paralleled by Onslaught On Barnett.

BY CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 4.—While estimates vary, there is not the slightest reason for apprehension as to the outcome of the battle of ballots tomorrow. Discounting heavily the predictions of the leaders—and they assert that their findings are very conservative—there still remains a margin against which nothing but a phenomenal landslide could prevail. There are no indications of such a seismic disturbance.

Chairman Reeder says the state ticket will have a plurality of upwards of 110,000. Supporting he is half wrong, there still remains 55,000 to the good. Commissioner Durham claims a plurality of 50,000. If his imagination is cumulative the result will still be decisive. But Mr. Durham is usually right.

An imposing majority of the people of Pennsylvania are Republicans. When they all go to the polls there is a wide margin. In 1900 McKinley's plurality over Bryan was 288,433. Two years ago—an off year like the present—Col. Barnett was elected state treasurer by a plurality of about 111,000. In the history of state politics no one was ever more fiercely, vindictively and falsely maligned than this candidate, the colonel of the Fighting Tenth.

The present fight has followed, so far as the insurgent newspapers are concerned, the lines of the one two years ago. Justice Potter of the supreme court, has been the target this year. Even the supreme court of the commonwealth is not held sacred. Admitedly upon the testimony of criminals, wiretappers and eavesdroppers, he has been assailed. No evidence but this has been offered in support of the allegations made. As in the case of Col. Barnett, the attacks upon Justice Potter have reacted.

State Chairman Reeder will receive returns at headquarters. They will be promptly transmitted to Senator Quay at Washington. Gov. Stone has accepted Quay's invitation to spend the day in Washington. Commissioner Durham will be at the city committee, and the general public will either get their news there or at the electrical bureau, where Mayor Ashbridge will hear reports.

NEW CANAL TREATY A FINISHED FACT

Powers' Signatures Will Be Fixed as Soon as Engrossed Copy Is Made.

(Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Official negotiations of the new isthmian canal convention were begun and concluded today by Secretary Hay and Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador, at a conference which lasted 20 minutes. Only the formal signature of the convention remains to make it a fait accompli.

At the same time this important diplomatic discussion was in progress Rear Admiral Walker, chairman of the isthmian canal commission, called a meeting of the commission for November 12 to place the last touches on its final report, which will recommend the construction of the Nicaraugua canal.

Before Ambassador Choate left London on leave of absence he advised Secretary Hay that an agreement had been reached on all points of difference with the British government respecting the canal convention, and while Lord Pauncefote was thus anticipated, his message of the secretary today was, none the less, acceptable and important. The fact that official negotiations were begun and ended today only shows how carefully and with what tact Mr. Hay and the British minister for foreign affairs conducted the preliminary negotiations.

Lord Pauncefote assured Mr. Hay that he is provided with such extensive authority that it will not even be necessary to cable to London the text of the treaty copy of the convention, which is now being prepared by the state department from the protocols hitherto agreed upon. As soon as the two copies are engrossed the signatures of the convention will be affixed. No date has yet been agreed upon, nor is there any disposition on the part of the administration to unduly hasten this event. Both governments are agreed upon every detail—in fact, of every word—of the new treaty.

Officials are, of course, unwilling to make public the exact language of the provisions negotiated by the two governments to meet the views of the senate, but it is said that the upper house of congress has no reason to be dissatisfied with them. Besides, the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, the neutrality of the canal is guaranteed by the United States alone, though it is bound by the rules governing the administration of the Suez canal, and there is no reference in the treaty to the provisions for fortifications by the United States.

KOCH'S THEORY DISPROVED.

Cow Inoculated With Human Tuberculosis Germs Now Has the Disease.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Positive signs of tuberculosis have appeared in the cow that was inoculated with germs by Dr. George D. Barney of Brooklyn several days ago. Dr. Barney will permit the signs to become more pronounced and will then kill the cow and hold an autopsy. Dr. Barney is now certain that he has disproved Dr. Koch's theory that human tuberculosis and bovine tuberculosis are not intercommunicable.

The cow was inoculated by Dr. Barney about 10 days ago. On Saturday last it began to show a fever, and now all the known signs of tuberculosis are apparent in the beast. Dr. Barney said last night that he had no doubt that the autopsy to be performed would prove beyond doubt the fallacy of Dr. Koch's theory.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY FATIGUED.

His Reason for Declining an Invitation to Visit Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Nov. 4.—In declining to accept an invation to visit this city, Admiral Schley assigns the following as his reason:

"The fatigue incident to the prolonged sessions of the pending investigation has necessitated my taking a long rest, and I feel, therefore, that I am compelled to decline courtesies that it would have been very agreeable to me to accept under other circumstances."

W. M. RICE'S TWO WILLS.

Examination of Witnesses Will Take Place This Month.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—At the conclusion of a discussion engaged in by more than a half dozen lawyers before Surrogate Fitzgerald today it was decided to proceed on November 25, 26 and 27 with the examination of the subscribing witnesses to the will which William Marsh Rice executed in 1896. Alfred T. Patrick, who was legal adviser for the aged millionaire, is under indictment for having caused his death. His trial has been fixed for the first Monday of next month.

There are two wills of Mr. Rice involved in the contest, one executed in 1896, by which the bulk of his fortune is left to the Rice institute of Houston, Tex., and the other alleged to have been signed by Mr. Rice in June, 1900, leaving his residuary fortune to Mr. Patrick. This second will is claimed by the heirs to be a forgery and they contest its probate, while Patrick is opposed to the probate of the first paper, declaring it is not the last will of the testator. He is in the Tombs. The valet of Mr. Rice, Charles F. Jones, upon whose confession the indictment against the lawyer was found, is also detained, though not in prison. David Short and Morris Meyers, under indictment for forgery and perjury in connection with the second will, have been released on bail.

YOUNG GIRL SHOOTS HERSELF

Katherine Strasburg Is in Critical Condition from a Wound Inflicted Accidentally.

Katherine Strasburg is at the Mercy hospital with a self-inflicted bullet wound in her stomach. The shooting was done with her brother's revolver at her home in Amelia street, Twenty-third ward, last night. The girl, who is 16 years old, says the shooting was accidental.

After supper last evening Mrs. Strasburg went to Hazelwood with two younger children. Katherine remained at home with two girl friends. She left them for a moment and went to her brother Ernest's room.

Five minutes later a report was heard. The girl came downstairs with the revolver in her hand, saying:

"Oh, Birdie, I've done it. I've shot myself."

A physician was called at once. He ordered his patient's removal to Mercy hospital. There an operation was performed.

The ball, which was from a 32-caliber revolver, entered the abdomen a little to the left of the median line, penetrated both walls of the stomach and lodged in the muscles of the back. The wound is very similar to that of President McKinley's. The girl stood the operation well, but her condition is very serious, and there are but slight hopes of her recovery.

The distinct powder marks around the wound tend to discredit the theory that the wound was inflicted by accident. The girl's mother said that when she left the house Katherine was in the best of spirits and that she had never known her to be melancholy. When the girl went up stairs she was singing "The Holy City."

Since her father's death about six years ago she has kept house for her mother and cared for four children. According to a report current last night an older brother of the girl attempted suicide by shooting several months ago. This report was confirmed by physicians. The young man recovered from his wounds.

MANY FURNACES HAVE SHUT DOWN

Lack of Coke Caused Indefinite Suspension at Eighteen Blast Furnaces.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED MEN ALREADY IDLE

Railroads Crippled by Break-Down in Motive Power--No Relief in Sight and Other Suspensions Expected.

Eighteen blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district and the Mahoning and Shenango valleys have been forced to close. The car and motive power shortage on the railroads, which has cut off shipments, especially of coke, to an alarming extent, and which resulted in an absolute stoppage of coke shipments to valley furnaces for days is the cause of this alarming state of affairs. Three big Pittsburgh district furnace plants closed yesterday along with fifty in the valleys.

Suspension of three blast furnaces has cut off a pig iron production of over 5,000 tons daily, and has thrown about 1,500 men idle, with the certain consequence that operations and employment at the independent steel mills will soon be materially affected. The value of the furnace output now held up indefinitely runs at over $75,000 a day, and wages are cut off amounting to over $3,500 a day.

The railroad people promise no prompt relief, and declare that more of the furnaces will have to close. On Friday and Saturday of last week not a single car of coke from the Connellsville district reached any of the furnaces in the valleys, which, following an insufficient shipment that has been forwarded for a month past, caused the closing of all of the valley furnaces.

Many Furnaces Already Closed.

Furnace plants, which have already suspended with no prospect of a prompt resumption, include two of the Carrie group and two furnaces of the Carnegie Steel Company near Westernport. The coke shortage also promises to come one of the Duquesne furnaces to close in a day or two. The Clinton furnace, on the South Side, is about to close on this account.

Of the furnaces in the valleys, three at New Castle, two at Sharpsville, one at Sharon, five about Youngstown and one at Hubbard, O., have been compelled to suspend operations.

Suspension at this time is especially serious, because of the fact that the steel mills, waiting for the pig iron, are all the way from a month to six months back on their orders. The concerns of the United States Steel Corporation held back by the steel workers' strike, in addition to the necessity of throwing some of their heavy producing furnaces idle, will be handicapped in the cutting off of the output of the merchant furnaces of the valleys from which the steel corporation is calling for heavy shipments of pig iron.

Coke Cannot Be Hauled.

The holding up of coke shipments is the essential factor in the entire trouble. While the congestion of freight traffic, in most of the classified yards about Pittsburgh, is serious th affecting all railway traffic, the coke shortage is the real factor with the steel furnaces.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company is rushing its shipments of coal to the lake ports for the northwest, and although a sufferer from the car and motive power shortage to the extent of having to close a number of its mining plants, this movement of coal insures a sufficient supply of cars on the back haul to keep the furnaces supplied with ore.

The motive power question is an important one with the railroads. Their officers assert that they have a large number of disabled locomotives in their shops by reason of the sulphurous condition of the water the engines have been using. This is burned-out boiler flues, they say, and this motive power shortage is made serious by the shortage of cars in this district.

Great numbers of cars have been rushed to the west and northwest to handle the grain. Pittsburgh shippers know this, and antagonize such a policy on the part of the railroads, from the fact that the grain traffic is no nearer the earner that the iron and steel traffic is.

Low Water Responsible.

General Freight Agent F. A. Dean of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad said yesterday that the shortage of cars is over 25 per cent of the traffic offered. He anticipates some relief shortly. W. L. Andrews, coal and coke agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, said yesterday that the coke shortage at the furnaces would be greatly relieved by heavy rains filling the rivers and thus preventing further breaking down of engines. He admitted that more furnaces may be forced to close, adding that there is little congestion in the Baltimore & Ohio yards, the trouble being simply the shortage of cars and locomotives.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh terminal department of the Pennsylvania railroad system say that they will be able to dissipate the congested condition of the yards in a few weeks or a month. Already these interests have raised their embargo on shipments out of Pittsburgh, except on articles including grain and provisions, of which Pittsburgh ships little or none.

STONE LOOKS FOR GOOD VOTE

Governor Comes Home to Vote and Puts County Plurality at 15,000 to 18,000 and That of State at 65,000 to 95,000.

LOCAL LEADERS MAKE SIMILAR ESTIMATES

Senator Flinn Spars When Asked About the Union Party Vote—He Explains That He Has an Idea, but Insists That He Isn't Going to Tell—Stalwarts Complete Arrangements for Receiving Returns in Old City Hall Tonight.

"I haven't had anything but pleasant news since I arrived this evening. Allegheny county will give 15,000 to 18,000 plurality, and we will carry the state by from 65,000 to 95,000. I would not be surprised to see it exceed the maximum figure."

The above is the way Gov. William A. Stone estimates the result in the county and state. He came here last night so that he could cast a straight Republican vote this morning.

"Estimates? Why, the opposition has no basis for any estimates this year, nor machinery for getting any. They haven't any organization—all they have is speakers and newspapers," the governor continued. "You know how the stalwart managers get our estimates. Our figures come from an exceptionally thorough organization in every county in the commonwealth."

By placing an X in the circle at the top of the Republican column on the ballot a vote will be cast for this ticket:

REPUBLICAN.

State treasurer,
Frank G. Harris.

Judge of the supreme court,
William P. Potter.

Marshall Brown.

Elliott Rodgers.

Judges of the court of common pleas No. "
Samuel A. McClung.
John M. Kennedy.

Judge of the orphans court,
J. W. Over.

Coroner,
Jesse McGeary.

Director of the poor,
Henry W. Ochse.

To vote for the constitutional amendments, providing for personal registration and, permitting the use of voting machines, the voter must make two additional marks. The registration amendment is popular, but the other one will probably be defeated.

The managers of both Republican headquarters agree that this county will give a majority of at least 15,000. Chairman Robertson says the plurality may reach 18,000, and Senator William Flinn agrees with him.

At the headquarters of the stalwarts and of the old organization there was much activity yesterday. The finishing touches were put on the fight. Nothing has been overlooked and the indications are for an increased off-year vote.

William B. Hays, in charge of the stalwart headquarters, put the majority at 15,000. He says that the reports from all parts of the county are good.

Estimates from Sixth Avenue.

At Sixth avenue headquarters, County Chairman A. C. Robertson, City Chairman J. O. Brown, Senator William Flinn and a number of their ward leaders congregated yesterday afternoon. When an estimate of the majority was asked for, the senator put his hand in the direction of Chairman Robertson, and said:

"'Robby' will tell you and I will agree with what he says."

"The Republican strength is increasing," said Mr. Robertson. "We will have a majority of from 15,000 to 18,000. The work this fall has been extremely thorough for an off year. The poll books for every district in the county are now in the hands of the proper people."

"What strength will the Union party bring to the Democratic ticket?" was asked.

"That is hard to ascertain," said the senator, breaking in. "'Robby' and I have an idea, but we do not intend to tell. We give you the lump vote, but cannot go into details."

"The Democrats polled about 9,000 votes for Creasy two years ago," suggested Mr. Robertson.

"No, they gave Creasy a larger vote," said Mr. Flinn. Then Mr. Robertson looked up the records and found that Creasy had polled 13,511 in the county.

"We give the Democratic ticket 18,000 this time, but there will not be so large a Democratic vote for Coray as there was for Creasy," said the chairman.

"Then the difference between the Creasy vote and the 18,000 you estimate for the fusionists will show the strength of the Union party?" was asked.

"Hold on, there, 'Andy,' you have made a confession," said the senator, and the chairman did not answer the question.

It was recalled that W. R. Thompson received 8,000 in this county when he ran as independent candidate for state treasurer in 1897. Mr. Robertson was asked if he thought the Union party could turn as large a vote over to Yerkes and Coray.

Warned by Flinn.

"Be careful, 'Andy,' he is just trying to get at you in another way," was the senator's warning. And "Andy" was careful.

City Chairman Brown said that he would give his figures today when the votes are counted.

Effort was made to secure an opinion from Senator Flinn about the result in the state. He pleaded ignorance, but said he was confident the Republican ticket would be elected. He declined to make any prediction about the Philadelphia fight. When asked what he thought Westmoreland would do, he replied:

"I know that the Flinn quarries will be straight. Aside from that, I am not familiar with the fight in Westmoreland."

Thomas B. Alcarn, chairman of the Democratic county committee, when asked for an estimate, replied:

"We are praying for rain. To win we must have Democratic weather. When the Republicans get out their vote in this state, we are defeated. They poll their strength when the rank and file is of the opinion there is danger of losing. Just how far the Democrats can push them before they reach the state of alarm, is a mathematical problem I have been unable to solve. In Allegheny county I believe we can hold the Republican majority down to 6,000."

The Union party management declines to deal in figures.

Recorder John R. Murphy of Allegheny, is looking after the campaign on that side of the river.

"We have found a great deal of indifference," said he, "but I think we will give Potter and Harris a vote that will exceed Barnett's in 1899. The district organizations are in good shape and the boys have been working hard."

The center of political interest after the polls close tonight will be Old City hall, where the Stalwart Republican association will receive the election returns and entertain the Republicans of the two cities. James Francis Burke will preside. A number of prominent speakers will be present, including Recorder Brown, City Solicitor William B. Rodgers and a number of others. The Union League band, the Harris quartet and the Lone Star quartet will furnish music.

Straw Vote In East End.

Director S. M. Bigelow some time ago had 10,000 postal cards sent to Republicans in the East End requesting them to indicate their preference as to state candidates. He has received 9,300 replies favorable to the straight Republican ticket.

There was a story printed yesterday morning to the effect that at a meeting of the Eighth legislative Republican convention held in Sixth avenue headquarters Saturday, the election officers of Plum township announced that they would vote for Low and Harrison. W. H. Johnston, one of the leaders of the township, last night denied the report.

"All of the election officers are for Potter and Harris," said Mr. Johnston. "None of them were at the Saturday meeting. The Republicans of the Eighth District are true blue and never cut the ticket. I have not heard of a Republican who intends to bolt."

The Fifteenth Ward Republican Tariff club has made arrangements to receive election returns by a special wire tonight. An unusually fine program has been prepared and the evening will be one of musical and social entertainment. Among the special numbers of the evening the most interesting is that of a colored monologuist, Coal Barren, who is well known in Lawrenceville.

LONDON LOSES HER BEARINGS IN A FOG

Even Policemen Grope Helplessly in the Muggy Darkness.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A fog such as Great Britain had not experienced for years enveloped London and half of the United Kingdom today, blockading shipping, deranging railways and throwing business in Birmingham, Leeds and other provincial cities into confusion.

So dense was it that a walk into the streets was an adventure. The fog descended upon the metropolis and the suburbs so thickly that between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon the principal avenues of traffic resembled the steam room of a turkish bath.

Hundreds of thousands of London's suburban population vainly endeavored to grope their way to the railway stations. The few who succeeded found the trains all stalled.

Around Trafalgar square and the houses of parliament scenes unparalleled for years were witnessed. Hundreds of omnibuses, cabs, carts and wagons formed an inextricable and immovable mass. The mounted police, in trying to clear away the jam, got lost themselves. Many vehicles were in collision. The drivers, not knowing where they were, stood at the heads of their horses patiently awaiting the lifting of the premature darkness.

Lanterns were at a premium, newsboys transformed their papers into temporary torches, highwaymen pursued their vocation, casualties were frequent and even hardened Londoners freely expressed a dread of the continuation of such fogs as today reached a climax.

Several theaters were obliged to close for the evening on account of the fog. In addition to the outrage at the Kensington branch of the London and Southwestern bank, which occurred at 4 o'clock p. m., when the fog was the densest, several small street robberies have been reported, many victims being stunned by sandbags. Two express trains had narrow escapes from serious collision.

DAN HOGAN KILLED.

Bookmaker Slain by His Son Who Has Been Exonerated by the Coroner's Jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Dan M. Hogan, known far and wide as a bookmaker and sporting man, was shot and killed by his son, Dan M. Hogan, Jr., in the family's country home at Wilmington, Ill.

The immediate cause assigned for the shooting was the abuse and brutality of the head of the household in striking his wife until shot down by his son. The bullet struck Hogan under the right arm and passed through the body. Hogan, Jr., was held for the authorities pending an inquest by the coroner. The jury returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide."

Hogan was 50 years old and left property valued at upward of $80,000. He had met recently with reverses by gambling upon races. Frequent and unsuccessful attempts to mortgage his Wilmington property that he might procure money for track speculation resulted in frequent family quarrels.

SHOW GOOD RESULTS.

Report Made on Work of Young Women's Christian Association Homes.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—At today's session of the international board of the Young Women's Christian association communications from 47 associations as to the most valuable portion of the work done showed that the boarding homes were first in good results, and the industrial classes second.

The International association received during the last fiscal year $825,024, and expended $831,000. The value of the property owned by the association is $4,250,000.

Gen. Funston Coming Home.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 4.—It is stated that Gen. Frederick Funston will soon be granted a leave of absence from the Philippine and return to the United States on a visit. It is said that he is recovering rapidly from the operation for appendicitis recently undergone in a Manila hospital.

BETTING ODDS LARGE FOR LOW

From a Gambler's Standpoint Tammany Would Seem to Be Done For.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS CONFIRM THIS VIEW

Croker's Claim of 47,000 Plurality in Manhattan a Bluff Based Upon Reckless Figures--Fusion Majority May Become a Ground Swell

WALTER WELLMAN.
(Special Dispatch to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
(Chicago Record-Herald Special.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—It looks more and more like Low. On the eve of the greatest municipal election ever known, the outlook for a reform victory is more promising than ever before. There is today a keener realization than at any previous time that the people of New York are aroused to the enormity of Tammany's crimes against decency, and that despite the great power of that organization, the tide is swinging toward wholesome revolution. The conditions and the state of public feeling springing from them which have been described in these dispatches to The Gazette are at last being perceived by local observers, and the true value is finally being attached to them.

The result was that today and tonight the betting odds became more and more favorable to Low. Wagers at two to one in favor of the reform candidate were recorded, and the private odds were ten to seven or ten to eight.

Tammany sets great store by these bettors' indications. Most Tammany men are gamblers, and hence a well-organized, deliberate effort on the part of the leaders of that organization to break down the odds. They threw a fair-sized pot into Wall street, after making their boasts that they would send Shepard to the post an odds-on favorite; but it happens that Wall street is running over with Low money. The Tammany advances were met with a flood of offerings on the other side. Tammany was overwhelmed. Instead of pushing Shepard up to odds-on the braves were forced to suffer the humiliation of seeing their favorite crowded still farther back in the lists.

Same Story at the Hotels.

At the hotels tonight, Low champions predominate. The supporters of Shepard do much talking, but almost no betting. All gamblers are more or less superstitious, and the Tammany crowd are in a funk. It positively know instances to which prominent Tammany men of today hedged on previous wagers by commissioning friends to take the Low end for them.

This betting is not conclusive, of course. Gamblers are more or less hysterical, and often ill-informed. Their performances only indicate the general trend of opinion. Undeniably, the uprising forces have greater hope now than at any other stage of the canvas. Tammany is in the dumps. The election of Low is, of course, not yet conceded; but well-known chairman of the state committee for several years, is likely to be the Republican candidate for governor two years hence.

The vote tomorrow will be compared with that for governor two years ago, when 820,000 votes were cast. Gov. Nash, Republican, then had a plurality of 49,000 over John E. McLean, Democrat. Two years ago 108,000 votes were cast for Mayor Samuel M. Jones of Toledo, nonpartisan candidate, and 16,000 votes for other minor candidates. The Jones vote of 1899 will materially affect the comparisons, especially in Cleveland and Toledo, as Jones then carried both Cuyahoga and Lucas counties. In 1899 there were 2,100 precincts in the state. This year there are 3,234 precincts.

Both sides tonight repeat their previous claims. The betting is at various odds on the Republicans, and mostly on the size of the plurality. The most spirited betting is on the governor results in Cuyahoga, Franklin and other doubtful counties. Cold weather continues throughout the state.

FALSE REGISTRATION IN LOUISVILLE, KY.

Republicans Will Challenge Suspicious Persons Who Attempt to Vote.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 4.—It appears tonight that the special feature of the election in Louisville tomorrow, when a mayor and full city and county and legislative tickets will be voted for, will be the attempt of the Republicans to challenge Democratic voters whom they suspect of being illegally registered. The Republican managers will have men at the polls in each precinct with a list of names of persons whom the Republicans allege are illegally registered. They declare they will challenge the vote of any person on the list who offers to vote. The Republican managers sent circular letters through the mails to the persons in question and claim a large number were returned by the letter carriers with the indorsement that the person to whom the letter was addressed was not to be found at the address given, and as this address was the address from which the person in question had registered, the Republicans regard the non-delivery of the letters as presumption of illegal registration. They threaten that if such persons offer to vote they will be arrested. The Democrats deny all charges of illegal registration and charge the Republicans with attempted intimidation. They deny that any of the voters on the Republican managers' lists can be arrested for offering to vote, and say any challenged voter can by affidavit establish his right to vote.

The weather promises to be clear and cool. Chairman C. C. Mechord of the Democratic state campaign committee tonight gave out a statement in which he claims the Democrats will have 22 to 25 of the 38 members of the senate in the next general assembly and from 62 to 65 of the 100 members of the lower house. This general assembly will elect a United States senator to succeed William J. Deboe.

MARYLAND VOTERS TRY A NEW METHOD

Both Parties Claim They Will Benefit by Its Operations Today.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—On the eve of election in this state both parties claim to have the better of the situation, but the leaders refuse to give any figures.

A state comptroller and a clerk of the court of appeals are the only state officers to be chosen, and most interest attaches to the election of a legislature, which will choose a United States senator to succeed George L. Wellington, who was chosen as a Republican and whose term will expire on March 3, 1903.

The campaign, which was one of the shortest on record, was marked with an apathy on the part of the voters that has puzzled the leaders of both parties and left the result considerably in doubt.

In Baltimore city, especially, the situation is anything but clear. The Republican managers claim that they will elect the city ticket and will carry all three legislative districts. They count upon a large independent vote for their ticket. The Democrats say that their city ticket is safe and that they will win their legislative tickets in two districts.

In the counties the outcome is also exceedingly doubtful. The Democrats unquestionably believe that they will carry several of the counties heretofore considered hopelessly Republican, and this belief is largely based upon the expectation that the new arrangement of the ballot will disfranchise the greater part of the illiterate colored voters. Republican leaders from the counties claim that they have succeeded in drilling their vote and that their loss will be very small.

Nobody has as yet been able to forecast the exact effect of the new ballot law, and each side claims that the other will suffer heaviest through its operation. Both sides appeared to be equally as confident, and only the counting of the vote can decide between the rival claimants.

The counting of the ballots this year will be much more difficult than formerly and it is doubtful whether the complete returns will be in until Wednesday afternoon.

ZERO WEATHER WILL KEEP VOTE DOWN

Nebraska Republican Chairman Confident of a Substantial Victory.

LINCOLN, NEB., Nov. 4.—With zero weather reported at Alliance, in northwestern Nebraska, a light fall of snow in the eastern part of the state and prospects of more, the outlook is not favorable for anything like an average vote tomorrow even for an off year. Political managers affect to believe that with the interest awakened in the closing days of the campaign the voters will come out regardless of the weather, but they are united in the opinion that the totals will be much below last year.

Chairman Lindsay of the Republican committee, before leaving for Pawnee City to vote, said:

"We have a larger majority in Nebraska now than we had in the last campaign, and if we do not elect Judge Sedgwick by an increased majority it will be simply because the voters are not brought out."

Vice Chairman Scott for the Democrats said he had nothing to add to his previous statement. He predicted the election of the fusion ticket. Chairman DeFrance of the Populist committee coincided with Mr. Scott. He said: "I look for from 260,000 to 250,000 votes for the head of the ticket. Sedgwick (Rep.) will have about 94,000 to 96,000 and Holtenbeck (fusion) from 106,000 to 109,000, owing to the weather. Our vote is principally in the country and bad weather cuts it down."

APATHY IN MISSISSIPPI.

No Election Will be Held in Many Precincts.

JACKSON, MISS., Nov. 4.—On the eve of the special election, involving the offices of state treasurer and secretary of state, there is absolutely no excitement and little interest existing. SNOW WILL INCREASE REPUBLICAN VOTE

State Central Committee Expects Plurality of 77,000 Over Phillips.

DES MOINES, IA., Nov. 4.—Albert B. Cummins, Republican candidate for governor of Iowa, closed his campaign at a large meeting in this city tonight. He was assisted by former Gov. Frank D. Jackson. John Briar, in charge of the literary bureau of the Republican state committee, said today that the heavy snow throughout Iowa would increase the Republican vote 10,000 by driving the farmers from the cornfields and giving them a chance to cast their ballots.

The Republican vote for McKinley last year was 307,818. The state central committee estimates that there will be a falling off of about 15 per cent from last year's vote, or a decrease of not far from 45,000. If these figures are realized Mr. Cummins' vote will be in the neighborhood of 260,000, or 21,000 more than the vote received by Leslie M. Shaw two years ago. Shaw's plurality was 56,162. Add to this figure the 21,000 additional Republican votes as estimated and the result is a plurality of 77,000.

Frank Q. Stuart, chairman of the Democratic committee, is of the opinion that the Republican plurality in Iowa will be substantially lowered this year. He also believes that the numbers of Democratic county officers in Iowa will be larger than at any time in recent years.

The Prohibitionists are still sanguine that their party will cast not less than 25,000 votes this year, as a protest against the nomination of Mr. Cummins by the Republicans. Thomas J. Phillips of Ottumwa is the Democratic candidate for governor.

CORAY TALKS LARGE.

Claims a Plurality of 75,000 Outside of Philadelphia for the Fusion Ticket.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Hon. T. A. Coray, the Union-Democratic candidate for state treasurer, issued a statement to the voters of Pennsylvania tonight in which he says he is in receipt of reports from every county in the state and that they all indicate a big vote for the Fusion ticket.

He thinks the state, outside of Philadelphia, will give 75,000 for Fusion. No prediction is made as to the vote of Philadelphia.

The agricultural and coal mining counties are expected to vote for Coray and Yerkes.

MERCER COUNTY IN LINE.

Republican County Chairman Campbell Counts on a Good Majority.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—J. M. Campbell, the Republican county chairman, stated today that he figured that the state would receive a majority of 800 for Harris and Potter and that Philip Gartz, for poor director, will have a majority of 600 over Eriser.

MASSACHUSETTS PROSPECTS.

Republican State Chairman Expects Only 50,000 Plurality.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Nov. 4.—Col. A. H. Goetting, chairman of the Republican state committee, said tonight:

"We shall be satisfied if Gov. Crane receives a plurality of 50,000. The difficulty will be in getting the vote out."

WANTS MORROW TO EXPLAIN.

Allegheny School Controller Introduces a Resolution Because of a Statement of Superintendent.

Supt. John Morrow of the Allegheny schools is an Irishman. As might be expected, he is fond of a joke. The board of school controllers was asked last night to have him explain a statement that he said was merely a jest. A. C. Latimer of the Third ward brought the matter up by introducing the following resolution:

Resolved, That City Superintendent Morrow is hereby instructed to furnish the list of 40 teachers referred to in an article published in a Pittsburgh paper to a special committee of seven members of this board to be appointed by the chairman.

Mr. Morrow was quoted as saying that if he could marry off 40 of his teachers and supply their positions with others he could advance the standard of the Allegheny schools. Mr. Latimer said that this statement cast a reflection upon the teachers of the city and upon the board for having elected incompetent teachers. He said that if a teacher was incompetent, which the statement of Mr. Morrow inferred, it was his duty to name the inefficient teachers and have their board dismiss them.

Mr. Morrow was given permission to explain the statement. He said it was made three or four years ago, in the presence of several teachers and visitors, and was intended as a joke. He referred to the falling of the Irish, his own nationality, and said they talk too freely. Nothing was meant by the statement, he said, and every person present at the time took the matter as a joke. President D. F. Oliver said there were 380 teachers in the schools, and it was impossible that each should be the best. The resolution was laid upon the table.

G. E. Treadway, formerly principal of the Eighth ward school, sent a statement to the president, but the board refused to listen. It was cast out entirely. This has been the most decisive action on the part of the board with reference to this case.

C. E. Woods of the Ninth ward was sworn in as a controller in place of Charles Breitweisser, resigned. Miss Annie Biven was elected a teacher in the Eleventh ward and W. S. Paulson was elected an assistant teacher in the high school.

SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY.

Charles Delaney of Pittsburgh Can Get No Trace of His Brother of Franklin Syndicate Fame.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Charles Delaney of Pittsburgh is here looking for his brother, William E. Delaney, alias Morgan, whose name has been mentioned many times in investigating the affairs of the Franklin syndicate. In a conversation tonight with the Gazette correspondent, Charles Delaney expresses the opinion that his brother has met with foul play.

"When my brother was last seen," says Charles Delaney, "he had $15,000 in his possession. This was a part of a sum which had been intrusted to him by William F. Miller to give to Col. Ammon. Ammon owed my brother $15,000, which he had borrowed when both of them were running bucketshops, and my brother retained that amount as due to him. Since that time no trace has been had of Billy. There was no reason for his disappearance. I can get no satisfaction from Ammon, who will not look me in the eye when asked about the disappearance of my brother."

BUILDING A BIG POWER PLANT

Electric Station at York Haven Will Rival That at Niagara.

WORK IS ALREADY UNDERWAY.

Promoters of the Plant Expect That a Number of Large Industries Will Make Use of the Enormous Power.

YORK, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The largest building operation which has ever taken place in this section of the country, and, perhaps, second only in importance to the great Niagara power plant, is now in course of construction at York Haven, on the Susquehanna river, about 10 miles from Harrisburg, and 11 miles from this city. The work began June 17, 1901, and likely will be completed in the fall of 1902. The operation consists of an immense electrical power plant, the current of which is to be generated by water power. This is to be gained by chaining the immense body of water at the falls of the Susquehanna river a short distance above the plant.

The immensity of this construction can only be measured by the figures as given. There will be built a power house 478 feet long and 50 feet wide, in which there will be 40 turbine water wheels of 600 horse power each, together with two exciters of 250 horse power each. From this building there is being built an immense granite wall, 3,500 feet long, and from 26 to 38 feet high, 16 feet at the top and 19 feet bottom. This will enclose a race of 375 feet wide and 16 feet deep. The wall comprises 160,000 cubic yards of masonry. A coffer dam has already been erected with 45,000 bags of sand.

Immense hoisting apparatus has been set and a portable railway laid, consisting in length of about one mile and a half. The promoters and owners of this company are Henry L. Carter, of New York, and Judge E. Fitz Hugh Stewart, of this city. They have 450 acres of available ground, and it is expected that when the plant has been completed, much of the current will be used to drive a number of large industries to be located on the ground. The company has been capitalized at $3,000,000, and a bond issue has been made of $1,500,000. It will take all of the latter sum to complete the work. The plan is a gigantic one, and is now being laid out by Maj. George B. Burbank, consulting engineer, who constructed the Niagara power plant. Contractor Thomas Green, of York Haven, is superintending the work of construction, while H. B. Montgomery is the business manager and paying teller.

FLIRTATION ENDS IN TRAGEDY

New Castle Man Seriously Wounded While Trying to Stop Disorder Before a Church.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 4.—Because he rebuked some men who were trying to flirt with the girls in the choir, Roxey G. Pagley of No. 404 South Jefferson street, is lying at his home with a deep knife wound in his left breast, an inch below the heart.

The trouble occurred last night before St. Vitus' Roman Catholic church, between Pagley and three men, who were ogling the choir singers. The disorderly men stood without the edifice and clapped their hands and made goises to attract the attention of the young women, which annoyed the congregation. When the disturbance had reached its height Pagley went out to remonstrate with the offenders. As soon as he appeared he was greeted with shouts and jeers.

James Regnie, one of the men, ordered him within the church again and displayed a knife. Pagley was not daunted and attacked Regnie and the two grappled and rolled on the ground. Pagley then received a vicious knife trust, which nearly ended his life. His assailant escaped and Pagley is not expected to live. The police are looking for his assailant.

ROBBED BY FOOTPADS.

Adam Oran of South Sharon Nearly Killed by Three Unknown Highwaymen.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Adam Oran of South Sharon was waylaid, beaten over the head with knucklers, cut in a dozen places with a knife and left for dead by three highwaymen below here last night. The men rifled his pockets, taking $100, and then placed him on the railroad track to destroy evidence of the crime by allowing a train to run over the unconscious man. However, two men found Oran and took him home. He is reported to be in a serious condition. The police are working on a clue.

FOILED THE ROBBERS.

Johnstown Timekeeper Defeats the Plans of Two Desperate Hold-Ups.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Two tramps about 10 o'clock last evening attempted to hold up the timekeeper for H. S. Kerbaugh, the contractor employed upon the vast improvements being carried on by the Pennsylvania railroad, between Wilmore and Summerhill, near the crest of the Alleghanies. The timekeeper pulled out a revolver and drove the tramps ahead of him.

The footpads later stole a horse and rig belonging to a South Fork hotelkeeper and Politician John L. Schler which was standing hitched in front of Kerbaugh's office. Warnings, with descriptions of the men, horse and rig, have been sent in every direction.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

Rain This Morning the Only Factor That Saved Connellsville from Grave Danger.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The rain that fell here during the early hours this morning is the only factor that saved this city from serious danger from the forest fires that have been raging in this vicinity. The fire was on the near slope of the mountain yesterday morning and the wind that prevailed all day swept it slowly but steadily toward South Connellsville. There are a number of homes on the edge of the woods and gangs of men were busy all night fighting the flames. Their work and the rain this morning averted the danger.

Will Make Sweat Pads.

GREENVILLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The Muntz Sweat Pad Manufacturing Company has been organized by local capitalists and the new plant will be running within a month. Sweat pads and harness specialties will be manufactured. The plant of A. Arter & Co. of Lisbon, O., has been purchased and will be incorporated with the local plant.

Store Robbed at Greenville.

GREENVILLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The general store of J. E. Brown, at Shenango was robbed early this morning of over $500 worth of goods. The thieves evidently took their time, as they made a complete change of apparel, leaving their old clothes on the floor. A wagon was used to haul the stolen goods away.

Diphtheria in a Dormitory.

GREENVILLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Diphtheria has broken out in the men's dormitory at Thiel college. Harry Speyerer of Rochester, Pa., was the first victim. The dormitory has been quarantined and the students not exposed have moved to other quarters.

Millions to be Distributed.

WARREN, O., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Mrs. Skinner, wife of L. S. Skinner, a Warren contractor, today learned that the claim of the Reynolds heirs to a $30,000,000 estate in Philadelphia has been allowed. Other heirs live at Columbus and vicinity.

FRAUD IS CHARGED.

Partners in the Keystone Lumber Company Are Confronted With Grave Accusations.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Sensational action was taken in court this morning when Attorney Frank A. Hover asked that a rule be granted on the defunct Keystone Lumber Company, to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The partners are William B. Rodenbaugh of this city, and Frank Nicholson of Steubenville, O.

The action was taken for R. H. Allen & Sons, contractors, who allege that the partners of the Keystone Lumber Company fraudulently transferred to Mrs. Rodenbaugh large sums of money with the express purpose of defrauding their creditors. It is also alleged that Samuel Huey, one of the creditors, was preferred over the others, in a way to defraud other creditors.

Nicholson has not been seen here for some time, and his creditors have been unable to find any trace of him. Rodenbaugh is here and contends that Nicholson will soon be back. The Keystone Lumber Company has failed for a large amount, badly crippling several smaller concerns. This failure and its results will probably end in the doing away with the "no lien" form of contract in this state, as all mechanics are pledging themselves to fight for its abolishment by the state legislature.

SHOT BY HIS NEIGHBOR.

Halloween Joker Mistaken for a Burglar and Peppered With Bird Shot.

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 4.—As the result of a peculiar shooting affair Jerry Maloney, a well known resident of Donegal township, near Chicora, is in a precarious condition and may die. About 1 o'clock Saturday morning, Del Smith, a pumper, who lives near Maloney, was awakened by a strange man prowling about the yard.

Smith, so the story goes, commanded the man to leave, when he did, but in a short time he came back. This time Smith went to the door with a shotgun and opened fire. The stranger started to run after the first shot, but stopped at the command of Smith, who took him in charge, to find that he had shot his neighbor, Jerry Maloney. The doctor who was called in to attend Maloney picked 100 bird shot out of his body, but some of the leaden pellets penetrated the abdomen and could not be located.

Maloney's explanation of how he came to be prowling about Smith's house in a suspicious manner is that he intended playing a Halloween trick. The injured man is in danger of blood poison and his friends are apprehensive of the result of his wounds.

MINISTERS MEET.

Delegates of the Christian Church Gather at Washington—Missionary Society Meeting.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial association and the Women's Missionary society of the Christian church for the western district of Pennsylvania, comprising Allegheny and Washington counties, was held at the Christian church at this place today. The attendance was large and several interesting addresses were made.

The morning session was given over to the Ministerial association and the afternoon session was in charge of the Women's society. The meeting in the morning was in charge of the Rev. J. A. Cole, pastor of the church at this place. The principal address was by the Rev. J. H. Craig of Pittsburgh.

The afternoon session was in charge of Mrs. C. L. Thurgood of Pittsburgh, and an address was made by Mrs. E. F. Woods of Braddock. In the evening the pastor, the Rev. E. A. Cole, who recently accepted the call to the pastorate, was tendered a reception by the congregation in the church parlors.

HELD UP BY NEGROES.

Trauger Cyclist Has a Desperate Fight With Highwaymen While on His Way Home.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Elren Rideman, a carpenter of Trauger, had a desperate encounter with negro highwaymen while on his way from McKeesport to his home early this morning. He was on a bicycle, and while ascending the hill near Circleville two negroes shot out from the brush and grabbed the handlebars of the wheel.

Rideman was thrown with terrible force to the ground. He gained his feet however, and went at the negroes with his fists. He felled one of them with a blow in the face and the other was struck on the jaw. Rideman was badly used up and after laying the highwayman out, he jumped on his wheel and hurried away under a sharp fire from the negroes' revolvers.

TWO FIRES NEAR BUTLER.

Large Dairy Barn and a Wood Rig Totally Destroyed.

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The large dairy barn of A. O. Everhart, three miles west of this place, was totally destroyed by fire last night, together with all of this year's crop of hay and grain. The loss is about $2,500, on which there is $1,100 insurance.

Snyder & Smith, drilling contractors of this place, lost a wood rig by fire at St. John's Catholic church, near Coylville yesterday. The fire was caused by the carelessness of the drillers in not putting out the fire in the forge when they closed down for the night. The loss of the rig and damage to machinery and tools will amount to $1,500.

Workman, near Vanport.

Fur Coats and Fur Jackets and Fur Neckpieces for Women.

This to those who expect to buy furs: You might go from one end of the country to the other and not see in all your travels more exquisite fur things for the neck than are exhibited in our collection. You would not see any finer or handsomer fur jackets and coats than we have.

We write the above simply to convey an idea of the importance of our Fur showing. As to prices the only comparison we can make are with those of Eastern houses, and ours are very, very much less.

This fur collection of ours is so varied both as to the furs and the prices that the woman who only desires a neat little neckpiece for a small amount can be accommodated as well as the woman who has hundreds of dollars to pay for the finest of fur coats.

We start Marten Scarfs—shaped Scarfs of genuine marten fur, full cluster of tails—at the altogether too low price of $3.50. It is a good, an exceptionally good scarf for the money. There are finer grades at $5, $7, $8.50 and on up until the price of $45 is reached.

In Sable Fox Scarfs, very much favored, the prices start at $7.50 for a scarf that has brush tails. Then the next price is $10, and from that to $15 and on up to $65.

Muffs to match these Sable Fox Neckpieces beginning at $10 and running easily along to $25.

Fine Persian Lamb Scarfs, which are finished with those desirable Black Lynx Tails, for $15, $18 and the prices stretch upwards till they reach $38.

Those rich Black Link Boas in medium lengths at $15 and $18 and so and along until we reach the great long Boas at $75.

Muffs of Black Lynx to match the neckpieces beginning at $15 and reaching $80.

Blended Baum Marten Scarfs from $25 to $75.

Hudson Bay Sable Scarfs, noted for the fineness of the fur, from $75 to $150.

But the finest of the Sable Furs are the Russian Sables. We show Scarfs from $100 to $750.

Children's Fur Sets, comprising such furs as Angora, Chinchilla, Thibet, Ermine and the Fox family, are priced from $2 to $25 a set.

As to Jackets. Electric Seal is the lowest priced fur, and it is dependable. There are plain Jackets, neat as they can be, at $25, $35 and along to $50. Then there are Electric Seal Jackets trimmed with Baum Marten, Beaver and Chinchilla, beginning at $65, the next price $75 and along to $85.

Persian Lamb Jackets, the perfectly plain but elegant Jackets, begin at $95 and rise according to the quality and finish of the garment until $225 is reached.

Persian Lamb Jackets with such other fur trimming as Blended Baum Marten and Chinchilla, $150 and $175.

Persian Lamb Jackets, handsomely trimmed with Baum Marten, Chinchilla or rich Hudson Bay Sable, from $150 to $325.

Broadtail Fur Jackets; many women know this fur better by the name of Breitschwantz, trimmed with handsome Sable or Chinchilla, from $325 to $550.

We close the list with a reference to Sealskin. After all is said, there is no fur, according to our way of thinking, that can compete with this handsome and elegant fur. We show plain Sealskin Jackets in all the newest shapes, beginning at the very popular price of $150 and going easily along to $365.

Men's Overcoats and Winter Suits.

$10 is a very small price to pay for a good overcoat. What do you say to a 38 or 42-inch oxford gray overcoat for that amount? It is our special—would be special even at $15. Sleeves lined with satin, crescent pockets—just as dressy as any coat you could wear.

Have fine overcoats for $15—oxford gray frieze, satin shoulders, body lined with wool serge. Also plain black and dark blue, if you don't care for the oxford. 38 and 46-inch lengths.

Overcoats of rough materials, wonderfully warm, oxford mixtures, plain black and dark gray, lined with either silk or Italian cloth, and the price $20.

Long Chesterfield and London Yoke Overcoats in Meltons, Fur Beavers, Elysian Beavers, Vicunas and soft finish Friezes, $22, $25, $28, $30 and up to $55.

You will be looking for warm suits today. Let us show you these—

$15 and $18—Sack Suits of fancy mixtures—green and brown, dark gray, narrow and wide stripes, plain black, plain blue.
$20 and $22—Newest shades in dark green and brown Scotch mixtures, overplaids. Also the new 2-button long roll double-breasted sack suits.
$25—Suits of finest imported woolens—soft finish cheviots, homespuns and fancy worsteds. Best suits for the money ever produced. Won't even except any made-to-order.

Men's Winter Underwear of Silk.

Have you ever tried pure silk, gentlemen? Yes, it costs a nice little sum, but those who wear it say the cost is nothing when comfort is considered.

So, only stopping to say we have every kind of good and popular priced underwear that is made—lots of it exclusive—we go at once to the telling about some new silk underwear we desire you to see.

When our buyer was in London he called on Brettle's, the most famous manufacturer of silk underwear in the world. The firm showed him a line they never send to this country, unless upon particular request. It is what is called Novia Silk, and we are going to sell it for from $12.50 to $16 a suit, a rise of 50c on the suit according to size. It is made of a very special weave of silk, and must not be confounded with cheap German and Swiss silk undergarments. It is not to be duplicated in the East—and this is the point we want to impress upon you—under 25 to 40 per cent. As the cold wave is here, let us show these silk productions today.

Women's Winter Underwear.

Mention merely of those garments at popular prices. If the finest is desired, the very finest is here.

Fleece lined Vests, ecru, white and black, 50c.
Drawers, French and straight bands, 50c each.
White and natural Vests and Drawers, special values at 75c and $1 each.

FRANCE SEIZES CUSTOM HOUSE

Reported in Paris That Admiral Caillard's Squadron Has Executed the Orders Issued When It Sailed from Toulon--Chamber of Deputies Approves Action.

(Special Cable to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
PARIS, Nov. 5.—The French fleet has arrived at Smyrna, where it seized the customs without opposition on the part of the Turks.

This is the gist of a dispatch said to have been received by the foreign office. Officials refused to affirm or deny the report.

In the chamber of deputies yesterday M. Sembat, radical socialist, interpellated the government on the Franco-Turkish dispute, criticising the action and contending that France ought to have intervened at the time of the Armenian massacres. The foreign minister, M. Delcasse, said:

"Our rights are certain and nobody will dispute them. Our action is legitimate and nobody can take umbrage at it, and as our patience has been long, so our action must be more resolute."

As to Armenia, M. Delcasse said that during the past three years he had not overlooked the question, and while defending France's material interests, he had displayed equal solicitude for her moral interests and for her traditions.

M. Delcasse also said that the appearance of French cruisers off the Turkish coast had several times proved that France had not forgotten the protection she owed to Christians, and the latter understood this. It was true that the reforms promised the Armenians had not been executed, that the Armenians had too often been the victims of unpunished outrages, and that oppression also reigned in Macedonia and in old Servia. The French government had put forth every effort to restore justice and tranquillity; but France was not alone bound by the treaty of Berlin. The chamber could rest assured that the government would never forget its duties toward humanity. But, it must first of all remember its duties toward France.

The foreign minister's statement was greeted with applause.

M. Sembat was not satisfied with M. Delcasse's statement and moved that the chamber, convinced that France would fail in her duty if she did not protect the Armenians in an effectual manner, resolved that the government facilitate this protest by an agreement between the powers.

The premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, then rose and said that M. Delcasse's declaration showed that the government's task was heavy and complex. As the government desired to secure respect for the interests of its fellow-citizens, so it intended to defend the patrimony of moral interests developing upon France. It needed the confidence of the chamber in order to accomplish its task.

M. Sembat's motion was rejected by 394 to 75 votes.

The chamber then, by 305 to 77 votes, sustained the government's action towards Turkey and expressed confidence in the government.

"The porte has asked Great Britain," says the Constantinople correspondent of the Echo De Paris, "to fulfill the terms of the convention of 1878, whereby in exchange for the island of Cyprus, Great Britain guarantees the integrity of the sultan's Asiatic possessions.

"The porte claims under these conditions that Great Britain should protect Asiatic Turkey against attack by France, and suggests that Great Britain should send a squadron to the Levant for that purpose.

According to the Athens correspondent of the Journal, a French dispatch boat arrived yesterday (Monday) at Syra, capital of the Island of Syra, to get a number of dispatches that were waiting at the telegraph office.

QUICK MAIL TO LONDON.

Record Due to the Fast Voyage of Kronprinz Wilhelm.

(Special Cable to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
(Copyright, 1901, by New York Herald.)
LONDON, Nov. 5.—Business men were surprised yesterday by the delivery of mails that left New York last Tuesday. The delivery was at least a day in advance of the usual. Often it is Wednesday before they are delivered.

This remarkable record is due to the rapid passage of the Kronprintz Wilhelm, which arrived at Plymouth at 38 minutes past midnight on Saturday, thus covering the 2,978 miles in 5 days, 8 hours and 38 minutes. This is only about an hour more than the fastest passage ever recorded, which was accomplished by the Deutschland. The Kronprintz Wilhelm steamed an average of 23.21 knots an hour, and on the fifth day covered 544 miles.

ARBITRATION FOR NORWAY.

That Kingdom Wishes to Conclude Many Such Treaties.

CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, Nov. 4.—(Special Cable.)—Norway now wishes to conclude arbitration treaties with many foreign nations, and it is possible that the Swedish foreign minister, who unsuccessfully tried years ago to fulfill Norwegians' wishes, will be urged to repeat his efforts on the basis of The Hague conference.

The minister has agreed to sound the foreign powers. Norway has always been willing to arbitrate differences with Sweden.

Controller Gives a List.

The McKeesport tax scandal is waxing warm. Controller R. A. Hitchens last night presented a partial list of school tax assessments alleged to have been changed. They aggregate nearly 100. On the list are 53 citizens of the Second ward whose assessments had been changed. Of these 35 had been raised $200 and $8 $100. Controller Hitchens maintains that D. P. Smith, secretary of the school board, is implicated with his father, the tax collector. He declares that the handwriting of both is in evidence in several pages of the books. The entire affair has been referred to the finance committee.

MILITARY WEDDING IN SMART SOCIETY

Walter Waring of First Guards Leads to Altar Lady Clementine Hay

(Special Cable to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
(Copyright, 1901, New York Herald.)
LONDON, Nov. 5.—One of the smartest military weddings that has taken place in London for some time past was solemnized yesterday afternoon at St. Margaret's church, Westminster, when Walter Waring of the first guards, son of the late Charles Waring, stepson of Sir Clement Hill, was married to Lady Clementine Hay, only daughter of the marquis and marchioness of Tweddale.

The center aisle of the church was lined by 70 non-commissioned officers and men of the first life guards, in their splendid scarlet gold uniforms, with steel cuirasses, while at the entrance of the church stood two giant troopers of the bridegroom's squadron, also in full uniform, wearing their plumed helmets. Seldom has been seen such a big crowd gathered to witness the wedding as was outside St. Margaret's an hour before the ceremony. Owing to the crowd and the fog it was a matter of difficulty for the guests to get into the church.

After the ceremony everyone repaired to the house in Berkeley square where the reception was held. At the conclusion of the reception Mr. and Lady Clementine Waring left for Paris, where they will stay a short time before proceeding to India.

BREAKING NEWS GENTLY.

British Chancellor of Money Drawer Hints at Further Burdens of Taxation.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—What is regarded as an important announcement, preparing the people of Great Britain for new taxes and fresh loans, was made tonight by the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, in a speech at Bristol. After alluding to the enormous increase in the ordinary expenditures of the government, he reviewed the war taxes and said that the ever increasing demand of the national exchequer gave reasons for careful thought and even anxiety for the future.

"The cost of the war in South Africa is enormous," said Sir Michael. "It still drags on. It may be when next year comes that I may have to ask the people of this country to bear even greater burdens and to make even greater sacrifices."

John Morley, M. P., speaking today at Forfar, Scotland, asserted that the ordinary annual expenditures of the British government had increased £28,000,000 during the last ten years or, including the suspension of the sinking fund. £32,000,000. He declared that there was a real danger ahead of the country.

BULLER'S HELIOGRAM.

London Newspaper Publishes Alleged Correct Version of Famous Message.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Daily Express, on the authority of Dr. Miller Maguire, a famous military coach, gives what it alleges to be the authentic version of the heliogram sent by Gen. Buller to Gen. White during the siege of Ladysmith. It is as follows:

"I have failed. Unable to try again without siege operations taking a month. Can you hold out so long. If not I suggest your firing away as much ammunition as possible, and finally making the best terms. If you have any other alternative to suggest I can remain where I am as long as you like."

"Further dispatches were exchanged," adds the Daily express, "and learning that Sir eGorge White was able to hold out, Gen. Buller settled down to prepare to force the Tugela."

rD. Maguire, through whose hands half the officers of the British army have passed for study, professes to have acquired the information without seeking it some months ago.

PRIZE AWARDED.

Santos-Dumont Has Won 100,000 Franc Prize With His Dirigible Balloon.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The committee of the Aero club, by a vote of 12 to 9, today proclaimed M. Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, the winner of the prize of 100,000 francs offered by M. Deutsch for a dirigible balloon.

The vote was preceded by a warm discussion. Count Dion, who presided, while eulogizing the courage of M. Santos-Dumont, contended that he had not won the prize, owing to the time limit.

Prince Roland Bonaparte, on behalf of the special committee who watched the contests, declared that M. Santos-Dumont had materially and morally won the prize, because a new regulation as to the time limit was never officially indorsed by the Aero club.

TRAPPED AND DESPERATE.

Burglar Finding Escape From Bank Impossible, Shoots Himself.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Yesterday afternoon a man named Lanscombe entered the Kennington branch of the London and Southwestern bank and shot the cashier dead. He then called upon the clerks to deliver the contents of the till. A clerk grappled with the robber, who, finding that escape was impossible, shot himself.

Another clerk was wounded in the struggle.

FRIENDS OF IMMIGRANTS.

Charity Conference Opposes Movement to Bar Them Out.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(Special Cable.)—A conference of the Charity Organization society this evening was called to protest against the efforts to induce the government to restrict alien immigration. The conference unanimously denounced the project and urged it would be better to seek to raise the immigrant's social life.

It was agreed that the only really serious objection to such immigrants lay in their willingness to live in over-crowded conditions, dangerous to public health, and this might be obviated by the enforcement of local sanitary regulations without recourse to parliament.

STUDENTS PROTEST.

Chamberlain's Reflections on German Army Not Relished.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—The students of the university of Greifswald have sent to the other universities the resolutions recently adopted by them in denunciation of the allegedly offensive references to the conduct of the German troops in 1870, made by Mr. Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary. They ask the co-operation of the other universities in their rebuke.

The Berlin branch of the society of German students has telegraphed to the Greifswald students congratulations upon their protest against "an insult to our valorous and glory-crowned army."

MISS STONE NOT DEAD.

Negotiations Are Progressing Slowly But Hopefully for Her Release.

(Special Cable to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
SAMAKOR, BULGARIA, Nov. 5.—The report of Miss Stone's death, cabled here from the United States, is not credited. Negotiations for her release are still progressing hopefully, although for obvious reasons the details cannot be made public. The political features of the case compel strict secrecy, otherwise nothing could be accomplished. These assurances were given The Gazette correspondent by one who is familiar with the situation.

The negotiations are being conducted in a very roundabout manner, the origands taking every precaution to conceal their identity. Operations are, therefore, very slow and are still further impeded by the snow, which covers the mountain trails.

STEINWAY ART PIANOS.

One of the Very Handsome Exhibits Is Upright No. 93084—White Enamel—Colonial.

The details of this case, which is a happy adaptation of Greek architectural forms, are remarkably pure, and the line of construction obtained by the firmness of the columns which form the front legs is extremely reposeful. This fine line adds greatly to the apparent height and the dignity of the instrument. The upper front is in three panels, the middle one projecting slightly and supporting the pediment which is opened at the top to give lightness. The two side panels are sunk and finished with a delicate molding. The case is further decorated with paintings by Togetti applied to the panels and sides.

This is typical of the character of the magnificent Steinway art pianos, comprising the collection at the Hotel Schenley. The exhibit will end this week, and everybody should attend. Admission is free.

The C. C. Mellor Co., Limited, 319-321 Fifth avenu, are sole representatives of Steinway & Sons in this territory.

His wife hurried to a physician's office and the man was given an antidote. It was several hours before Stack recovered from the effects of the poison.

To Reopen Investigation—It is quite probable that the investigation committee of Allegheny councils will be reconvened this week to take up the charges of bribery. John H. Trimble, a member of the committee, does not believe that the committee exhausted all its efforts to secure evidence, and for this reason will ask the chairman to reconvene the committee.

Cauley was sentenced to the workhouse for 18 months last week for the theft of the diamonds.

Caused His Own Death—Angelo Guignolo, a patient at the West Penn hospital, got out of bed last Saturday, when Dr. Course was not looking, and tore the dressing from the wound in his thigh and right arm. The hemorrhage which followed resulted in his death yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. His home was at Monessen, and on last Friday he shot himself accidentally with a shotgun he was carrying over his left shoulder. The charge tore wounds in his left thigh and right arm. He was a single man, 20 years old.

For Wilkinsburg Hospital—A large citizens' meeting was held last evening in Assembly hall, Wilkinsburg, at which the question of establishing a general hospital in the borough was discussed. Attorney James Balph was elected chairman of a temporary organization, which will meet and take some immediate action on the subject. Mrs. J. D. Cleavenger was made secretary. The vice presidents will be named by Mr. Balph and will include a representative from each of the churches of the town.

Suicide Story Denied—Frank C. Whitesell, brother of Dr. H. W. Whitesell, who was reported to have threatened to commit suicide in Atlantic City Sunday night, received two messages yesterday, stating that Dr. Whitesell was in good health. The messages were sent in answer to inquiries from Mr. Whitesell. One was from a friend and the other from the chief of police. Both stated that Mr. Whitesell had left Atlantic City for Pittsburgh and denied any knowledge of the suicide report. Dr. Whitesell is expected to reach home this morning.

Unknown Badly Scalded—An Italian known only to his employers as No. 11 was probably fatally scalded in an explosion at the Wilkinsburg pumping station at Sandy Creek at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. One of the tubes in the boiler burst and a volume of steam literally cooked the flesh on his hands, face and breast. He was standing directly in front of the engine when the explosion occurred, talking to Robert McKinley of Sandy Creek. McKinley was badly bruised and very severely scalded also. His injuries will not be fatal.

Arrested for Shoplifting—Della Welsh of Swissvale and Ella Frank of Connellsville were given a hearing by Alderman David McKelvey of Allegheny on a charge of shoplifting preferred by Bion Boggs, a member of the firm of Boggs & Buhl, and J. C. Wasson of Joseph Horne & Co. A search of the homes of the girls revealed a large quantity of wearing apparel. Much of the property was identified by Mr. Boggs and Mr. Wasson. They were held in $500 bail on each charge for the December term of court, and in default of bail were sent to jail.

Hervey Formally Accepts—A called meeting of the United Presbyterian presbytery of Monongahela was held in the assembly hall of the United Presbyterian building yesterday morning. The call of the church at Sheraden was presented to the Rev. J. McD. Hervey and by him accepted. The installation ceremony will take place November 17. The Rev. Dr. J. K. McClurkin will make the address to the pastor. Arrangements were also made for the installation of the Rev. W. R. Thompson at the Eleventh United Presbyterian church, November 23. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Hood will preach the sermon.

Severely Injured by Fall—William Fathauer of Oakmont, while walking along the tracks on the Plum creek bridge, missed his footing and fell through the bridge, a distance of 50 feet. He was stunned by the fall and remained in that condition for nearly 12 hours. Engineer Edward Hughes was passing the place about 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when he heard a call for help. It was too dark for him to see, but when he arrived at the Verona shops he sent Frank O'Connell and John Keating to investigate. They found Fathauer had sustained a broken leg, injuries on the head and his left eye so badly hurt that his sight may be lost.

Strike Not Yet Ended—William Shaw, business agent of the Pittsburgh machinists, yesterday received advices from President James O'Connell of the international organization that reports of the machinists' strike being finally ended throughout the country are wrong. He says that the strike continues at San Francisco and Oakland, Cal.; Seattle, Tacoma, Fairhaven and Everett, Wash.; Chicago and Joliet, Ill.; Detroit, Mich.; Brooklyn and Silver Creek, N. Y.; Trenton, N. J.; Toledo, O.; Denver, Col.; Alexandria and Richmond, Va.; Birmingham and Selma, Ala.; Charleston and Columbia, S. C.; Knoxville and Memphis, Tenn.; Salisbury, N. C., and all shops of the Southern railway system.

Hunter Seriously Wounded—Ira J. Patterson, aged 17 years, the grandson of John W. Patterson, ex-clerk of criminal court, was seriously wounded by the accidental discharge of his gun on Saturday while hunting in the vicinity of his home in West Liberty borough. The young man was trying to load the gun, when the shell in the other barrel of the gun was discharged. The thumb and several of the fingers of his right hand were blown off and a portion of the charge entered the right side of his face. The boy pluckily dragged himself to his home, where he was given medical attention. Although the wound is serious, it will not prove fatal unless complications set in.

Negro Soldier's Horrible Depravity.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Details of the first execution of an American in the Philippines have been received. Harry Cline, the negro soldier who killed three native boys near Parangue, Luzon, was the victim of the executioner, and died on the scaffold in Manila on September 20, his native wife writhing on the ground in tearsome his body shot down to the end of the rope. When Cline was called to die, he cursed the hangman for being slow about adjusting the noose.

DANGER LURKS NEAR TUNNEL

High Explosives Stored in Perilous Spot at Wabash Tunnel Entrance.

FLYING SPARKS ARE NUMEROUS

Citizens of Thirty-Second Ward Fear Catastrophe—Fire Constantly Kept Up Within Few Feet of Shanty Containing Dynamite.

The entrance to the new Greentree tunnel of the Wabash railroad, in the Thirty-second ward, is a danger spot. A little shanty about 10 feet in length, 6½ feet wide and 7 feet high contains constantly between 200 and 300 pounds of dynamite, besides half a dozen cans of blasting powder and several cans of carbon oil and gasoline.

About five feet west of the shanty a large fire is kept going day and night, and, as the door of the explosive house is open most of the time, there is always a chance that a spark may be blown into the place, and in case it is, great damage to property and no small loss of life will in all probability result.

Thirty-second ward residents, living in the section where the tunnel is being put through, are up in arms against the contractors and are afraid to venture anywhere near the mouth of the great tunnel.

It is a common sight to see one of the laborers stop in front of the explosive house and light his pipe, and give the match a twirl, not noticing in which direction it is going. The lamps, which furnish light for the workmen inside the tunnel are all cleaned at the side of the house, and all the large gasoline stands are filled from the cans in the shanty.

Men Smoke Near Shanty.

At the lunch hour the fire is made larger. The men gather around it, heat their coffee, and, after they have eaten, smoke until the hour is up.

Work on the Greentree tunnel was commenced several months ago and is progressing very rapidly. Three large compressed air boring machines are used in the interior to make holes for the dynamite and blasting powder.

On the average day of 24 hours over 250 pounds of dynamite and four or five cans of blasting powder are used. The charge generally runs from 30 to 50 pounds of the explosive, and, when it is set off, the concussion is felt all over the district.

The branch magazine is located on the site of the shaft at the other end of the tunnel, and contains almost 5,000 pounds of dynamite, and from 100 to 200 cans of blasting powder daily. The branch magazine is filled from time to time from the main magazine located near Sawmill Run. Here the supply never falls below 10,000 pounds of dynamite, and 500 cans of blasting powder. The explosives are all shipped in carload lots and carted over to the main magazine.

The utmost indifference is exercised by the men in handling the deadly explosives, but thus far not an accident has happened. When a reporter visited the Greentree tunnel yesterday afternoon, the door of the explosive shanty was wide open. There was no one within 50 feet of the place, and a fire was smouldering a few feet away. Dynamite caps were lying around the floor of the shanty and several hundred feet of fuse was strung along the inside. Two large cans, half filled with gasoline, were beside the 300 pounds of explosives.

When William Jamison, the explosive keeper, returned to his post his first duty was to fix up the fire, which he did by placing several large blocks of wood on the dying embers and pouring over them a small quantity of gasoline. Then a match was touched to the logs and a flame shot up to a height of five or six feet. The fire then burned rapidly, and many sparks fell upon the roof of the shanty, containing the explosives.

Men Laugh at Danger.

This fire is a necessity in many ways. It is made to keep the explosives from freezing, and used by the men to warm and dry themselves when they come out of the tunnel. Water dropping from the interior of the tunnel all the time soaks the clothes of the laborers and these must be dried.

The nipper, as Jamison is called, declared there was no danger, as the dynamite would not explode unless it had a cap. He said he had handled the stuff for several years and knew just how much liberty to take with it.

The attention of J. B. Carter, a member of the firm of William Kenefick & Co., who have the contract for the tunnel, was called to the explosive shanty being so close to the fire.

"We very seldom have accidents in handling our explosives," said Mr. Carter. "We employ none but experienced men to handle it, and in that manner avoid all fatalities. Yes, it is true we have had several serious explosions, but these are rare. The explosions always happen through the fault of the men, who sometimes grow very careless in handling the stuff. We are continually warning our men to exercise the greatest precaution, but they often do not heed the advice."

THE DEATH ROLL.

James McHune.

James McHune, aged 64 years, died at his home in Spruce street, Verona, yesterday. He went to work in the morning, and was apparently perfectly well till after 9 o'clock. He was suddenly seized with a pain below the heart, but was well enough to walk home. A doctor was called, but he died before anything could be done for him. The cause given was heart failure. He has lived in Verona for only two years. He moved there from Unity, where he had been interested in the oil fields. He is survived by four children, Jerry McHune, a driller, is his only son, and lives at Verona. His three daughters are Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Alfred Kopp and Mrs. John Alexander, all of Verona. PROBERS ARE GIVEN A SHOCK

Recorder Offers Assistance in the Investigation of Assessors.

DECLINES TO ENTER A CONTROVERSY

Committee Calls Upon the Chief Executive and Are Unwillingly Disarmed by His Courtesy and Tactful Conduct.

Organization leaders in councils were disappointed again yesterday in their attempt to investigate the removal of two clerks in the assessors' office. The committee called upon Recorder Brown expecting him to refuse to treat with them on the subject or to recognize their authority in the matter.

In this they were surprised. The recorder assured them that he would assist in their work.

Without asking for an explanation of the discharge of the two clerks in question the committeemen tried to secure a statement from the recorder denying their authority and indorsing the action of the assessors.

John A. Murphy, Max G. Leslie and W. A. Magee did the talking for the committee. They were persistent in their efforts to gain a partisan advantage by urging the recorder to commit himself. He told the committee that he had received no official notice of the action of councils or that the committee had called upon the assessors. He said that, notwithstanding the failure of councils to notify him of the investigation, he was perfectly willing to aid the committee in its work, but would not give any answer to the committee's demands until he had conferred with the assessors on the matter. He said he would then give the committee its answer in writing.

The recorder assured the members of the committee he had nothing to conceal in the matter, and that it was perfectly welcome to a knowledge of the reasons for any changes that have been made in the city departments. The courtesy and tact of the recorder disarmed the committee and left them powerless to continue the alleged investigation.

The recorder held a conference yesterday afternoon with the board of assessors and received from it a statement as to the reasons for the removal of the clerks. It is known that the removals were made for good and sufficient reasons and under the new charter the reasons cannot be questioned by the city legislative body.

Councils have acquired distinction in establishing a precedent unknown in former administrations. They have begun to investigate. In addition to the luckless probing of the assessors they are now paying attention to Director Bigelow.

A sub-committee has been appointed by select council to accuse the director of buying horses for his department and allowing them to die before councils got ready to pay for them. The committee was also instructed to charge the director with buying street sweepers when he had no authority from councils.

Five horses were purchased to replace others that had died. They were badly needed and were purchased in an emergency. None of the new horses died as was charged by members of councils.

The other charge that street sweepers were bought without authority from councils is denied by Director Bigelow. He said yesterday that no street sweepers had been bought, and that the councilmanic committee could have found out if it had cared to. The committee will meet tomorrow afternoon to discuss the matter.

CHILDREN CANNOT BE ARRESTED NOW

Law Passed by the Last Legislature Limits the Powers of the Police.

The small boy can no longer be frightened into being good by threats of having him locked up in the police station. Nor can those who have been in the habit of complaining against every little act of the boys of the neighborhood have them arrested by the policeman on the beat.

The boys are better taken care of now than ever, and that by the action of the last legislature. It will not be an easy matter for the neighbors to complain about the boys' actions. They can't go to the police magistrate, nor the officer on the beat, but they must go to the clerk of courts, and that means time and money. Nor can the boy be arrested and confined in the police station or jail, but must be placed in the house of probation, and that is something this county does not have.

The last legislature passed a bill which reads as follows:

No court or magistrate shall commit a child under 11 years of age to a jail or police station, but, if such child is unable to give bail, it may be committed to the care of the sheriff, police officer or probation officer, who shall keep such child in some suitable place provided by the city or county, outside of the inclosure of any jail or police station, or in the care of any association willing to receive it, and having for one of its objects the care of neglected and dependent children.

When any child shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in the same building with such adult convicts, or to confine such child in the same yard or inclosure with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or building in which adult convicts may be present.

The police officers will not relish keeping their own homes open for the confinement of arrested boys, and as yet neither city has provided a suitable place for the detention of the boys. Neither has a probation officer, nor has the sheriff any place of confinement. Should the boys be arrested and be held for court it will be necessary to try them in the juvenile court, and such a court this county is without. A special judge is to be provided for this court.

Speaking of the new law, Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen of Allegheny said he believed it to be one of the most just laws enacted. "Almost every day some person comes in here and complains about the boys annoying them, and very often makes information, charging them with disorderly conduct. When the case is tried the boys generally admit their guilt, but the cases are so trifling that the older people should not take any notice of the offense. But when boys are brought here and they plead guilty there is nothing else for a magistrate to do than to fine them. They generally receive the smallest fine for their acts. Officers will not be so willing to arrest the boys for trivial offenses when he is unable to place them in the police station, and as the city is without a place for their detention they will be allowed a little more freedom. The only way that the boy can be arrested is by complaining to the clerk of courts, and rather than go to that trouble many people would drop the minor complaints."

ORDINATION RECOMMENDED.

Baptist Council Approves William H. Swallow's Desire to Become a Minister of the Gospel.

At a council held yesterday afternoon in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church William Henry Swallow was recommended for ordination to the ministry. Invitations were sent to the 60 churches in the Pittsburgh association, and 26 churches were represented by 25 ministers and 28 other delegates. The Rev. James A. Maxwell, of McKeesport, was elected moderator of the council, and the Rev. P. F. DeLancey, of the Mt. Washington church, clerk.

The ordination services will be held in the Fourth Avenue church, at the annual church meeting, Tuesday evening, November 12. The Rev. J. S. Hutson, D. D., pastor of Emmanuel church, Allegheny, will offer the ordination prayer, the Rev. Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D., will give the hand of ministerial fellowship, and the Rev. John M. Moore, pastor of Wilkinsburg, will make a brief address on "The Relation of People and Pastor."

Mr. Swallow has been engaged in active church work for many years. He was born in Nashua, N. H., and was baptized when a lad by the Rev. W. H. Eaton, D. D., one of the most distinguished clergymen of that state. When a young man he went to Boston, where, under the auspices of the Baptist Social union, he became connected with the Bethel Baptist church as its city missionary. In Boston Mr. Swallow did excellent work. Later he went to Springfield, Mass., to become assistant pastor and city missionary in the State Street church. In 1898, when Dr. Barnes became pastor of the Fourth Avenue church, Mr. Swallow became his associate pastor. Mr. Swallow never asked for ordination as a minister of the Gospel until the present time, believing that much of his best work could be, and had been, done among people who could be reached better in his capacity of simply city missionary.

NEW COMPANY TO LET CONTRACT

Jupiter Steel Company Will Equip a New Plant at Carnegie.

WILL MANUFACTURE FINE STEEL.

Machinery and Tools Will be the Principal Output of Mill--New Process Will be Used in Manufacture--Capital Stock $100,000.

The Jupiter Steel and Coal Company, chartered in West Virginia to do business with a capital of $1,000,000, is about to let contracts for the equipment of a plant near Carnegie borough. The buildings formerly used by the Pennsylvania lead works will be used, a number of alterations having been made, and about the middle of next January the new company expects to be putting out its patented product in steel. The company has been organized by Pittsburghers, and will use the same patents under which the United States Steel Company of Boston, capitalized at $3,000,000, operates, its now famous plant at Everett, Mass.

The Boston company has a one-fourth interest in the Pittsburgh company, which is organized as follows: John M. Anderson, ex-treasurer of Allegheny county and ex-director of the Pittsburgh department of charities, president; H. B. Whall, president of the United States Steel Company, secretary; James Hazlewood, the Pittsburgh real estate broker, treasurer, and Charles S. Miller, treasurer of the United States Steel Company, assistant treasurer. The Pittsburgh company was promoted and organized by W. J. Wilson, the Pittsburgh consulting engineer, now located in the Lewis block.

Contracts, to be let within a few days, include the erection of two open hearth furnaces, a 36-pot crucible plant, electric cranes, and a large amount of special machinery. The buildings of the lead works cover over three acres of ground, and will not be further enlarged at present by the new steel company.

The output of the company will, like that of the Boston concern, include a large variety of mining machinery, tools and appliances and steel castings of any size or character. The process is new, having been discovered by Mr. Whall and A. B. Lundin, who is superintendent of construction in the United States Steel Company, which was organized in September, 1899. This company paid dividends of 12 per cent on all stock for the first year of operation, and is now enlarging its plants. Negotiations were on for the purchase of the plant and patents of this company by the United States Steel Corporation before the corporation was organized in February of this year, but they fell through.

The Jupiter steel process is a secret one and simply provides for the production of tool steel from what seems an ordinary steel casting. For the edges, required in the finished tools, the castings only need a little grinding and tempering. The process is said to produce a soft steel with tensile strength of 90,000 pounds and giving the same practical results as a drop forging. The harder steel produced under the same process, provides for the turning of almost any tool usually produced by this process in the works of the eastern concern, W. F. Reebel of Jones & Laughlins, limited, said that a trial in turning steel rolls had given about the same result as the famous Mushet tools. In anticipation that the new works at Carnegie will be operated for a light output at first, it is estimated that a production of 5,000 tons a year in a low steel market will create net earnings of $360,000. The Boston company, which will necessarily co-operate with the Pittsburgh concern, is largely engaged on the production of a patented brake for traction cars, the Neal duplex brake, which is designed to operate through the force generated by the motion of the car, the brake only occupying four inches of axle space. One of the new cars of the Consolidated Traction Company of this city is now at the works in Everett, Mass., to be equipped with these brakes as an experiment. The brake is now used on a number of eastern traction lines. The Everett works have just turned out two 43-ton steel castings for the battleships Rhode Island and New Jersey.

WORK AMONG FOREIGNERS.

Allegheny and Pittsburgh Presbyteries Will Conduct Joint Mission Work Among Foreign Residents.

The presbytery of the Presbyterian church, Allegheny, met yesterday afternoon in the First church, Allegheny, in a session called by the moderator, the Rev. Charles A. McCrea, for two objects: First, to consider the advisability of, and if the way should be clear, to arrange for the co-operation of the Allegheny presbytery with the Pittsburgh presbytery in the work among the foreign population within the bounds of the two presbyteries; second, to consider and take action upon the question of evangelistic work as proposed by the general assembly.

A resolution was passed authorizing the home mission committee to co-operate with the other presbytery in the work.

Presbytery also appointed a committee to take up evangelistic work and co-operate with a similar committee from the presbytery of Pittsburgh, and a committee from the Ministerial association. This committee is as follows: The Rev. Dr. H. D. Lindsay, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Kelso and Elder George B. Logan.

The committee on evangelistic work is expected to concur in the plan proposed by the Ministerial association to have Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, the evangelist, come to this city.

Proposed plans for tent work were referred to the committee on home missions, with instructions to report a scheme at the regular meeting of presbytery in December.

Glassworkers Win a Strike.

MARION, IND., Nov. 4.—Union employes of the Safe Glass Company's plant at Upland, who were locked out a week ago because of some contention with the firm, have won out and returned to work. The plant is under full blast again today.

PRIZES GO TO THE FT. WAYNE

Result of the Annual Inspection of the Pennsylvania Lines West.

EASTERN DIVISIONS ARE THE BEST

Supervisor G. M. Farley, of Jacks Run Section, Gets First Prize and Second Goes to Crestline--Big Shops for Wilmington, Del.

George M. Farley, supervisor of the Fort Wayne, from Jacks Run to Homewood, has been awarded the first prize, and J. F. McKenna, who has charge of the supervisor's division No. 5 from Smithville to Crestline, the second prize as the result of the general manager's annual inspection of the Pennsylvania lines west. The inspection was finished last week. Both prizes for line and surface have come to the Fort Wayne's eastern division, of which A. M. Schoyer is superintendent. The territory inspected this year consists of all the Fort Wayne and the Chicago Terminal and Logansport divisions of the Panhandle. The awards were made by three superintendents, who are not in charge of divisions inspected. The committee this year consisted of W. H. Schriven of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh, N. C. Bennette of the Indianapolis & Vincennes, and M. W. Mansfield of the Indianapolis divisions.

For the first prize a cash bonus of $100 is given, and for the second $50. The division winning first honors will be entitled to display for a year the long sign showing to passengers the winning of the prize.

In addition to these prizes the foreman in each superintendent's division showing the greatest excellence of work will be awarded a cash prize of $50. The committees in charge of these awards consist of the whole party making the inspection. For figuring out the result the party is divided into four committees, one looking out for excellence in line and surface, another in ballast, ties and switches; a third for road crossings, switches and sidings, and the fourth for station grounds, policing, etc. The marks made by these committees are now being tabulated at the general manager's office, and the announcements of the winners will be made as soon as the averages can be worked out. A week more probably will be required.

Big Shops for Wilmington.

Today final action will be taken by Wilmington (Del.) councils upon a proposition from the Pennsylvania railroad, to undertake in that city some of the most extensive work the company has ever planned. The tracks through the city are to be elevated, at a cost of nearly $4,000,000; immense freight yards are to be constructed, and car shops, almost as extensive as those at Altoona, will be erected. The work, as outlined now, will require several years for completion. A handsome new passenger station is included in the scheme. For the shops the Pennsylvania has purchased a farm near Edgemoor, a suburg of Wilmington. Both cars and locomotives will be repaired there, and the ultimate intention includes building cars as well. Gravity yards now in use at several points on the Pennsylvania will be used at Wilmington also. In making up Eastern trains only a few shifters will be required, gravity doing the work of engines.

Changes in Schedule.

The Pittsburgh and Western passenger schedule for the fall makes several important changes. Trains 3 and 4 will run to Painesville, instead of Akron. To offset this loss to Akron, a new train will be run to Akron, from Youngstown, leaving at 6:55, and arriving at 8:45 a. m. Returning the train will leave Akron at 5:10 and arrive at Youngstown at 7:20. It will make convenient connections with through trains to Chicago and to the East. Owing to the recent Baltimore and Ohio change of time, the Pittsburg sleeper on Train No. 9 has been abolished. The sleeper made the connection with the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago express by way of Newark, at Chicago Junction.

Fast Schedule to Hot Springs.

John R. James, central passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain route, announces that, with the change of time on the road November 17, the Iron Mountain will reduce the time between St. Louis and Hot Springs several hours. The through train now leaving St. Louis at 8:27 p. m., and arriving at Hot Springs at 11:30 the following forenoon, will leave after the change of time at 8 p. m., and arrive at the springs at 8 the following morning. This gives the fastest through schedule ever attempted to Hot Springs. It will enable the trip from this city to be made through in less than 30 hours.

RAILROAD NOTES.

J. H. Randall has been appointed manager of the Lima (O.) Car Service association.

Calvary Morris is said to have sold his large interest in the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling.

Passenger rates in the Cincinnati territory will be readjusted at a meeting of rate clerks this week.

George P. Miller has been appointed assistant engineer of the Buffalo & Rochester division of the Allegheny Valley.

Roydhouse, Arey & Co. of Philadelphia have taken the contract for erecting the shops planned for the Pennsylvania at Ormsby, Pa.

The Pressed Steel Car Company has made a contract with the Northern Pacific for 2,000 box cars, with steel under-framing, and 1,000 steel flat cars.

Improvements amounting in cost to $85,000 are to be made at once in the Mount Clare shops of the Baltimore & Ohio. An addition 700x240 feet will be made to the erecting shop.

James W. Patterson, Jr., resident engineer of the Wabash, at Peru, Ind., was in this city yesterday. He is a son of Chief Engineer J. W. Patterson of the new Wabash line, now building into this city.

The Pennsylvania is said to contemplate permanently withdrawing its Anchor line of steamers from Erie, on account of labor troubles and inability to obtain adequate facilities for eastbound grain shipments.

E. C. Schoen, district passenger agent here for the Northern Pacific, has gone to El Paso, Tex., for a few months to recuperate in health. Hard work has been the main cause of the breakdown. During his absence, which may last several months, the office will be in charge of C. E. Brison, formerly with the same company.

Engineer J. J. Schultz of the Enon Valley accommodation on the Ft. Wayne road, accompanied by Mrs. Schultz, left yesterday for a tour of the west, which will include Denver, San Francisco and other Pacific coast resorts, and Honolulu, Hawaii. Mr. Schultz is an old employe of the Ft. Wayne, and this is the only vacation he has allowed himself in many years. The travelers received a hearty send off from the railroad men, who gathered at the depot to wish them a pleasant trip.

ANOTHER NOTED GUEST.

Joseph Jefferson Will Take Part in Founder's Day Celebration—Details Almost Completed.

Arrangements for the Founder's day celebration at Carnegie institute on Thursday are nearly completed. Practically every department of the institute save the library is closed, and will remain so until Founder's day. In the art gallery and the museum, everything is activity, as pictures and exhibits are being arranged. All details will be completed by tomorrow night, when the press view of both art gallery and museum takes place.

A welcome addition to the program for the day's exercises has just been announced. Joseph Jefferson, the dean of the American stage, will be a guest. Last year Mr. Jefferson happened to be in Pittsburgh and occupied a seat on the stage at the Founder's day exercises. He was called upon to speak, and made one of those characteristic little talks, which have helped to endear him to the theater-going people of the country.

The veteran actor is a great friend of Former President Grover Cleveland, who is to be the principal speaker of the day. The actor and the only living ex-president of the United States meet every summer at Mr. Cleveland's home in Buzzards Bay, and enjoy a few days' fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will arrive in Pittsburgh Thursday morning. Quarters have been engaged for them at the Hotel Schenley. It was originally hoped that the distinguished guests would get here Wednesday morning, but the plans have been changed. Col. Samuel Harden Church was in Princeton yesterday, making final arrangements with the ex-president for his visit here.

Just What West Carnegie Offers:

West Carnegie is the place for you. It is the place for every family that is trying to get along in the world a little better. It holds out every inducement—plenty of work—plenty of industries—and more good manufacturing plants going up. These are facts. You don't have to wait. The business now at West Carnegie is sufficient to maintain a community many times larger than the one now living there. You see, the millworkers and their families have been obliged to live away from their work. They couldn't get houses enough near the scene of their labors. But now their golden opportunity has arrived. So has YOURS. Embrace the opportunity. Andrew Carnegie and all other rich men have been shrewd enough to take advantage of every favorable opportunity. There is nothing in working like a slave and having only rent receipts to show for your life of toil. Be independent. Invest a few dollars tomorrow—you'll thank us for the advice for years to come.

West Carnegie is really next door to Pittsburgh—25 minutes' ride from Union Station. The streets are all laid out and boardwalks are down. Natural gas and city water are on every street.

TORRENCE LAND CO.

Every Workingman Should Own a Home

The best way to deal with trusts is to be independent of them. The best way to deal with landlords is to quit them. Live in your own home. If a house is profitable to your landlord it would be profitable to you. Why not save the money he is now making at your expense? You can do it easily. Begin right now. Buy one of these lots. Pay a few dollars down—the terms for the rest will be made to suit you. Erect a home when you get ready for that. Even if you don't build you can double your money in six months. Our prices for these lots will positively be advanced 10 per cent. in 60 days.

Lots $75 and Up

West Carnegie holds out inducements to everybody—working people and business people. Mechanics earn more to the man there than almost anywhere else. Business people make money because the millworkers receive fat wages and spend their money liberally. More storekeepers are needed. There's room for all kinds of business at West Carnegie. Just think of the present and the future. Many busy mills are already established—many more are being built.

The Torrence Land Company's Plan is in the heart of the most desirable section of West Carnegie. It adjoins the site of the mammoth works being erected by the Carnegie Tube Company. 1,000 MEN WILL BE EMPLOYED IN THIS PLANT ALONE. Go out and look at the work accomplished on this immense plant. Look at the other manufactories in the neighborhood. Observe the numerous dwelling houses being erected.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

The Election Today.

No voter in Pennsylvania who believes in the principles of the Republican party should remain away from the polls today. No Republican should be apathetic enough to stay at home. He should cast his ballot for the candidates of the party whose policy has brought about the prosperity that the United States enjoys, and which has made this nation envied by all the other countries on earth. He should register his confidence in Republican principles and his displeasure at the effort to disrupt the party in this state, by making it a point to cast his own vote and to remind his neighbor of his duty.

It is well to remember that any reduction of the normal "off year" plurality of the Republican party would be hailed with glee by opponents of the national administration in this as well as in other states, and would inevitably be pointed to as an indication of disaffection on national policies. This is an additional reason for a mighty rallying of Pennsylvania Republicans around the polls.

Russia's Friendship.

In the current number of Scribner's Henry Norman discusses the Russian empire, and incidentally takes occasion to declare that the prevalent American belief in the traditional friendship of Russia for the United States is a political soap bubble. Mr. Norman is an observant Englishman who has traveled much in Russia, and what he says is entitled to respectful consideration. If Russia is not the friend of the United States it behooves Americans to find it out and bear it in mind.

Mr. Norman does not cite any instances of Russian unfriendliness, but he pronounces apocryphal the narratives of Russia's readiness to interfere on the right side during the war of the rebellion, and declares that America simply does not exist for Russia except when that empire wishes to borrow money or when a troublesome secretary of state puts a series of direct questions about Manchuria or the open door, and insists upon answers in writing.

There does not appear to be any particular reason why a great religious autocracy like Russia should cherish any special and peculiar love for a great secular republic, but at the same time a government like the czar's, so situated as not to be able to command the sincere affection of the monarchies of Europe or the ancient kingdoms of Asia might be careful to foster the friendship of the United States. But whether the supposed friendship between the two countries be, as Mr. Norman thinks, entirely mythical, it has done neither country any harm so far, and the United States is not likely to permit it to lead the republic into international complications.

The Doom of the Biddles.

The action of the lower court in the case of the Biddle brothers, convicted of murder of the first degree, has been approved by the higher tribunal of the state, and only the board of pardons now stands between the doomed men and the gallows. It is hardly probable that an appeal for clemency will be made, and still less likely that in the event of such an appeal there would be commutation of the death sentence.

While there was little, if any, doubt as to the finding of the supreme court in this case, it is gratifying to know that there was not the slightest error in the proceedings before the lower court. The opinions written by Justice Dean make clear that the condemned burglars and murderers were fully protected in their rights by the law they had outraged, and that they enjoyed every legal advantage in their efforts to escape conviction. The Biddles were fairly tried, fairly convicted and now let justice be done.

Election Weather.

In making their forecasts and in summing up the pros and cons of an election the political managers very wisely include the condition of the weather as an important factor in deciding the final result. In the rural districts it has been found that the weather cuts an important figure, and to such an extent has this become true that certain kinds of weather is called "Republican weather" and certain kinds "Democratic weather." It is always the dominant party that suffers from bad weather, for the reason that the members of a party usually polling a large majority feel that their presence is not necessary to success and are, therefore, more easily deterred by weather conditions. In strong Democratic states, therefore, bad weather on election day is called "Republican weather." In states strongly Republican the reverse is true.

If the weather man's promises be realized throughout Pennsylvania and Ohio today bright, cold, snappy weather, the first real touch of winter, will prevail, and by all the legends of weather in politics, should send every Republican to the polls.

Vote for the Best.

Pennsylvanians want only the best men in all the offices, and the fusionists all through the campaign have taken pains to impress on them just where the best men are to be found. The fusionists have told the voters that there are no national interests at stake in today's election, and that they may for this reason with safety vote against the Republican party and its nominees. This means, if it means anything, that the fusionists cannot be trusted very far; that, if national interests were involved, they couldn't be trusted at all; that in small matters they might do all right, but not in larger matters. It is a poor compliment, but they pay it to themselves and may be assumed to speak from personal knowledge of their own shortcomings. The people of Pennsylvania will take this into consideration today. They have their choice between two sets of candidates, the candidates of the party that, according to its own confession, is not to be trusted and whose candidates are not to be trusted except in a small way, and the candidates of a party that is to be trusted with public matters large and small. The choice is not difficult to make. It would be a poor compliment to those admitted by their opponents to be the only proper sort of persons to deal with national interests were they to be voted down for persons confessedly unfit. Pennsylvania voters are not paying compliments of that kind.

Feeding American Soldiers.

The magnitude of the task of feeding the soldiers of the United States armies is fully set forth in the annual report of Gen. John F. Weston, commissary general of subsistence. As a rule the ordinary observer is satisfied with the knowledge that the soldiers are being supplied with the necessaries of life, and, therefore, he is surprised when the official data reveal to him the wonderful food resources of the country and the enormous energy required in making the proper distribution.

Probably the most interesting feature of the report is the statement from Col. Woodruff, chief commissary of the army in the Philippines, showing how that division is cared for. With 480 stations in the archipelago to look after, as well as the troops in China and the prisoners in Guam, making a total of nearly 100,000 persons, not one serious complaint was received concerning the food supply—a marvelous showing when it is remembered that the country occupied was practically destitute of food suited to Americans, and that they had to be supplied mainly from a single base 7,000 miles distant. The trouble did not end with the receipt of the supplies at Manila, for from that center they had to be distributed to outlying stations by boats, pack mules and coolies, being transported to seashore points, along narrow rivers, over mountain trails and often through hostile territory, some of the posts being farther from Manila, in point of time, than is the capital of the United States.

The record made by the commissary department is certainly one to be proud of, and there will be general indorsement of Col. Woodruff's declaration that the American force in the Philippines has been supplied "as no other army of its size has ever been supplied in the world's history."

The Uniontown Fire.

The destructive fire recently in the principal center of Uniontown should teach the authorities and citizens of the larger towns and boroughs similarly situated a wholesome lesson. An inadequate water supply or a falling off by reason of drought or from other causes of the usual supply should not be neglected through any false sense of security or because of reliance upon a fire company, however well drilled and efficient. The Uniontown fire is said to have gained its great headway through a lack of water caused by the drought in that section. The borough depends upon mountain reservoirs and these were so low that the pressure in the mains was not strong enough to send the water through the hose. For the same reason two creeks that traverse the town, and that under ordinary circumstances might have been used to supplement the regular source of supply, were almost entirely dry, thus leaving the town at the mercy of the flames.

If boroughs the size of Uniontown would inaugurate a system of artesian wells their protection against fire in a case of emergency would be greatly enhanced. These wells might be supplementary to the reservoir supplies which are now so common and which when sufficiently large are adequate in ordinary cases. But with the long droughts to which we are subject in this climate the reservoirs that are supplied by small streams are apt to become very low, and in case of a big fire prove thoroughly useless in supplying water to high buildings. With the wells a low supply of water would be guarded against and at the same time a flow sufficiently strong for use on fires would be secured.

The Pallbearers' Union.

Many unique organizations have been launched in Chicago, and the latest to attract attention is a union of pallbearers. Several months ago an association was formed by Chicago gravediggers, and as trusts and labor organizations had previously been identified with the various stages of humanity from the cradle to the coffin, there is now a direct union route from the first resting-place of man to his final abode.

The demand for payment of services in carrying a body to the tomb is somewhat of a shock to sentiment, but it must be remembered that the members of the Chicago union are professional pallbearers, and are supplied by the undertaker when there is a lack of friends to perform that duty to the dead. Chicago is a large and busy town, in which there are many funerals, and as the demands of business are liable at times to affect the attendance at burials, it is well that there are experts handy to be pressed into service when the occasion requires. There are many ways of earning a livelihood, and to these must now be added professional pallbearing, another illustration of the meeting of extremes.

The Future of Wu.

When Wu Ting Fang goes back to China, if he does go back, he may find it no easy matter to keep his head on his shoulders. Minister Wu is very much up to date for a disciple of Confucius. Madam Wu, also, has some liking for western civilization, and the little Wus are being brought up in a manner that would make their ancestors shudder were they not dust, and in consequence, past shuddering. The dowager empress cannot be accused of love for the people of the accident or for their ways and modes of thought, and if she has called Wu back to China he will probably have to give an account of himself. Wu, it will be remembered, was the instrument in the hands of Secretary Hay to re-establish communication with the besieged legations at Peking. The dowager may want to know all about that incident, and Wu's part in it. We see trouble for Wu, and from the standpoint of the United States and Europe there should be none. We owe him a debt and should pay it in part by requiring a guarantee of his safety.

Because the Democrats have secured a few allies from the Republican party wreckers and are sailing under a new name is not sufficient reason why any loyal Republican should vote for the fusion ticket or stay away from the polls today.

The Hon. J. Hampton Hoge of Virginia may not win the governorship, but he seems to have had a great deal of solid fun in making the effort.

Apple butter making is the chief aim of housewives nowadays. Well, when we get time we purpose writing a book, or having the women do it, on the "History of Eeating." Who can tell the good and bad results of a dinner. Some one has said that "a capable chef is more important than a commander-in-chief." Barring champagne and mint juleps, President Roosevelt could not have offered to the colored orator who broke bread with him at the White House anything better than the bread and butter of the ordinary Greene county farmer's table this time of year, when the apple butter flavor concentrates the glory of the summer and the fall, and banishes the spirit of war from the household; and enthrones the smiling goddess of peace. We came near saying of course ourselves the other day when we had a surprise in this direction. Thanks.—Waynesburg Messenger.

The World Does Move.

From the London Telegraph.

Pope Leo XIII. has removed from the Index the two works of Galileo, "De Revolutionibus" and "The Dialogue on Motion"—one of which assert that "the earth was not the center of the universe, nor immovable, but that it moves even with diurnal motion," this being considered "a proposition absurd and false in philosophy and erroneous in faith."

Sentence was pronounced on June 22, 1633, so that the master's great works have been forbidden to the faithful 268 years. The whole proceeding was strange and irregular. Pope Urban VIII. did not sign the condemnation; Copernicus (1473-1543), a priest, taught the same doctrine; and Kepler (1571-1630), by his planetary laws, had founded the new astronomy. Galileo (1564-1642) only confirmed what they had taught. The year that he died Newton was born in a land where no inquisition could stay inquiry. Moreover, in England, the Copernican theory created no religious alarm. Milton writes something proudly in his "Liberty of Unlicensed Printing," referring to his visit to Italy, "When I have sat among their learned men, for that honor I had, and bin counted happy to be born in such a place of philosophic freedom, as they supposd; that this is was that damp'd as they suppos'd England was, while themselves did nothing but bemoan the servil condition into which learning amongst them the glory of Italian wits; that nothing had been there writt'n now these many years but flattery and fustian. There it was that I found and visited the famous Galileo grown old, a prisner to the inquisition, for thinking in astronomy otherwise than the Franciscan and Dominican lincencers thought." More imperishable than the marble monument in Santa Croce are these two books now liberated from the "Index."

NEW YORK NOTE BOOK

Roar of Heavy Oratorical Artillery Heard Last Night in All the Five Boroughs of the Greater City—The Result still Uncertain.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building,
NEW YORK, Nov. 4.

Reminders that there is to be a big election fight tomorrow are apparent on every hand in this city. Scaffoldings on which are to be stationed stereopticons and other apparatus for giving bulletins to the multitude are in process of erection in hundreds of different places in Greater New York, and the closeness with which the operations of the workmen are observed by the idlers, tells of the deep interest felt in everything pertaining to the election. The battle of the ballots will be a desperate one, and arrangements have been perfected that the theater of the struggle will be thrown open to the view of the entire city. Speculation on the result is general, but it may safely be said that never was an election in this city about to be decided about which people knew less. Each side claims victory. That was to be expected, and the obvious partisan feeling which actuates each prediction robs the assertion of weight in the eyes of the fair-minded people. The wish is father to the thought in every case. Croker says that the Tammany ticket will win. He does not make any exception in his public declaration, although nearly everyone else drops Van Wyck out of his list of winners. That Van Wyck will run a long way behind his ticket is popularly conceded, for it is not in the memory of New Yorkers that any other mayor of this city has contrived to make himself so cordially detested in the course of his incumbency. Van Wyck will be badly beaten, and he will have his own boorishness and generally cantankerous demeanor to thank for it. The campaign orators are discharging the last of their heavy artillery all over the five boroughs tonight, and it will be late when the last word is spoken. At last, when the people have gone home and the lights are out, the hard workers of the campaign will hurry to bed for a long sleep. There will be no reason for them to get up early tomorrow. When they have voted it will be all over for them until the returns begin to come in. The strong-arm work at the polls will be done by another set of workers.

Where Croker Will Receive Returns.

All the important Tammany personages will be at Tammany hall tomorrow night to receive returns. Telegraph instruments have been placed in the executive chamber of the hall, and Richard Croker himself will receive the figures direct from the operators. He will have all his close political friends around him, and they will help him in his calculations. There will be no one at the Democratic club until the result is known. Then the faithful will meet to triumph or sympathize with one another, as it may happen.

Closing Betting Still in Low's Favor.

The betting was ten to eight on Seth Low in Wall street today. These are the closing figures today. A great deal of money has been wagered, and there will be large sums to change hands when the result is known. It seems tonight as if everyone has money to bet on his favorite at the prevailing odds, and neither side can complain that it is impossible to place bets. It may be desperation on the part of some of the betters, but the fact remains that there has been more money wagered on this election than on any other in the history of the city.

The President in New York.

President Roosevelt is in New York tonight. He reached here about 5 o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Loeb and Mr. Pinckney, the steward of the White House. The president is in excellent health and spirits apparently, but no one has been able to obtain from him his opinion of the way the election will go in this city. Presumably, the president is satisfied in his own mind that the fusion ticket will win. Mrs. Roosevelt will remain in New York tomorrow, while her husband runs down to Oyster Bay to vote. He will not spend more time than is necessary, and the chances are that his neighbors in Oyster Bay will have to look out for him closely if they are to get a glimpse of him at all. The president and Mrs. Roosevelt will return to Washington tomorrow evening.

A Cruel Coincidence.

It has been agreed by such of the newspapers in this city as will use electric lights as signals that as one side or the other is ahead in the election tomorrow night a white light shall signify Low's election and a red one that Shepard is the victor. In view of the odium attaching to red lights on the East Side, and the prominent manner in which the "red light" issue has been in the campaign, it seems cruel to typify Mr. Shepard in this way. It is only a coincidence, of course, but one could not wonder if Mr. Shepard entered a strenuous objection.

Recital by a Talented Basso.

H. Whitney Tew, the basso, is announced to give a recital at Mendelssohn hall, this city, next Monday afternoon. He has a long and well-selected program and the recital is expected to be something of an event. This will be practically the opening of the music season in this city. Mr. Tew will sing in French, German, Italian and English.

Bitter Fight for Stokes' Estate.

No sooner is Edward S. Stokes dead than trouble begins over his estate. Rosamond Barclay, who insists that she is Mr. Stokes' lawful wife, will fight for her widow's portion. She was in deep mourning today, and she declared bitterly that Mrs. McNutt, Stokes' sister, and her husband had kept her away from Stokes' bedside by promising that she should see him before he died. The promise was not kept, she says, and she is convinced that he would not have died so soon if she, his wife, had been allowed to minister to him. She says that his estate is worth $200,000, and that he owned coal mines and a railroad in West Virginia. She says that her marriage certificate most likely will be found in Mr. Stokes' safe deposit vault, but that, if the certificate is not produced, she will send or go to Canada, where she was married, for the records. The funeral of Stokes will take place tomorrow morning from the home of the McNutts, in Harlem, the interment being in Greenwood cemetery.

Amelie Rives in Town.

Amelie Rives, the passionate, soulful Amelie, is here. She came from Europe on the steamship Trave today, and she brought her husband with her. He is the Prince Pierre Troubetzky, and he looks it. They have been living in southern Europe, and it is understood that Amelie Rives has been busy on a new novel. It is not known how long she will remain in this country, but it is understood that she will stay for the winter, at least. Her former husband, John Armstrong Chanler, created a sensation lately by coming into public view after being in retirement as a refugee from an insane asylum, and declaring himself sane, with the additional assertion that he had never been anything else.

Wall Street is Easy Street Now.

Wall street is rejoicing over its freedom from any monetary stringency. There are $44,000,000 of gold in the treasury which is available in business circles through bond redemption, by the order of Secretary Gage. There is no fear of tightness in the money market—at present, at all events.

Too Many Names for Married Woman.

Frank V. Bowars, the song writer, obtained a divorce from his wife Louise today in the supreme court. The grounds for the decree were that Mrs. Bowers had for a number of months been known as Mrs. George M. Pullman, and had lived with that young man at a certain hotel in this city. This was one of the Pullman twins, who have cut more or less of a swath in New York and Chicago at different times.

Too Tall to Live Long.

It is a painful thing to be too tall, according to the testimony of those who have more than the usual number of inches, particularly when one is thin as well as long. A boy of 16, named William Thomas Winant, was six feet two inches in his socks, and he was annoyed by his proportions. I speak of him in the past tense, because he is dead. He died today of pneumonia. He used to live in Yonkers, but was ridiculed so persistently by his school fellows that he persuaded his parents to take him away from school. Then they moved to this city and the lad obtained employment as a clerk with the Underwriters' exchange. Although pneumonia was the immediate cause of his decease there are those who insist that nervous worry over his abnormal height, aggravated by the small wit of his boy acquaintances, brought on the ailment that carried him off.

Two Business Views of the Weather.

There are two exactly opposite assertions made by business men as to the effect of the present beautiful weather on trade. One is that it is unseasonable and that, consequently, there has been much loss on winter goods for which there is no demand, and the other is that the retail trade never has been better at this time of the year. It is a fact, which anyone may see, that in the shopping district the sidewalks and stores are simply packed with women shoppers. The department stores are thronged perpetually and the clerks are obliged to be on the move all day. Many a woman goes out to shop because of the bright sunlight and the balmy air, who would not ordinarily think of shopping in November unless obliged. She goes from store to store now for the mere pleasure of it. It is true that some of the winter goods for which usually there is a demand at this time are left on the shelves; but this will be temporary only, and when the cold weather does come, which may be any day, there will be a brisk sale of such wares. This is the sentiment of long-headed merchants, and, on the whole, there is general satisfaction with weather conditions.

Troubles of Election Superintendent.

McCullagh, state superintendent of elections, is having his usual troubles over the elections. He has said that he knows of a lot of crooks in the city to act as repeaters and in other illegal capacities at the polls, and has asked Police Commissioner Murphy to give him enough police to help to keep the polling places clear of such characters. The commissioner comes back at him in a cruel way, by declaring that McCullagh has mentioned the names of some crooks that have been dead for a long time. For instance, those cultured gentlemen, "Deafy" Price and "Nutsey" Fagan, have both passed from this mortal vale, and others who are known as "Ratsy" this, that or the other, "Timmy the Pig" and "Sheeny Jake," are supposed to be dead, and certainly are not in New York. As Mr. McCullagh prides himself on his large acquaintanceship with the crooked fraternity and will not acknowledge that he could make a mistake about them under any circumstances, these insinuations of Murphy's hurt him very much. Of one thing Mr. McCullagh is convinced, and that is that he cannot depend upon much help from the regular police force tomorrow, and he has taken the matter entirely into his own hands. This means, most likely, that there will be some desperate fisticuffs and rough-and-tumbling at the polls in some of the close districts.

Frightened by Popcorns.

Richard Croker calls the new anti-Tammany organization the "Acorns," the "Popcorns." It is all well enough for Mr. Croker to say "Popcorn," but no one doubts that he has been badly frightened by the "Acorns," and if his men are beaten, it will be largely to the credit of these same Acorns, or Popcorns, whichever he chooses to call them. Justice Jerome has discharged some of his heaviest artillery under the Acorn banner, at its modest headquarters in Broadway, and it is not likely that the organization will be allowed to drop out of sight at the end of the present campaign. It has made itself a well-known name, and it should be useful in any fight of decency against disgraceful public conditions, whether municipal, state or national.

Dramatic Offerings.

Very large audiences were at the Broadway and Victoria theaters tonight. A new production was seen at each house. That at the Broadway was "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," while at the Victoria, Elsie DeWolf appeared in Clyde Fitch's new comedy, "The Man of the World." A new melodrama, "Sunset Mines," was put on at the Third Avenue.

Taft Temporarily Disabled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Secretary Root received a cable message today from Gov. Taft, saying that on account of the recent operation he had undergone he would be incapacitated for duty for about three weeks. He said the operation had been successful, and that his convalescence is progressing satisfactorily. During his disability Judge Wright, who has been appointed vice-governor, will administer the civil affairs in the Philippine government.

Havana Lawbreakers Restrained.

HAVANA, Nov. 4.—The local union of cigarmakers attempted to prevent 40 Havana workmen sailing for Tampa to take the places of strikers there. The police arrested 30 of the demonstrators and escorted the workmen to the steamer Florida, which left for Key West during the afternoon.

Vienna's Plague of Pigeons.

From the London Telegraph.

The few pairs of pigeons brought a hundred years ago from Venice to Vienna have multiplied to such an amazing extent as to have become a public pest. There is great difficulty in exterminating these pretty creatures, as besides the danger involved to the public in shooting them, many of the birds would perhaps only be wounded. The town council have therefore resolved that as many as possible shall be caught alive, killed and given to poor families, and that for some years fresh eggs in equal numbers shall be abstracted from the nests. The birds, which are great favorites with the cabmen and porters, are fed as regularly as the horses, clouds of pigeons descending at the first throw of corn. Hundreds of birds await an eccentric lady who appears every day in the town park in summer and winter with food for them. In winter she brings warm linseed meal and other food and they descend at her call. She is closely veiled and her name is unknown. The habitues of the park have dubbed her the "Baroness." She wept upon being told by a park keeper that the pigeons were to be caught and killed, and great dissatisfaction is also expressed by the cabmen.

EUROPEAN GOSSIP.

BY THE DUCHESSE DE BELIMERE.

Prince Gustaf Adolf, eldest son of the crown prince and heir presumptive to the throne of Sweden and Norway, will enter Upsala university this fall. A handsome apartment of nine rooms has been engaged for him in the fashionable part of the university town. The prince will not eat at restaurants, but will have a complete household staff, the whole to be under the charge of his governor, Court Marshal Baron Printzskeld. It is an old custom in the royal house of Sweden that the princes of the family should attend the ancient university of Upsala. The young prince is a modest, kind hearted young fellow of a studious mind, and he will probably not follow in the footsteps of his uncle, Charles XV., who, while at Upsala, was a leader in every form of student fun and mischief.

Fad of an Empress.

The empress of Germany took up the kodak craze when she abandoned the collection of picture postals. One large room in the Berlin palace is known as the empress' studio. It is filled with all sorts of photographic paraphernalia, and has at the end a set of shelves on which are ranged in order no less than fifty-seven albums of her pictures. Volumes XII. and XIII. are particularly interesting, being a pictorial diary of William II.'s Palestine tour.

Photography also forms one of the favorite pastimes during the Danish royal family reunions at Fredensborg. Every promenade, bicycle tour or excursion is invariably followed by a developing session in the palace dark room which King Christian had so carefully fitted up only three years ago. Then they have snapshot contests. At the end of the visit all the pictures are numbered, registered and exhibited. The prize is then awarded by a royal committee, of which King Christian is president. This year the handsome Dresden clock went to Queen Alexandra. Last year her majesty carried photographic art a step higher. All views taken on her Danish trip were transferred to China, and this original tea service presented to the old king as a Christmas gift. Queen Helena also possesses a small library of albums composed of views taken by her in Montenegro, Italy, Norway and Sweden. She not infrequently makes use of her camera on the hunting field, to remember some master shot or unusually fine piece of game. Another votaress of the dark room is Holland's sovereign. Queen Wilhelmina is constantly seen in the neighborhood of Loo or The Hague carrying a white morocco case which bears her initial and the crown in diamonds. This is the kodak given her by Prince Henrich on her recent birthday.

Princess Took First Prize.

A princess who has exhibited and gained a prize at a kodak exposition is the king of Belgium's youngest daughter. Not so very long ago her highness exhibited at an Antwerp exhibition under the name of Mlle. Ducrais, and was awarded first prize for finish and detail. Princess Clementine makes a specialty of portraits, and is said to have taken almost every known type in Belgium, Austria, Switzerland and France. A few days ago her highness made an excursion with her camera to Merchtem, not far from Brussels, where she alighted from her carriage to take a picturesque farm. The farmer was standing on the doorstep giving orders to his sons, and the daughter, sleeves well rolled up, was doing the family washing. The princess inquired in Flemish whether she might take the picture. The old man readily consented, and straightway the entire household began to fog themselves up a bit. "Oh, don't do that, please don't do that," called out the photographer. "You are just the type I am looking for; and, besides, that would completely spoil my picture." The others reluctantly obeyed, though it was much against their grain to be taken in working clothes. After the operation was ended the princess thanked them kindly and drove away, having promised them a proof later. A couple of days afterward she kept her word, and, returning to the hamlet, handed in the picture. The surprise of the peasants may be imagined when across the bottom they saw her highness' signature.

The Carlist Case.

Should the reported illness of Don Carlos, duke of Madrid, prove fatal the young king of Spain will be more secure upon his throne. Don Carlos has never given up his claim to the "usurper's" place and a very good claim it is. No one takes seriously King Alfonso's right to reign except those who believe that "might makes right." What his father fought for the boy king has. Legitimists have no choice but to indorse the claims of Don Carlos now said to be dying in his home in Trieste, a man past 50 years of age. Possession in this case has proved to be nine points of the law and Don Carlos has had an all but hopeless struggle. Ferdinand VII., who died in 1833, should have been succeeded by his brother, Count Montemolin, grandfather of Don Carlos, instead of which his daughter Isabella, grandmother of Alfonso XIII., stepped into the place made vacant by her father's death. Her followers say that Ferdinand VII. revoked the Salic law, but he was notoriously without the right. When, therefore, Don Carlos entered Spain in 1873, saying he had come to save his country, there were many ready to help him to secure the throne legally his. After his death it is unlikely that Alfonso will be challenged further, for has not his sister, heir presumptive to his rights, married the son of Don Carlos' staunchest adherent.

It Caused Surprise.

A strange phenomenon was noticeable yesterday morning in Pittsburgh. Something was falling from the clouds.

It was wet. In fact, it resembled water very closely.

When it reached the ground it laid the dust and gathered in puddles, and ran off into the sewers.

Persons who were obliged to go out put up umbrellas to prevent the strange precipitation from falling upon them, and those who were not obliged to go out remained at home.

Some of the older residents of the city said that such a phenomenon was quite common in years gone by.

They said it was rain.

"No," remarked the Niagara Falls barrel woman, reflectively, "I can't say that I am sorry I took the trip. It is true that I couldn't be induced to go over the cataract again, no not for love or money. Yes, there were many disagreeable features connected with the journey. I was tumbled up and down in the rapids and bumped about, and at times I gave up all hope of ever getting out alive. But the worst feature of the entire business was the statement of the correspondents that I was about 50 years of age. Think of that! The wretches! The very idea! It makes my blood boil to be put down at about 50 years of age, when I'm only 40. I wish I could get hold of the correspondent that started the story that I was 50. Yes!"

Samuel H. Baker, Lawrence T. Gray and Henry A. Wattson, mine owners of Colorado, are at the Henry. Mr. Baker is general manager of the Crystal Mining Company of Ilse, Col. "Our mine produces only lead, and is one of the largest in the west. The vein is 120 feet wide, of which 90 feet produces pay ore. The waist or tailings from the mine carries from $2 to $6 per ton in gold. Mr. Gray is one of the owners of a large producing iron property now in the course of development. It is situated in the center of Colorado, with coal in abundance nearby. There is every quality of iron ore for making the best grades of steel on our property. We have also large quantities of manganese and wolfram ore from which tunstic acid is manufactured. Columbite ore, which contains niobic acid, is also found on our property. Mr. Wattson is also the owner of a gold property in the Black Hills. It is an extension of the famous Homestake mine, of which three-quarters is owned by Mrs. Phoebe Hearst. I am arranging to put up a 200-ton cynaide plant, and have already 200,000 tons of ore blocked out, which will average not less than $5 per ton." The party visited the Homestead steel plant yesterday and will visit the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing plant at East Pittsburgh today. They stated that their visit to Pittsburgh was partially on business and pleasure, but would give no intimation as to their business. They denied they were here to purchase machinery, as stated in an afternoon newspaper. They have with them large quantities of the different ores found in the west.

"Here's a health to you and your family. May they live long and prosper." Certainly Joseph Jefferson is the buoyant embodiment of this old toast that he utters with such unctuous spirit as "Rip Van Winkle" in the dramatization of the Irving story, in which he appeared at the Alvin theater last evening. Said Mr. Jefferson in a pleasant curtain speech last evening: "I have been playing this character in Pittsburgh for 30 years, and must have been seen as "Rip" by the grandfathers and fathers of many who are before me tonight." And yet it is hard to realize that this man with his marvelous vitality, his overflowing humor and withal his fine grasp of his art has passed the three-score-and-ten limit. Mr. Jefferson is 72 years old, but he plays Rip with the spirit and bouyancy of a man half that age. The characterization is so familiar to theater-goers that any critical review would be superfluous, suffice it to say that it has lost none of its old-time facination, none of the authority with which Mr. Jefferson invests every phase of the character from rollicking, good-natured drunkenness to the pathos of his home-coming after 20 years in the mountains. Mr. Jefferson's company is practically the same that was with him last season, including John Jack, Effollett Paget, Dudley Beeder, George Mendum and W. W. and Joseph Jefferson, Jr. The parts are well played, though it is clear that Mr. Jefferson hasn't a descendant upon whose shoulders will fall the mantle of his art. The audience was a fairly good one and thoroughly enjoyed the old story of "Rip's" long slumber in the Catskill mountains. On Wednesday evening "The Rivals" will be played when Mr. Jefferson will be seen as Bob Acres.

On top of all his past triumphs in providing and handling a massive scenic display, Mr. J. C. Huffman of the Grand opera house has put a climax that entitles him to the proud distinction of producing the most impressive series of stage pictures ever seen in a Pittsburgh theater. This sounds a little "press agenty," but it is the honest conviction of the critic who yesterday sat through the four acts of Boucicault's fine old Irish drama, "The Shaughraun," as presented by the Grand company. The excellence of the scenery is twofold. In the first place, it reflects harmoniously and effectively the locale of the play. Original photographs have been used and the scenic artist has reflected the familiar Sligo county scenes with lifelike fidelity. But the scenery of "The Shaughraun" at the Grand this week possesses another element of excellence. It is saturated with color and with such intelligent detail the spirit of peasant life is reflected. There is no makeshift scenery, but the whole play is interpreted by a series of panoramic views which, for truth, spirit and fidelity to originals is rarely ever excelled on the stage. The great storm scene at the conclusion of the third act is a marvel of electrical and curtain manipulation. There are several new effects with electricity that are startling in their realism. The sweeping clouds across the water, the zigzag lightning, accompanied by the familiar phosphorescent glow, a peculiar sea storm is reproduced with remarkable realism and accuracy. The play is by far the most prodigious scenic presentation ever undertaken at the Grand, and we doubt whether anything of the kind has ever been seen in Pittsburgh.

Of Boucicault's old drama, there remains little to be said that is new. It is one of those old heart stories connected with the sorrows of the Irish people that rings true and clear and has held its place on the stage because it thrills and stirs the sympathies of every lover of liberty and justice. The Grand stock company seems to have caught the spirit of excellence in the scenic equipment, and play the several parts with great spirit and intelligence. Miss Truax is better in the purely emotional moments in the life of Claire Effollett than when light Irish wit and galety are demanded. The surprise of the cast is Mr. Ingersoll's Con. This usually immobile and inflexible actor threw away his coldness and lived the life of Boucicault's Irish poacher with a spirit and dash that was genuinely enjoyable. I congratulate Mr. Ingersoll. His Con is a well rounded character study which gains force and freshness in the execution. Miss Ballou is admirable as Moya, her bucyancy and good humor being enjoyable all the time. Mr. Waldron's work in the difficult role of Capt. Molineux reflects great credit upon the versatility of that actor. Charles Abbe plays the role of the villianous Duffy well. While Mr. Taylor as Kinchela, Arthur Maitland as Robert Effollett, William Yerance as Father Dolan, Miss Irving as Arte and Alice Gale as Mrs. O'Kelly all do excellent supporting work. But it is the splendid scenery that makes this revival of "The Shaughraun" stand out conspicuously as a triumph for the Grand—and for Mr. Jack Huffman.

Chauncey Olcott, whose Irish brogue and sweet singing made him a favorite in Pittsburgh years ago, opened a two weeks' engagement at the Bijou theater last night, presenting his new play, "Garrett O'Magh." Augustus Pitou, who has written several successful plays for Mr. Olcott, is the author, and seems to have produced a rather better series of stage pictures than ever before. In many respects, such as to the children that Mr. Olcott always carries with him, "Garrett O'Magh" does not differ materially from other Irish comedies played by him. However, there is enough plot to keep the interest of the audience alive all the time; enough byplay for a hearty laugh; songs pretty and in plenty, and a plain dialogue, all making a pleasing comedy. The scenes are laid in and about Dublin in the year 1812, just at the outbreak of the war between the United States and England. This international difficulty gives Mr. Olcott a chance to assert his citizenship and bow his acknowledgements to the storm of applause inevitable from a Bijou audience after such patriotic sentiments. Mr. Olcott himself is as ever. His personality is winning, his stage presence pleasing, his voice sympathetic. He thoroughly realizes the worth of every scene from pathos to humor, from tragedy to comedy. His support is entirely adequate, and several of the quaint Irish characters, with but a few lines to the entire play, seemed remarkably true to life. Miss Edith Barker made a pleasing Eileen, a child of romance and dreams until awakened to womanhood by her love. Louise Marcelli played a rather thankless part consistently. Paul Everton was a decidedly unique American, with a line of comedy which he, unfortunately, overdid a trifle. Charles M. Collins and Margaret Fitzpatrick, two meddling old people, were very much in evidence, and did well enough. The other characters merely filled in, making a pleasing ensemble. One pleasing feature about the play, as with others of Mr. Olcott's, is the lack of a stage villain, so frequently overdone and made tiresome. The play is wholesome and entertaining, without really one dull moment.

A capable company last night presented the melodrama "For Her Sake" at the Empire theater. The geography of the play is extensive. The four acts are laid respectively in Cracow, on the banks of the Neva, in St. Petersburg, and at the sulphur mines of Kara. The action is as varied as the geography. Some really thrilling climaxes mark the smoothly told story. The audience that witnessed last night's performance was one of the largest of the year. It was thoroughly appreciative and set its seal of approval on the production with not a little enthusiasm. The company is well balanced. Frederick Montague, who heads it, did excellent work in a trying part. Lettie Allen, the leading woman, and Florence Coleman, however, won and deserved the laurels of the evening.

Duquesne—Vaudeville.

Hubert Wilke, the operatic singer, gave the big audience at the Duquesne theater last night a few songs from classic operas as the opening number for a very well balanced vaudeville program. He was in good voice and took well with the audience. No number in the entire program was bad and some were excellent. The funniest turn was Sheaa and Warren's "Quo Vadis Upside Down." Alf. Holt in his work of mimicry was good on most attempts, though his efforts to imitate a church bell and a trolley car were rather poor. His whistling cannot be surpassed. The Mouliere sisters did some variations of the "giant swing" on the horizontal bars that few male acrobats could surpass. Joe Flynn is nonsensical in the extreme and made the audience laugh. A pleasing feature of the program was the rural sketch presented by Mr. and Mrs. Litchfield, entitled "Down on the Brook Farm." Lucille Saunders, imposing in figure and possessed of a sympathetic contralto voice, sang her way into favor and received her share of applause. The Donovans, as Irish comedians, did not come up to the high standard of the other numbers. Decidedly the most unique, almost marvelous feature of the program, was the singing of Stuart, the "Male Patti." His make up as a soubrette and his well trained falsetto notes almost convinced the audience that "he was she." The Gleasons, clever and dainty dancers, closed the evening's entertainment.

Academy—Sam Devere's Company.

At the Academy last night one of the star attractions of the season, ranking high among the burlesque bills, was the noted Sam Devere and his company of stars. Although familiar to regulars he comes fresh from Newark with some clever and yet serious jokes. Also a bevy of stars. Those who contribute to the marked success of the company are the Imperial Trio in a musical skeich; Miss Bertie LeClair and her "tar babies;" the celebrated Phasey troupe, coming direct from London, with 12 talented musicians. Some difficult acrobatic feats are performed by the Seymours, while the World's Comedy Quartet got off some funny songs that pleased the audience. Laura Benedict and Sallie Stembler also brought down the gallery in introducing a new sketch entitled "Sapho and Lulu." In conjunction with the olio there is offered a laughable burlesque on the "Cloak Models," which served for rounds of applause. Mildred Howard DeGray in her latest terpsichorean sensation pleased the audience. The entertainment as a whole is bright, full of life and color, and the specialties are above the average.

"Nana" Must Leave.

Suchorowsky's superb painting "Nana," the most realistic conception of the nude in art ever seen here, is to leave Pittsburgh in a few days time. November 16 is the day set for its departure, so those who have not yet seen this wonderful painting should not delar doing so any longer. Of the many thousands that have visited 545 Smithfield street during the past seven weeks, not one has had anything but praise to bestow upon this magnificent production of life on canvas. The usual matinee for ladies will be held this afternoon from 1 to 6.

Meeting of the Decade Club.

The Decade club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Miss Sara Frasier Hillman, at her home in Shady avenue, East End. Miss Hillman was assisted by the other members of her class. The Decade club, as is pretty well known, is composed of the graduates of the Pennsylvania College for Women between 1890 and 1900. The assistants were Mrs. Barton Fisher, Miss Stockton and Miss Christy. The hours were from 2 until 5. During the afternoon there was music by several members of the club, the discussion of topics, which are of interest to college girls, and tea which was served by the hostess and her aids.

A Housewarming.

H. F. Getzendanner and his bride were given a housewarming last night at their new home in Hazelwood. A large number of friends were their guests informally, among them being Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Society

THE Pittsburgh Whist league held its open events tournament yesterday afternoon in the assembly room of the Twentieth Century club. The players surrounded all tables, competing for the pins awarded by the league. Two pins are given for the highest scores, north and south, and these were won by Mrs. George A. Macbeth and Mrs. Thomas Bakewell of the Pittsburgh Whist club, their score being 47. Two pins were also given for the highest score, east and west, the winners being Mrs. William N. Frew and Mrs. Jesse Lazear of the Duquesne Whist club, with a score of 46.

The tournament was one of the most enjoyable ever held under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Whist league, which is composed of women's whist clubs of this city, the Duquesne, the Allegheny, the Whist Club of Sewickley, the Pittsburgh Whist club, the Monday Afternoon and the Twentieth Century Whist clubs.

On Saturday afternoon the Pittsburgh Whist league held its selected pair tournament, 16 pairs from the different clubs which comprise the league taking part in the contest. The winners with the highest scores were Mrs. William P. Snyder and Mrs. George L. Roberts of the Pittsburgh Whist club, who won with the score of 41. The winners of the highest scores also received the Whist league pins contested for in the selected pairs tournament. These the winning ladies are entitled to wear until the next tournament, when they will again be competed for.

The tournaments on Saturday afternoon and yesterday were conducted under the direction of E. T. Baker of Brooklyn, N. Y. The whist clubs meet weekly and biweekly, devoting several hours together to the study of the game, which has proved so fascinating to all who have taken it up. Much progress has been shown in the playing of the women who this year are the winners of the pins of the league, and several new players of strength and power are coming to the front.

Mrs. Todd in Sewickley.

The Woman's club of Sewickley held a very enjoyable artists day reception at the Edgeworth club house yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd of Amherst, Mass., was the guest of honor and gave a most delightful talk on "An Eclipse in the Philippines," using a number of handsome views to illustrate her remarks. Mrs. Alfred B. Harlow, president of the club, presided at the meeting. At the close of the meeting tea was served in charge of Mrs. Dewitt B. Netleton. Mrs. Charles Brown poured tea at the table and the aids were Miss Virginia Chaplin, Mrs. Robert Cunningham, Miss Eleanor Chew, Mrs. Fred Hayworth, Mrs. Lillian Jones, Miss Elizabeth Lowe, Mrs. Mary Over, Mrs. Alexander Robinson, Mrs. C. J. Shannon, Mrs. John B. Semple, Mrs. John M. Tate, Jr., Mrs. William A. Way, Mrs. John Wheeler and Mrs. Clifford Wright. The dining room was tastily decorated. It has just been newly papered and with the large green banks of palms and ferns, together with a large number of bouquets of pink carnations, it presented a very handsome appearance. Mrs. Todd was entertained while in the valley by Mrs. George Clark of Edgeworth, who gave a luncheon in Mrs. Todd's honor at 1 o'clock yesterday. Among those present were Mrs. Alfred B. Harlow, president of the club; Mrs. Edward A. Woods and Mrs. Robert Wardrop.

Among the ladies who will have charge of the arrangements are: Mrs. M. H. Bach, Mrs. William J. Kuch, Mrs. F. E. Ash, Mrs. C. J. Craig, Mrs. L. H. Voigt, Mrs. M. Anderson, Mrs. Ida Bayner, Mrs. Harry Reiter, Mrs. John Straub, Mrs. W. B. Seidle, Mrs. Hazen Evans, Mrs. Anna Gleffer, Mrs. William Schibler, Mrs. Albert Rese, Miss Fouse, Miss Kleber and Miss Cora Wells.

Bazar at the Home.

The ladies' board of the G. A. R. home at Hawkins station will hold a "Harvest Home" bazar on Tuesday, November 14, at the home. Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock. There will be fancy work, candy, doll, cake and ice cream booths. In the evening there will be a concert and an address by the department president, Mrs. Catherine Rochs.

In Honor of Mrs. Alsop.

Mrs. Edward B. Alsop was the guest of honor at a luncheon given on Saturday afternoon by Miss Elvira Reese. It was a very pretty affair, conducted at the residence of the hostess' father, Isaac Reese, in Center avenue, Shadyside. Mr. and Mrs. Alsop have arranged to spend the winter in Washington, and will leave Pittsburgh on Thursday of this week, to be absent for a number of months.

Club Notes.

The Tourist club held an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon, discussing literature and music.

Samuel Harden Church will give a reading this afternoon before the Women's club of Pittsburgh from his new poem, "Beowulf."

The Current Topics Class opened its season of study yesterday morning at the Twentieth Century club, the president, Miss Harding, conducting it.

The Travelers club will hold its semi-monthly meeting in the parlors of the Central Young Women's Christian association this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

At the meeting of the Women's Press club in the private parlors of the Hotel Lincoln, the report of the delegate, Miss Roberts Bradshaw, who attended the meeting of the state federation in Reading, was listened to with a great deal of interest.

MRS. FRANK CARTER,
3 Merrill Street, Amesbury, Mass.

This letter should carry Faith and Conviction to the Hearts of all Sick Women.

"I suffered with inflammation and falling of the womb and other disagreeable female weaknesses. I had bad spells every two weeks that would last from eight to ten days and would have to go to bed. I also had headache and backache most of the time and such bearing down pains I could hardly walk across the room at times. I doctored nearly all the time for about two years and seemed to grow worse all the time until last September I was obliged to take my bed, and the doctors thought an operation was the only thing that would help me, but this I refused to have done.

"Then a friend advised me to try the Pinkham medicine, which I did, and after using the first bottle I began to improve. I took in all five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, four boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Dry Form Compound, three boxes of Liver Pills and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and I am as well now as I ever was. I am more than thankful every day for my cure."—MRS. FRANK CARTER, 3 Merrill St., Amesbury, Mass.

BIDDLE BOYS MUST SWING

Supreme Court Refuses to Interfere With Lower Court Decision.

JUSTICE DEAN UPHOLDS JUDGE SHAFER

Says Testimony With Reference to Killing of Detective Fitzgerald Was Proper—Dorman's Plea Also Good Evidence.

According to decisions made by the supreme court yesterday John and Edward Biddle, the convicted murderers of Grocer Thomas D. Kahney, of Albert street, Mt. Washington, are to hang. The judgment of the over and terminer court of this county, in which the Biddles were convicted of murder of the first degree was affirmed by opinions handed down by Justice Dean.

In going over the history of the case Justice Dean credits John Biddle with having fired the shot that killed Kahney, but says that it would make no difference which of the three men had fired it, as the law is well settled on the point that all are equally guilty, having effected a forcible entry for the purpose of robbery.

Walter Dorman and the two Biddles were arraigned during the early part of July for the murder, which occurred on the morning of Thursday, April 11. Dorman pleaded guilty to the charge and the two Biddles at separate trials were convicted. After John and Edward Biddle were sentenced to hang appeals were taken to the supreme court by Attorney James F. Burke. Before the appeals were argued Gov. William A. Stone set the day of execution for December 12, but soon withdrew this. The appeals were argued on Monday, October 28, one week ago, by District Attorney John C. Haymaker and Attorney Burke.

Dorman has not yet been sentenced for his crime.

Judge Shafer Did Not Err.

In regard to Edward Biddle's appeal, Justice Dean holds that the commonwealth was justified in introducing the testimony regarding the murder of Detective Patrick S. Fitzgerald, as touching upon the manner of his arrest.

After overruling all the assignments of error and upholding Judge Shafer in all his decisions, Justice Dean says:

The seventh assignment complains that the court, after the commonwealth had closed her case, permitted it to be opened and the record of Dorman's plea of guilty to be offered in evidence. This was in the discretion of the court unless this discretion was arbitrarily exercised or abused we will not interfere. The commonwealth might reasonably anticipate that the defense would at least insinuate that Dorman testified in the expectation of a quid pro quo as to him; to answer such insinuation the admission of the record showed that he had pleaded guilty and was in no better situation than Biddle would be if convicted. The fact was hardly of enough gravity to warrant this controversy over it in the record, as we have already noticed in discussing the first assignment, could not equal the effect of Dorman's sworn testimony, and therefore could not have prejudiced the prisoner. We overrule this assignment.

A large number of Allegheny county appeals were argued in the supreme court as follows:

Common Pleas No. 1—Elizabeth McKendry, admr., appellant, against P. M. Shannon, an action on a deed.

Common Pleas No. 2—Josephine Beso and others against Eastern Building and Loan association, appellant, an action on mortgage; Henry W. Olle, appellant, against Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company for personal injuries to a son; C. M. Williams and others, appellants, against Charles T. Fowler and others, an action on a lease; Patrick Morran against Annie Munhall and R. J. Munhall, admrs., appellants, an action on an account.

Bennett Water Company Case.

Common Pleas No. 3—Pennsylvania Title and Trust Company, appellant, against Gregor Meyer and others, an action to recover money on deposit; Edward Jones against the United Traction Company, appellant, for personal injuries received by a daughter; Charles A. Warmcastle against Scottish Union and National Insurance Company, appellant, an action on policies; Rufus C. Crawford, executor, appellant, against Oscar E. Krueger, et al., an action growing out of a judgment; William C. Hamilton against Consolidated Traction Company, appellant, for personal injuries; Robert Loughrey and wife, appellants, against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for personal injuries.

An order was made granting the petition for a reargument in the case of the receiver of the Bennett Water Company against the borough of Millvale, in which case common pleas court awarded the plaintiff $36,000 damages. The water company had an agreement with the borough for water. The agreement was broken and the borough set up its own plant. This resulted in the suit. It was contended the water works were built upon the strength of a former opinion of the supreme court, that a borough had a right to erect its own plant. The reargument will be made solely upon the question of the amount of damages.

THREE APPEALS DISMISSED.

Judgments of Two Aldermen Reversed in Criminal Court.

In quarter sessions court three appeals from summary conviction brought by P. C. Shilling were dismissed. Shilling was fined on three separate cases brought against him before Alderman Thomas Kagar, of the South Side, for the violation of the Sunday "blue laws" in three South Side stores. The cases were appealed to court, but when called for hearing yesterday nobody responded, and the appeals were dismissed at the cost of the appellant.

Other appeals decided were: J. M. and L. G. Peat, disorderly conduct, Magistrate B. McKenna, appeal dismissed; John Miller, disorderly conduct, Alderman John E. Von Moss, judgment reversed; John Schneck, disorderly conduct, Alderman Von Moss, judgment reversed; John M. Clark, cruelty to a horse, Alderman Von Moss, judgment affirmed; Frank Bryan, cruelty to a horse, Alderman W. S. Watson, judgment reversed.

A number of cases in which no one responded were called, or in which no bonds were filed, were dismissed. They are: Peter Kotenicz, George Tutko, Katie Smith and Morris Markowitz.

WITHDREW FIRST PLEA.

Edwin L. Vetter Asks for a New Trial in United States Court.

An argument was held in the United States district court on the motion for a new trial for Edwin L. Vetter, the postal clerk at Station A, East End, who was convicted of embezzling a letter. His counsel had advanced the claim that there could be no conviction, as the letter was a decoy, but yesterday withdrew this assertion. He held, however, that a mistake was made in sending out a copy of the letter mailed Wednesday night, which was dated Thursday, and that the court erred in admitting as evidence copies of certain decoy letters. Judge Joseph Buffington took the papers.

David K. Faulk, a salesman, of Titusville and Swissvale, filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $2,603.28, and assets, $2,820.35.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

By the will of Letetia B. Baxter, late of Homestead, Henry Gray gets $500 and the balance of a $6,200 estate goes to the decedent's husband.

The following decrees in distribution were made: Estate of Michael McKenna, $285 84; Maud O. Grenfish, $1,565 62; Henry C. McEwan, $3,757 02.

Exceptions were filed by Fred Gwinner to the report of the auditor appointed to make a settlement of funds in Gwinner's hands. It is claimed $1,000 should have been allowed the trustee for services.

Executions were issued as follows: Henry Schroeder vs. B. Stadelman et ux., $73 33; John H. Fester vs. Alexander Vizieczky, $537 55; A. V. D. Watterson vs. Mary E. Maginn et al., $198 45.

The will of Kate Wilson, late of Pittsburgh, was filed. A small estate is left to near relatives. The will concludes as follows: "My last request is if I die here (Pittsburgh) do not take me to the dead house, as I have a lot at Parnassus."

The will of Leslie W. Young, late of the firm of Joshua Rhodes & Co., was filed. The estate is valued at $70,000. Several small bequests are made to the members of the family, and the wife of the decendent gets the bulk of the estate.

Elizabeth F. Friday filed her acceptance to a verdict of $231,526, in lieu of a verdict of $233,994. The latter amount was awarded to her from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for property taken for Union station purposes, and was reduced by the court.

Jane Scott entered suit against her husband, Charles A. Scott, to recover $690, which she claims belongs to her personal estate. The plaintiff recites that Scott sold out his saloon for a large sum of money and refused to give up the money to her. She says that her husband deserted her and a divorce is pending upon this charge.

Execution attachments were issued as follows: Henry Braun against S. F. Truby, Pittsburgh stock exchange, garnishee; A. L. Wilson against S. F. Truby, no garnishee named; Heller & Perrin against Michael Doyle & Co., Pennsylvania Railroad Company, garnishee; Davis & Carnahan against Louis Unsergagt, William and Anna Unsergagt, garnishees.

Judge Joseph Buffington made an order in the United States circuit court in the suit of Richard W. Bishop against the Michigan Savings & Loan association, appointing Ralph L. Aldrich ancillary receiver to take charge of the defendant company's assets in this district. The suit was brought in the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Michigan and Aldrich was appointed receiver.

Attorney J. H. McCreery filed an answer to the rule granted on him to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt of court for failing to pay into court $2,000, a fund standing in the suit of Harold Nathan, executor, against Ida M. Younger and others. McCreery says he was in Baltimore at the time of the court's decision, and he did not hear of it until November 1. Besides, he says, the money is in New York and he will be compelled to go there for it.

In the suit of John A. Fleming against Eliza B. Bell, an action on a note, the defendant filed an answer yesterday. She says that she gave the plaintiff a note for $2,500 in part payment for land in Cecil township, Washington county, but claims that the plaintiff has no title to the land, nor does the deed given her convey all the property shown her at the time of the purchase. The defendant says that she has been damaged to the extent of $1,000 through the alleged false representations of the plaintiff, and asks for a setoff to that amount.

Walter M. Gill filed a bill in equity against Dr. R. V. Pitcairn, committee of Albert Pitcairn, a lunatic, to compel the defendant to carry out the terms of an agreement. It is set forth that the defendant executed a bond and mortgage to the Artemis Insurance Company for $11,500, upon a plan of lots which were assigned to the defendant April 27, 1901. A clause in the mortgage says that the insurance company can at any time release the lien from any lot upon the payment of $100 per lot. The plaintiff has sold 35 lots, 30 of which come within the agreement. It is said that an offer has been made of $3,000 for the release of 30 lots, but that the defendant refuses it.

SCHLEY COURT LAWYERS' INNING

Capt. Sigsbee and the Admiral First Made Corrections in Testimony.

THEN HANNA OPENS FOR THE DEPARTMENT

His Argument Carries Only as Far as the Retrograde Movement to Key West — Censures Subject Severely for That Maneuver.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—The Schley court of inquiry reached the argument stage at the beginning of the afternoon session today. The morning sitting was devoted to listening to Admiral Schley and Capt. Sigsbee in making corrections of their previous testimony, and the introduction by Judge Advocate Lemly of numerous documents bearing upon different phases of the inquiry.

Admiral Schley did not make any material additions to his previous statements, but devoted himself largely to the clearing up of ambiguous points.

An effort was made to introduce two new witnesses, who were expected to give testimony in Admiral Schley's behalf concerning the controversy as to what information Capt. Sigsbee communicated to Admiral Schley when he arrived off Santiago in May, 1898. One of these witnesses was Frank B. Richards and the other George Lynch, both of New York, and both newspaper correspondents who were on duty in Cuba and in Cuban waters during the war with Spain. Mr. Lynch was on the pressboat Somers N. Smith and Mr. Richards on the Premier. The court, however, decided not to hear them.

Hanna Makes the First Speech.

The opening speech of the argument in the case was made in behalf of the government by E. P. Hanna, assistant to the judge advocate. When the court adjourned he had not covered more than half of the ground involved in the controversy.

While Capt. Sigsbee was on the stand Mr. Rayner asked him if he had megaphoned or otherwise communicated to the pressboat Premier while off Santiago, that the Spanish fleet was not in Santiago. The witness replied that he had not done so, although he would have been justified in saying so if he had thought it proper under the circumstances of war.

When Admiral Schley was recalled he was suffering from a cold and his voice was hoarse.

Coming to his answer to a question in reference to his order sent below during the early part of the battle to "stand by to ram," Admiral Schley emphasized his former testimony by saying: "There was a distinct attempt to ram on the part of the Maria Teresa, Admiral Cervera's flagship, and the Vizcaya." He also reiterated his confidence in the Brooklyn's speed by saying: "With one engine and all the boiler power, she could have got up all speed that was needed.

With Sampson After Battle.

Admiral Schley also corrected his statement regarding his visit to the flagship New York when he had made his preliminary report of the battle of July 3 to Admiral Sampson. The record, he said, did not make the matter quite clear. "The admiral said to me," continued the witness, "that I had omitted a very important detail, which was to state that the New York was present."

Capt. Parker called the admiral's attention to the evidence of Capt. Sigsbee, in which he had said that when he went on board the Brooklyn the whole question, so far as he could remember, was coal and nothing but coal, and that Commodore Schley already had made up his mind to go to Key West.

"That was not the first question Sigsbee asked me at all," replied Admiral Schley. "I did not say to Capt. Sigsbee we were going to Key West, as the signal will show. Sigsbee was talking on the subject of coal, and since he mentions it, I recall the fact that his statement was that he was commanding a vessel that was one-tenth of a mile long, and that she could not turn her engines over under 150 tons of coal a day; also that he could not remain there very long; that he would have to go to Key West."

Q.—Had you, as a matter of fact, made up your mind at that time to go to Key West?

A.—I had not.

Instructions Against Bombardment

Admiral Schley then referred to his conversation with Admiral Sampson regarding his instructions about not bombarding fortifications as follows:

"I ought to mention, in connection with the talk I had with the admiral, in relation to his instructions about not bombarding fortifications, that I recall the fact that he and I were talking about the guns that were probably there, and I asked him whether he knew if they were Hontoria or Krupp guns. He said, 'Probably both,' and that recalls the circumstance to me.

A mention of the name of Lieut. Roys caused a sharp tilt between opposing counsel, soon after which the admiral was excused.

Mr. Hanna began his argument early in the afternoon session. He told of the arrival of the flying squadron at Key West and read a number of preliminary orders to Commodore Schley. Mr. Hanna claimed that the trip from Key West to Cienfuegos was not made as expeditiously as possible.

Mr. Hanna related the particulars of the meeting between Commodore Schley and Captain McCalla as Schley was on his way to Cienfuegos. "Captain McCalla," he said, "did not know that Commodore Schley was on his way to Cienfuegos, while Commodore Schley did not know that McCalla had been there.

Burden of Seeking Information.

"Under such circumstances," he continued, "the ordinary rules governing the intercourse between senior and junior officers did not pertain. In that case the burden of calling for information was placed upon the senior officer. Yet it is in evidence that the commodore did not request anything of Capt. McCalla."

Mr. Hanna read the order of Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, dated May 10, 1898, directing the commodore to take steps to prevent the enemy from continuing work on the new fortifications at Cienfuegos. "It does not appear," continued Mr. Hanna, "that any steps were taken to prevent work on these new fortifications. In fact, this order was not, so far as the testimony shows, in any way regarded."

He discussed the question of McCalla's signal code for communication with the Cuban insurgents at some length. If the lights were seen on the 22d, the circumstances, connected with the McCalla memoranda, would have rendered it incumbent, said Mr. Hanna, upon the commodore to investigate them. He contended that Admiral Schley should himself taken the initiative in ascertaining the presence or absence of insurgents, without waiting for signals from any one.

Blockade of Cienfuegos.

Mr. Hanna then took up the question of the blockade at Cienfuegos. He said that Admiral Schley had testified that the vessels in the daytime had tried a ruse to induce the enemy to come out. He called attention to the fact that this was not communicated to the captains of any of the vessels. He then read from the official documents to show that coaling was practicable and that it was continuously going on at the time reports regarding its practicability were made.

He said that at the time of leaving Cienfuegos Commodore Schley was under order No. 8, telling him if he was "satisfied that the Spanish fleet was not at Cienfuegos to proceed with all dispatch, but cautiously, to Santiago."

"How it was possible," said the speaker, "in view of this order, to report to the secretary of the navy as Admiral Schley did, that he would not move until the next day, is inexplicable."

Respecting the order that the Flying squadron on leaving Cienfuegos should mask its movements, Mr. Hanna said it was not carried out.

Mr. Hanna then took up the third specification of the precept, concerning the cruise from Cienfuegos to Santiago. He admitted that the Eagle had delayed the progress of the squadron, but said this was not due to the weather, but to water in her compartments. The testimony was, he said, uniform that the run was a slow one and that it did not proceed with dispatch, as directed.

Two Versions of One Interview.

He quoted Capt. Sigsbee's testimony that he had not told the commodore that the Spanish fleet was not in Santiago, and also gave Admiral Schley's version of the interview, claiming that Sigsbee did say that the Spaniards were not there. Mr. Hanna also referred to the testimony of Ensign Marble, saying Sigsbee had said he knew that the Spaniards were not in the harbor. Mr. Hanna thought there could be no difficulty in explaining the experience and knew very well that the fact that he had not seen the fleet was not evidence that the fleet was not there. If Capt. Sigsbee had said positively the fleet was not on the inside, Commodore Schley would have refused to accept it as utterly illogical.

Mr. Hanna took up specification 4, referring to the retrograde movement. He said that in making this movement Commodore Schley had not only taken away from Santiago the fighting ships of the Flying squadron, but also the scout vessels located there by the government to watch the mouth of the harbor.

"During this time," he said, "the gates of the harbor were left entirely unguarded and it was not our fault that Cervera's fleet did not get away without being destroyed."

oriental rugs

We sent our buyer over to the Orient for Rugs and Carpets this summer, believing that the nearer we got to the source the better selections we could get —and make better bargains.

It proved true.

Our buyer can't talk Turkish, but we don't believe the ability to talk Turkish or any other language will make a man a merchant.

Our representative is not a linguist, but he is a born trader and connoisseur of things beautiful.

A good trader never talks much anyway—he could fight for price with his ten good fingers, after he sees what he wants, and close the deal with a dumb handshake.

But the difficulties are not so great as some people would have you believe.

Let the Rugs and Carpets we have gathered, and priced on our small profit basis, prove whether we bought well or not. You do not care HOW it was done. All you want to know is that it is done and that the result is to your benefit.

Therefore come.

AN EDGAR THOMSON RECORD

Steel Output of October Reached 221,165 Tons of Ingots, Blooms and Rails.

The Edgar Thomson mills of the Carnegie Steel Company at Braddock during the month of October turned out the largest tonnage of finished steel that has ever been turned out in any similar steel plant in the world. They beat their own previous record by a wide margin. The figures were made public yesterday and show gains in every department.

The mills have held the world's record for output of steel since the plant was erected 25 years ago. The tonnage for the past month was as follows: Ingots, 82,256 tons; blooms, 71,673 tons; rails, 67,236 tons. At the prevailing price of rails, $28 per ton, the total value of the rails for the month would be $1,882,608.

See that Spot!

You dont, but your friends do.

Why don't you have it covered It can be done. The trouble is not chronic, but functional. It is caused by a weakened condition of the hair follicle, due to a microbe that feeds upon and destroys the delicate mucous membrane with which it is lined.

The hair-root, deprived of its nourishment, gradually becomes weakened, shrivels up and the hair easily falls from its collapsed follicle.

This very common condition—known as premature baldness—is overcome by the use of Cranitonic Hair and Scalp Food, the only safe and scientific cure for all hair and scalp diseases. It strikes at once at the seat of the disorder, destroys the microbe that causes it and assists in feeding the weakened hair-follicle back to health.

Cranitonic Hair and Scalp Food is not greasy or sticky, and contains no disagreeable or dangerous sediments. It is clear, pure as crystal, and delightful to use. Its odor is pleasant—yet not pungent. The important thing is—it grows hair.

For Sale by Druggists at $1.00 the bottle, or sent, expressage prepaid, upon receipt of price by the Cranitonic Hair Food Co.

SPECIAL NOTICE—If you have a thinly-covered spot like that shown above you are becoming prematurely bald. Don't wait until your case becomes chronic. Write the Cranitonic Hair and Scalp Institute, 526 West Broadway, New York City, and send a small sample of your hair combings; state in your letter if you have dandruff, falling hair or itching scalp, when our physicians will make a microscopic examination of the hair, mail you a report upon its condition and prescribe curative treatment free of charge.

To all who send hair we will mail free a 48-page illustrated book, entitled "Hair Cure;" also a sample of the Cranitonic products.

STARS CAREFUL OF FIELD GOALS

Swinn, the Brown Half-Back, Shows That He Can Cleverly Turn the Trick.

KICKED FOUR OF THEM IN PRACTICE

The Little Fellow Dropped, Kicked from 45 Yard Line and Sent Four Over in Succession—Will Be a Gala Football Day.

If Davy Fultz and his Homestead stars do not keep a watchful eye on Swinn, the little half back on the Brown university eleven, over at Exposition park this afternoon, he is very liable to shoot the pigskin between the goal posts and count up a field goal or two for his team. The little fellow is an expert at that kind of football work, and showed it in practice yesterday.

The varsity eleven arrived in this city early yesterday morning, coming direct from Providence, R. I. The morning was spent in looking about the city, Fultz, Gammons, Richardson and Hunt, a quartet of Ex-Brown stars, acting ass guides. Early in the afternoon the Varsity players donned their uniforms and proceeded over to Exposition park, where they had the liveliest kind of practice, which lasted from 2 until 4 o'clock. The field was wet and slippery from the rain and snow of the morning, but that did not bother the players in the least; in fact, they rather seemed to like it.

Reasons for a Bad Defeat.

Trainer Huggins, who is with the team, reported his men, that is those of them who took part in the Harvard slaughter of Saturday, in fairly good shape and would be ready to do themselves justice today. Regarding Saturday's game, the trainer said that Browns' sad downfall was largely caused by the absence of the two regular guards, who were laid up, and there were no guard substitutes for their places. The result was that Harvard could easily tear all kinds of holes through the line and block plays before they got rightly started.

When the team lined up for practice yesterday afternoon the regulars were all in line, and there was a strong force of substitutes ready for an emergency call. The practice was decided by the team's coach, and he saw to it that it was stiff enough to take all the kinks out of the players' legs and arms. The feature of the practice was Swinn's work at goal kicking. He tried four from placement, and sent the oval between the posts from the 45-yard line. It was a clever bit of work, which the Homestead players, who were on the side lines, applauded.

After the college team had got through practice the Stars had Dave Fultz at their head, took to the field and put in an hour at good, solid work. The subs were first lined up and put through, with Pete Overfield directing their movements, and after the regulars got to work under the direction of Manager Fultz. The only absentees were Mosse and Randolph, both of whom were at the hotel having their injured limbs treated. The Stars' practice, as usual, was very long, and there will be but little scrimping, even though the field was waterlogged.

Stars Will Get Their Trophy Cup.

This afternoon's game is booked to start at 3 o'clock, and that there will be a large attendance is shown by the advance sale of tickets. The afternoon will be a gala one, and the Homestead club officials have made arrangements for the big time. Just prior to the time for calling the game the two eleven will march in on the gridiron field and the Stars will be presented with the beautiful trophy cup offered by the Gazette and won by Homestead last season. The H. L. A. C. band, which will be on hand, will render a number of appropriate selections, Invincible Eagle, overture of popular songs, Indian War Dance, Darktown Jubilee, Songs from the Midway, Creole Belle. Popular music during intermission.

The teams will line up as follows:

Brown Varsity Eleven, Which Meets the Stars To-Day.

QUESTION OF SALARY.

Bobby Lowe Likely to Stick to Old League.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Robert Lincoln Lowe of this city, the famous third baseman of the Boston National league team, is one of the two men who have not yet signed contracts for the coming season. He and Dineen are now the only men without the contract in sight. Both are under the reserve rule, but Lowe has not yet made up his mind just what to do. He has received a very tempting offer from the American league, and it is hardly thought that he will jump the old organization for the new. Lowe says he will not sign for some time yet. He and Tenney were holding out for an advance in salary before the season opened in 1900, and finally they went to Boston and second baseman Lowe got the best of the deal. Lowe has turned down the offer which Lowe has turned down. He is too valuable a man to remain out of the game, and he will doubtless soon be signed by some club.

WHITNEY LEADS WINNERS.

His Horses Land $108,440 in Purses During Season.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(Special.)—William C. Whitney heads the list of winners on the American turf this year, with $108,440 as his share of stakes and purses. To the intensely practical mind this seems like a small return for the $600 or more that Mr. Whitney has spent on his horses, but doubtless the royal sport he has enjoyed more than makes up the difference.

John E. Madden is second in the list, with $103,115 to his credit. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrell hold third place, with $81,267, and Messrs. James R. and F. P. Keene, who led all the other winners in 1900, with $141,267, are now in nineteenth place, with only $18,525 to their credit.

W. U. P. WILL NOT PLAY HOCKEY.

It was decided last night at a meeting of the athletic committee of the Western University of Pennsylvania that W. U. P. will not be represented by hockey team, nor will any students of the university enter the interscholastic league. It was also decided that the W. U. P. basketball team will not enter the league, but will arrange for games with the Pittsburg Athletic club, Duquesne club, Pittsburg Athletic club, which at present is occupying the Y. M. C. A. floor, Geneva and Western University.

Among the Amateurs.

The Pittsburgh college team will play Geneva college eleven this afternoon at Exposition park, Beaver Falls.

The Mt. Washington Tigers desire games with 60 to 70-pound teams in Western Pennsylvania. Address Joe Lewis, 101 Ulysses street.

The Manchester A. C. wishes it known that it is in no way connected with the Manchester Tigers. Some people having the idea that they were the same team which is not the case.

The Hesperus A. C. would like to hear from all 60 to 70-pound teams in the Monongahela and Beaver valleys. Address Edward Hughes, 6 Cassatt street, city.

The Mt. Washington L. A. A. is without a game for Saturday, but has a fast 110-pound team. Will pay expenses for 15 men. For games address Burt Walsh, 22 Canal street, Pittsburgh.

The members of the Carnegie A. A. are requested to report for practice this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Thanksgiving Day is approaching and the management would like to arrange with any out-of-town team to play a game. Address Hunter, 23 Hillside street, Carnegie.

Owing to cancellation Company A, Eighteenth regiment team, is without a game for Saturday, and would like a game with any 120-pound team having grounds. Address Lee Mallride, phone 1, Homestead. Also books of said team ready to accept Homestead steel works. Mallride, the manager, is open to arrange a 10-pound team from some strong 10-pound team that will pay expenses for a game Saturday. They would like a game special for Saturday, Thanksgiving and second game for Labor day. Address as above.

The men from the university proper, the classical and engineering departments, attend all the games and say they know better how to behave than their less experienced colleagues. Almost the entire department will attend the contest, and many of them will be accompanied by ladies to add color to the throng.

With the six different departments, having six different school yells, and many auxiliary yells, the noise will be something terrific, continuous, and will leave a pleasing memory of it all. Since it is noise principally that makes up the good time at a football game, this promises to be a huge success.

The Geneva boys will meet the university boys at the train and escort them through the streets of Beaver Falls and New Brighton to the football grounds in the Beaver Valley park. The players will be at the head of the procession either in carriages or mounted on horses. Altogether it promises to be the greatest game of the year from a student's standpoint.

HOT AFTER O'BRIEN

Horse Breeders Want the Pole Lover Punished.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 4.—The committee of thoroughbred breeders appointed to investigate the moving of the three-mile pole at the Kentucky association track in order that a record might be written to it, Mackey, reported to a mass meeting of breeders that the committee found Dan O'Brien guilty of moving the pole, and of asking $5,500 more for the farm than the owner asked him at. The committee recommended that all sporting papers publish the testimony and that the next local grand jury be put in possession of the facts. The breeders will press the charge of attempted fraud if it can be done.

ASKS INVESTIGATION

Burgess Miller of Homestead Presents Memorial to Councils.

Burgess Clyde Miller, of Homestead, presented a memorial last night to the councils of that town, requesting an immediate investigation of the numerous alleged speakasies, recently made by the police of that town. The burgess says he did not like to raid the Elks' and Turners clubs, and throws all the responsibility on the police department.

The president of council suggested the appointment of a committee of three, which should be representative of the two committees of citizens. It is proposed that this committee be composed entirely of citizens not abiding offices and that they, at the same time, thoroughly investigate the alleged sweating of policemen and firemen in the city's public service.

THE ROOTERS WILL BE THERE

W. U. P.-GENEVA CONTEST TO BE A LIVELY AFFAIR

It Will Take Place at Beaver Falls on Saturday and the University Students Will Turn Out En Masse to Root for Their Team—German Bands, Tin Horn and Cow Bell Brigade Will Be Plenty.

More interest is being centered in the W. U. P.-Geneva football game to be played at Beaver Falls Saturday than in any other intercollegiate game to be played this season. The teams are about evenly matched and the college championship of Western Pennsylvania will practically be decided by the game. About 400 students will accompany the university team and before the game will parade the streets at Beaver Falls.

With the exception of the State college game the Western university has a clean record, and the Geneva boys have not as yet lost a game. Both schools are confident of winning and are backing their teams to the limit.

The only basis for a comparative estimate of the strength of the teams is the scores made against the Allegheny college team. Three weeks ago, with a crippled team and three substitutes playing, the university boys defeated Allegheny by a score of 11-0, and last Saturday Geneva piled up a score of 34 points against the same opponents. This would look as though Geneva would have an edge, but the university boys think differently, and say their game with Allegheny was the poorest of the season. This much is sure, they are both strong teams, and the game will be hard fought from start to finish.

Rooters Will Go on Special Train.

From 300 to 500 students will go to Beaver Falls to see the game, and a special train and special rate of 85 cents has been secured. At least two brass bands will be taken along by the rooters for the blue and gold, and if school and college spirit can win a game the team will return victorious.

With four men from the medical department occupying regular positions on the team and two substitutes it is expected to send the largest delegation. The men only attend about one game each season, but when they do go they do the thing up brown. Last year it was the Grove City game, played at Exposition park, that got the patronage. Two little German bands were hired and parade permits secured both in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. The whole college turned out and marched from the school clear over the line of the grounds, singing, cheering and yelling; all the boys say that two good German bands can make more noise and discord than any other combination known, and will therefore take two of these bands with them on Saturday.

The dental department do things up in about the same way as the meds., excepting that they arm themselves with cow bells, two or three to each man, and have been practicing in the university of being able to make more noise per minute than any of the other departments. A good percentage of tooth pullers are going and promise to begin early to make life miserable for the people at large.

The pharmaceutical men also have a reputation for noise making, and will probably add another band to the aggregation. Their real specialty is overgrown tin horns, on which they attempt with little or no success to play a variety of tunes.

The sedate law students say they will be out in force and will depend wholly on their oratorical lungs to hold up their end of the string, but are confident of being able to make themselves heard.

There Will Be Yells of All Kinds.

The men from the university proper, the classical and engineering departments, attend all the games and say they know better how to behave than their less experienced colleagues. Almost the entire department will attend the contest, and many of them will be accompanied by ladies to add color to the throng.

With the six different departments, having six different school yells, and many auxiliary yells, the noise will be something terrific, continuous, and will leave a pleasing memory of it all. Since it is noise principally that makes up the good time at a football game, this promises to be a huge success.

The Geneva boys will meet the university boys at the train and escort them through the streets of Beaver Falls and New Brighton to the football grounds in the Beaver Valley park. The players will be at the head of the procession either in carriages or mounted on horses. Altogether it promises to be the greatest game of the year from a student's standpoint.

YALE COACHES FIND A PUNTER

FERGUSON A SUB END PROVES THAT HE CAN KICK HARD

Was Not a Success at End, but May be the Man Needed for Fullback. Tigers Were too Badly Bruised for Fast Practice Work — Harvard Braced Up on Defensive Work Against Guards Back.

(Special Telegram to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 4.—The most surprising change of the season was made in the Yale eleven this afternoon. As the result of the unsatisfactory work of Weymouth in punting at West Point on Saturday, Capt. Gould today left his position at left end and went to fullback, a place where he has never been played. Gould got off some very good punts, getting 30 or 35 yards several times, which for a beginner is not bad.

After Gould had been tried in this position a second experiment was made. Ferguson, who was a substitute end rush last season, was tried at fullback. Ferguson's punting was better than Gould's. He got the ball away quickly and got good distance. His work was so good this afternoon that it looks as if he might be the man that Yale is looking for to brace up her kicking game. Ferguson has not been a success at end rush this season, and has not played on the 'varsity in some time. He has had good experience as a player in the rush line, but has never played behind the line.

The most satisfactory feature of the playing at fullback was his work in the interference. He is fast on his feet and very strong. It is a punter, however, that Yale needs back of the line, and must have in order to brace up her team.

Early in the season Billy Bull, the blue's most famous fullback, looked the kickers over and declared that they were well nigh a hopeless lot. Bull's prediction has been fulfilled. Yale does not have a man today who is certain of getting 25 yards on a punt at a critical moment.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The practice this afternoon on the 'varsity eleven was exceedingly light. Most of the men who took part in the Ithaca game were more or less bruised, and as a consequence were handled with care. The injury to Mills' ankle will probably keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. His loss is certainly felt, as his work thus far was of superior order, showing an increase of development from the game it will necessitate at each practice. With Mills' retirate Hillebrand, of light weight men for the position. Butkiewicz and Wright are the only men approaching 'varsity type, each being 10 pounds lighter than Mills. There was no scrimmage work today with the exception of the teams endeavoring to block punts and kicks.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Harvard took a decided brace on defensive play today. This has been her weak spot all the year, but today when the scrub tried Pennsylvania's guards' back formation against them the 'varsity not only held for downs, but threw the scrubs back for telling losses, forcing them from the 50-yard line to the 40-yard line in four successive plays. The work was sharp and brilliant in every particular and the coaches were greatly satisfied with it.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—The Red and Blue held their regular practice today. The gates at Franklin field were closed, and will remain so during the entire week of preparation for the Harvard game. While there is little hope of the Quakers winning this contest, it is evident that they will train desperately for the game, and will go down fighting to the end.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—While Cornell finds it hard work to forget Saturday's defeat, as they regard it as an unjust one, an atmosphere of cheer has gradually sprung up around the Cornell training quarters, for the Ithacans realize that there must be no cessation of their labors if they are to win the two remaining contests with Columbia and Pennsylvania. Today was one of rest for all of the 'varsity players, but the scrubs were given considerable work to do. Trainer Schoeckhoff took a close examination of all of the players, pronounced the Ithaca warriors to be in good condition and little the worse for the tussle with the Tigers. Schoeckhoff has a badly bruised face, and Tydeman still looks worn out.

OPPOSE BISHOP'S COMMAND.

Duquesne Slavs Prepare to Erect a Church, in Defiance of Bishop Phelan's Orders.

A peculiar controversy has arisen between Holy Trinity assembly, No. 38, First Slavian union, of Duquesne, and Rev. Richard Phelan, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh. The matter threatens to develop into an open war against the authority of the bishop, as the Duquesne Slavs refuse to accept his decision regarding their troubles.

The Slavs of Duquesne are anxious to proceed with the erection of a church. With this end in view they have purchased ground and were prepared to let a contract for the erection of a small building at once when the bishop refused to sanction the erection of the church. The Slavish Roman Catholic church of Monessen raised an objection, claiming the Duquesne Slavs were indebted to a certain extent of the Monessen church. The bishop investigated the matter and decided the Duquesne Slavs should pay $150 towards this church's debt.

At a meeting of the assembly yesterday it was decided to defy the bishop and the following resolution was adopted: "That the Slavish organization would not pay the sum demanded unless it could be proven that the Monessen church was legally entitled to it. That report thereof must not then come from the Monessen Slavs, but from a committee appointed by the entire congregation of the Duquesne church. At the same time a committee was appointed to solicit funds for the erection of a church. Over $1,000 in cash and pledges are said to have been secured last night, and the committee will begin the erection of a church at once."

JEFFRIES PERFECT SAYS A PHYSICIAN

Champion Is in Finest Possible Shape—Will Confine Himself to Light Work

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 4.—Dr. Charles A. Clinton of San Francisco, who has been here in attendance upon some of his patients, made a physical examination of the champion yesterday, and his verdict was that Jeffries was a superb specimen of manhood and was in perfect condition. The examination was made shortly after Jim had returned from a long run over the hills. Although he perspired freely and took off four pounds, the champion was as fresh as the proverbial daisy.

One of the visitors noticed that while the champion lay out on the rubbing board his chest stood out prominently and that he showed no stomach. Jim's brother Jack was chopping with great force upon the champion's dining department, but Jim did not feel it. This is due to the ridge of muscles he has, like Sharkey, developed to fortify the solar plexus. Gymnasium work is somewhat irksome to Jeffries and the latter never hurt him. As for Sharkey, the champion states that the sailor never landed a blow upon him that ever caused him to wince. Jeffries will not go into training over the Hills. He will confine his outdoor work to strolling in the mountains, short sprints and baseball. From now on he will work in the gymnasium for an hour each afternoon. He will not do too much boxing for fear of injuring his hands at the eleventh hour. Handling, skipping rope, bag punching and rowing will form his daily menu in the future.

When the champion boxes with Armstrong or his brother, he allows those two heavy members to work him to their might. He even pokes out his lean but hardened jaw to receive the blows. He does this in order to accustom himself to remaining cool when being punished by an opponent in the ring, as was done by the champion. Last night he tried to take a heavy calf up to Bob Armstrong's room, but the animal spoiled the game by crying and the colored boxer was warned.

MAKING PREPARATIONS.

Bricklayers and Masons' Local Union Ready for International Convention.

Allegheny local No. 4 of the Bricklayers and Masons' International union, after a special session last night, decided to call of fines of $15 each imposed on members of the Pittsburgh local No. 4, on the allegation that they worked under a non-union foreman in the Lindsey & McCutcheon mill of the American Steel Hoop Company. President Joseph Henry of the Pittsburgh organization championed the cause of the members of his union, proving that the men had quit work at the mill as soon as they learned that their foreman was not a member of the organization.

Member of both organizations are working hard on preliminaries for the thirty-sixth annual convention of the international organization, which will open in Pittsburgh the first week in December. President Henry of the Pittsburgh local has formally announced his candidacy as a delegate to the convention.

The premium for the best bricklayers has further advanced, some of the Pittsburgh contractors offering 75 cents an hour for skilled men on outside work. The Pittsburgh wage rate, according to the last agreement with the organized contractors of this district, is 50 cents an hour.

SWELL SOCIETY BURGLARS.

They Will Meet Tonight in Allegheny and Return Plunder. Stolen in Many a Raid.

"The Climbers" is the name of a recent organization of Allegheny society thieves. The members of the organization all belong to Allegheny Lodge No. 339, P. P. O. E., and are veritable "social highwaymen." With their faces concealed behind black silk masks, and attired in full dress, they pilfer the residences and present their booty at the following meeting as their credentials.

The organization was formed several months ago, and during the interim they have collected much plunder. At a banquet to be held tomorrow night in the club rooms on Cedar avenue, they will present all their plunder, thus securing admittance to the banquet. They will be attired in evening dress and wear their black masks. The articles stolen have all been taken from the residences of members and will be returned to their owners tomorrow night. All the slang used by the regular burglar will be used at the banquet, and any member, ignorant of the latest phraseology of the profession, will be fined.

J. Hal Kelley will act as toastmaster, and the speakers will include Col. John A. Fairman, Dr. R. G. Burns, W. W. Campbell, H. P. Staving, H. R. Pearson, J. T. Colvin and W. S. Barry.

Cured of Piles, Saved From Knife.

Mrs. Annie Medlon of Savannah, Ga., writes: "For about three years my little child, six years old, I have suffered greatly from piles. I could not bring myself to bear the thoughts of a surgical operation. Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me. For sale by all druggists. "Piles" (booklet) and "Cure" mailed free. Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich."

EUROPE DUMPS OUR SECURITIES

Selling Has Been Going on Since May, and End of Supply Not in Sight.

IT MEANS LONG DRAIN ON YANKEE GOLD

Bankers Look for $10,000,000 of the Yellow Metal to Go Abroad Before the Present Movement Ceases. Copper's Hoodoo Day.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—One of the most bewildering aspects of the current stock market situation has been the heavy selling of American securities by way of London, presumably for the account, not only of London, but of Berlin, Paris and other continental centers as well. This selling has been in progress off and on ever since the May panic. For several weeks after that violent disturbance, the liquidation was convulsive and easily explained as an international reflection of the Northern Pacific disaster. After the lapse of a reasonable period the selling lost its panicky aspects, but, nevertheless, continued on a considerable scale and is still going on.

Two months ago Wall street began to say that London had been "baled out," meaning that it was bare of American securities, and that presently the tide would have to turn; but, to the contrary, the liquidation persisted, and now that it continues to average nearly 15,000 shares a day, the financial community is confused to explain where all this stock is coming from. Apparently London has not only been a bottomless receptacle for it, but has even a greater store of American securities than Wall street imagined, and how much more there is left to sell is a problem of considerable importance.

Can Combine Out in the Cold.

Sterling exchange already tends toward the heavy exportation of gold, and the liquidation of American stocks by foreign holders simply means a greater burden upon the financial resources of Wall street. As fast as London sells our stocks, it demands payment therefor, and remittances on this account are doubly embarrassing at a time when New York bankers are sorely taxed to meet Europe's demand for gold on other accounts.

One explanation is that London interests have undertaken to break the American market in order to buy stocks at lower figures, and another is that the financial situation in London is really more grave than has been represented, and that foreign holders of our securities have of necessity to liquidate. The true explanation probably would be found to participate of both the foregoing. People sell stocks for one or two reasons, either that they need the money or expect anon to buy them back at lower prices. The idea of an organized bear campaign against this market, however, is an extravagant fancy.

Gold Exports May Reach $10,000,000.

Lazard Freres today engaged $1,500,000 gold to be exported to Europe on the German steamer sailing tomorrow. The natural inference would be that this shipment is directly in behalf of Germany; but owing to the complicated aspects of international exchange and the roundabout way in which recent transactions have been conducted, it is difficult to tell precisely for the account of whom this gold is going out tomorrow. More of the yellow metal probably will be shipped on Thursday by the French steamer, and bankers now reluctantly admit that the movement may involve $10,000,000 before it is done. The total already involved is $3,500,000.

A curious phase of to-day's engagement was that it occurred coincidently with the appearance on this market of a very large supply of cotton bills. The southern staple now is moving to seaboard in tremendous volume, but a large percentage of the bills thus created have been bought in advance by New York bankers who had to cover maturing "short" bills. The exports of cotton this week promise to break last week's record, and last week the exports were $3,000,000 in excess of shipments for the corresponding week of any previous year.

Hoodoo Day for Copper.

Either by a curious twist of chance, or for reasons beyond the ken of the ordinary observer, Monday seems to embrace a special hoodoo for Amalgamated Copper. The financial press this morning presented the customary bullish reflections and numerous rumors designed to break the stock gained currency in the street. Precisely the same thing happened last week during the initial market session, of which Wall street persuaded itself that the copper situation was really worse than had been reported, and that a slashing cut in the price of the product was then within the range of probability.

All of the evil rumors coined Monday a week ago and forgotten as time went along, were revamped and, curiously enough, certain official interests seemed to connive at giving these bearish reports plausible color. The same gentlemen who last week issued the more or less famous "umbrella" statement, reflecting the Standard Oil interests subsequently repudiated, again today ventured his authority for the assertion that the Amalgamated Copper Company had not abandoned hope of bringing about a working agreement with independent producers. Indeed, it would seem altogether probable that unless the independents can be brought into line, the high price of copper will have eventually to yield to the simple laws of supply and demand. So far from curtailing production, the Amalgamated Copper Company holds the "umbrella," the independent producers, by shading their prices below 17 cents, can find a ready market for their output at absolutely no risk to themselves. The exports of copper for the corresponding week of any previous year.

A Beaver Enterprise.

There was incorporated in New Jersey today the Beaver Manufacturing Company with an authorized capital of $100,000. The incorporators are J. R. Martin, R. H. Marks and E. J. Allison, all of Beaver, the nature of the intended business being not disclosed.

Cambria Steel to Rise.

The Philadelphia correspondent of J. S. Bache & Co., a New York wire house having extensive relations in the Quaker City, telegraphs: "We hear from very excellent sources this morning that in the next few days there is likely to be a sharp upward movement in Cambria Steel. It is cheap as an investment at this price (25¾), and would not be money lost should this rise fail to materialize. We think very well of the information, which comes of a worthy source."

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Latest Finds in Gold, Silver, Copper and Other Metals in the Far Western States.

(By Private Wire to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—At Cripple Creek last month more ore was treated by chemical processes than ever before. The total output of the camp was $2,258,340, an increase of $109,000 over September. Over 34,000 tons of gold bullion value of $1,053,340 was treated by the chemical processes.

October closed in the ore and bullion market of Salt Lake with settlements aggregating $1,956,437. The settlements for the two months of the year were $15,885,E3, which, with the bullion product of the Ingham and Matte from the Bingham Company, made the grand total of $21,414,000. Dividends amounting to $400,000 were paid by the mines during the month.

Reno, Nev., reports that a syndicate of Salt Lake capitalists have invested $200,000 in Tonopah and intend to have considerable to say in future operations of the new camp.

There is some excitement at Yimir, B. C., over the discovery of free gold, the milling quartz near the Yellowstone mine, some of the ore running $6,000 to the ton.

Late advices from Nome confirm the richness of the gold discovery on Candle creek, which is declared to rival Anvil and Eldorado. There was a rush from Nome to the new diggings, where at least $100,000 was snipped off the claims by pans and rockers before the frost checked operations.

During June, July, August and September the Klondike region produced $21,643,000 in gold, July was the banner month, with a record of $8,725,000. This estimate for the whole season, which should have closed about the middle of October, will show a total yield of $20,000,000.

Advices from Aspen, Col., note that Thomas McCoey of New York is negotiating for the Queens gulch, which was abandoned during the silver panic of a few years ago. The property is held at $100,000.

The dump of the Doane Rambler at Battle Lake, Wyo., is said to be worth $60,000. Unskilled men shot down the ore recklessly and thousands of tons of valuable material went to the dump, which, according to assays, shows $1 60 gold, $2 40 silver and $7 copper to the ton. It will cost about 50 per cent to extract the ore.

Foreign Bourses.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Money was in increased demand today in connection with the consols settlement and the payment of £1,000,000 of Indian council bills, together with the consols instalment due November 7 will diminish the supply. It is anticipated that the bank may find it necessary to borrow soon, in order to further reduce the supply. Discounts were steadier. Prices on the stock exchange opened steady. Business was inanimate. Consols hardened and were afterward easier. Americans opened quiet and steady and slightly above parity. Then they sagged, owing to lack of support, and closed dull. Grand Trunks were the best of the market. They hardened unexpectedly on large traffic increases. Rio Tintos opened easier and offered well.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—Business on the bourse today was almost stagnant. Prices were steady. Canadian Pacifics were in good demand on New York advices.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Prices were weak on the bourse today, owing to the apprehensions regarding Turkish affairs. There were few transactions effected, and those with no response. Some fractions reacted. Rentes, Turks and Spanish 4s declined. Brazilians were maintained. Rio Tintos opened firm, reacted and rallied weak. Kaffirs were inactive. In room De Beers and Kaffirs were supported at the beginning, but closed easier on London selling. The private rate of discount is unchanged at 2 15-16 per cent.

GOLD SHIPMENTS STILL CONTINUE

Speculators Who Expected an Upward Movement Were Disappointed.

SHARP ADVANCE IN B., R. & P. SHARES.

Liquidation in Peoples Gas Was Another Feature — Deposits of Bonds for Redemption Disappointingly Small.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Speculators were disappointed in their hopes of a rise in prices in today's stock market, of which they fancied that the active buying movement at the closing of Saturday's market after the appearance of an unsatisfactory bank statement, was a precursor. Reports continued reassuring today of the favorable progress of the negotiations over the Northern Pacific-Great Northern railway matter, but there is room for the question how far the forthcoming announcement of the result has already been discounted. The benefit of such a development as removing a threatened cause of damage to security values is self evident, but the financial project which these negotiations seek to adjust on a permanent basis has lost its magical power of appeal to the speculative imagination. The apparent decision on Saturday to adhere to an optimistic view of the money outlook was also modified today. The engagement of $1,500,000 in gold for shipment by tomorrow's steamer to Europe and the renewed struggle of the foreign exchange market in spite of sales against this shipment were clear notice of a considerable requirement still unsatisfied. The light offerings of government bonds for redemption compared with the large blocks of last Friday, came as another disappointment and dashed the hopes of considerable relief to the money market from that source. Today's deposit at the sub-treasury amounted in par value to only $159,000. The deposit at the sub-treasury of $200,000 for transfer to Chicago was another unfavorable item in the outlook. Last week's currency movement gave hope that the requirements had been satisfied and the current from that direction turned again toward New York, leaving only the need to be reckoned with for the future. Today's transfer had a disturbing effect on views, although it is not necessarily evidence of a renewal of any considerable demand from the west. Developments in the foreign market continued to be studied with interest as indicating the continuance of the gold movement. The European naval demonstration against Turkey seemed to have an unsettling effect on stock markets, but the renewed decline in sterling at Paris was more important from the New York standpoint. The withdrawal of the calling home of French capital on the present scale are not altogether clear. Industrial losses, speculative losses in copper and several large pending loans, including a Russian loan and a Chinese loan are supposed to form their part in the movement. Individual price movements in today's market do not call for special mention except for the liquidation evident in Peoples Gas and sharp advances in Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh stocks, amounting to 5½ points in the common and 7 points in the preferred. The market closed dull and heavy, but at some recovery from the lowest. Union Pacific rising on reaction over Saturday in the final dealings.

Railroad bonds were irregular. Total sales par value, $3,045,000.

United States Bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Americans Were Firm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram: An intense fog was a new factor that depressed the stock market to-day. American stocks were firm, but there was little interest taken in them till New York sent over some very heavy options in Union Pacific, Reading, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway preferred calls, some at the end of the year, but mainly at the end of January. There also was some excellent buying of Reading outright, but London remained flatless.

Your correspondent observes that New York is reported to be puzzled at the persistency of London sales. The explanation as understood is that investment trust companies are gradually realizing their American holdings at a high level.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Developments in the lower southwest fields began rather tame, nothing having been drilled into the sand that was more than ordinary in size or important as to location. Interesting developments are looked for in several localities before the week closes. The "Little Germany" district, in Marshall county, will be to the front with new attractions, and Beall's Mills and the Salem districts are expected to contribute something of interest.

In the Stout district, Doddridge county, the Carter Oil Company has completed a 6 test well on the John Wanstaff farm and has a show for a 15-barrel producer in the Gordon sand. The location is one-half mile southeast of the same company's No. 1 on the W. M. Williams farm.

West of the Wallace development in Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 2 on the A. F. M. Lyons farm and has a duster in the Gordon sand. The same company's No. 1 on the Jackson farm is holding up at 150 barrels a day, and the United States Oil Company's No. 4 on the J. W. Williams farm is producing 75 barrels in the Gordon sand.

In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company is drilling in the Gantz sand at its No. 3 on the C. J. George farm, and has a show for a small producer.

Three miles southwest of the Stout district, in Doddridge county, the same company has drilled its No. 1 on the Lee Law farm through all sands and has a duster.

In the south end of the Bealls Mills development, in Lewis county, the South Penn has completed and shot its test well on the D. A. Rumsburg farm and has a 50-barrel producer. In the same part of the pool J. M. Guffey & Co. have completed and shot No. 1 on the Cochran farm and have a well that will be a good producer. No. 2 on the same farm has been completed and shot, and is making 90 barrels a day.

In the Reed end of the pool, the South Penn Company has completed its No. 5 on the Owen McAnaney farm and has a strong gasser in the fifth sand.

On Indian Fork, Gilmer county, J. M. Guffey & Co. and Trees have completed their test well on the P. Elliott farm and have a show for a small producer.

In the same district the South Penn Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 8 on the W. H. Cox farm, and will have a fair producer from the first sand.

In the Davisville district, Tyler county, the American Oil Development Company and the South Penn Oil Company have completed No. 8 on the T. C. Ishbler farm and have a small producer in the Cow Run sand. In the same district, Kennedy, Lawrence & Co. have completed No. 4 on the W. F. McKnight farm and have a very light pumper in the Cow Run sand.

In the Standing Stone district, Wirt county, Cummings & McGraly have completed their test well on the J. Fansler farm and have a duster in the Big Injun sand. In the same district the Zanesville Oil & Gas Company has completed its No. 3 on the F. F. Foltz farm and has a 30-barrel producer in the Big Injun sand.

In the Pine Grove district, Wetzel county, the South Penn has completed its No. 6 on the M. A. Miller farm and has a 100-barrel producer. No. 3 on the Bishop Pinnock farm, in the same district, produced 25 barrels the first 24 hours after it was drilled into the Gordon sand.

In the Yellow creek development in Calhoun county, Cabbot & Co. have drilled in their test well on the J. N. Hamilton farm and have a show for a 10-barrel producer. In the same district the Enterprise Oil Company's No. 1 on the James W. Taylor farm is producing 15 barrels a day from the Keener sand, and will later be drilled to the twenty sand.

On the Ohio side, in the Graysville development, in Monroe county, the Fisher Oil Company has drilled in its well on the J. O. Jones farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Keener sand.

In the Macksburg field the McMann Farm Oil Company has completed its test well on the George McMann farm and has a small pumper. The Worrall Oil Company has a small pumper at No. 2 on the W. H. Worrall farm, and Wharton, Simpson & Co. have a duster at their test on the N. New farm.

CEREALS TAKE A TURN UPWARD

Bull Activity in Corn Helped by Strong Cables Were Responsible.

SHORTS ARE SQUEEZED IN THE UPTURN

Some Traders Contend That Real Effect of Summer Drought in Corn Belt Is Just Beginning to Be Felt—Provisions Dull.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Bull activity in the corn pit, aided by a strong cable list, helped all grains today. December corn closing ⅝c higher, December wheat ½@⅝c advanced and December oats ¼@⅜c up. Provisions closed a dull day 7½@22½c depressed.

Corn ruled strong and higher throughout the session, December opening ⅛@⅜c higher at 58¼@58⅜c on well-improved Liverpool cables. There was a general feeling at the close Saturday that today would bring another advance, and when the cables showed a foreign sympathy the early light trade picked up. Commission houses had good buying orders, and with but light offerings here and higher prices in the west, December advanced to 59⅛c. Longs were almost sellers for profits and a number of shorts were hurt in the upturn. Many traders are arguing that the real effect of the summer destruction of the crop is just beginning to be felt. December eased late in the day on profit-taking and closed firm ⅝c higher at 58¾c. Receipts were 110 cars.

Strong Liverpool cables, based on the advance here and weekly bearish statistics were contending influences in the wheat pit. December opened ⅛c to ¼@¼c higher at 70⅜c to 70⅝@71c, largely on the foreign bulge. There was a slight inclination to respond to the numerous bearish influences of increased receipts, world's shipments and amount on passage, and December did ease off to 70⅝@70⅜c, but when the rise in corn began wheat immediately followed and sold up to 71⅝c. Business was quiet, the cash demand slow and elevator interests prominent sellers. Despite these depressing factors the general temper of the crowd brought a firm close for December, ⅝@⅞c higher, at 71¼@71⅝c. Local receipts were 142 cars, 11 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 1,000 cars, making a total for the three points of 1

Market Fairly Active, but Narrow and Irregular

A. W. GLASS WAS STRONG

The Common Stock Advanced Over a Point Without Much Selling.

PITTSBURGH COAL PREFERRED FIRMER

The Steel Issues Were Steady to Firm — Fire Proofing Preferred Was Quite Active — Airbrake Was Weak — Philadelphia Higher.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday the market was fairly active at times, but rather narrow and quite irregular in tone and action. About the strongest thing in the stock department was American Window Glass common, which closed the day at 57¼, a gain of 1¼. Despite the sharp advance, only 355 shares were sold, and most of that changed hands at the second call. The preferred was steady at 90 for 90 shares, a decline of ⅝. The price is the lowest point the stock has touched in months. A decided feature of the opening was the heavy buying of Pittsburgh Coal common and preferred by the house that promoted the company. This firm seemed willing to take all the stock that offered, and, in fact, were the only buyers, getting 1,000 common shares at 27⅝, and bidding that price for more. The also got 823 of the preferred, which opened at 92¼, and went steadily up to 92¾, a gain for the day of ⅛. The close—27⅝, paid for the common—was the same as that Saturday. At the first call the buyers bid 92¼ for any part of 1,000 shares of the preferred, after getting about 650 River Coal common was dull and heavy, though unchanged in price, at 13. At the close the stock offered freely at 13⅛, with only 12¾ bid. The preferred did not sell, but closed at 46 bid. In the Steel shares there was but little change. Crucible common was very dull, selling only 250 shares, and closing at 23, the last price. The preferred was firmer and more active, nearly 800 shares selling, the closing figure, 84¼, being a loss of ¼. Still, that price was bid at the finish for 400 more part of 1,000 shares by one house, while others wanted smaller blocks. Of United States Steel common only 20 shares sold, the buyer paying 54, a loss of ⅛. He, however, bid that figure for several hundred more afterward. The preferred opened at 92, went up ⅛, and broke to 91½ at the close on sales of 170 shares. Fire Proofing preferred was quite active, and at the opening also quite firm, going up to 42. Immediately after the first call, however, it broke to 41⅝, and closed finally rather weak, at 41⅜. The common was dull and ¼ lower at 22. Pressed Steel Car preferred advanced 2 to 82½, and finished strong. Westinghouse Airbrake was the object of a good deal of selling, and 700 shares changed hands. The opening price was at 171, but the stock closed at 170, with offerings at 170½, and no bids. Westinghouse Electric seconds also declined ¼ to 69¾, but closed steady at that and no bid. Three small lots of Real Estate Trust sold at 250, a loss of $2 a share. There was quite a demand for Consolidated Traction common stock receipts, which advanced from 23 to 23⅜ bid for 1,000. The preferred was firmer at 63½ bid. Philadelphia common was quite strong at the last call, being bid up from 47½ to 48⅜, without any stock appearing. An exchange seat offered down $50 to $5,200 without a bid. Keystone bank was $2 higher at $320 bid. It offered at $400. There were no other important changes.

The following is a complete summary of the day's official transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. It shows the change in the closing selling prices, compared with the last preceding sales of each security, the opening, high, low and closing prices, new high records and final bids and offers:

SMITHFIELD STREET REALTY SOLD

SIXTH AVENUE CORNER SOLD

An Eight-Story Block With Forty Feet Frontage Brings $200,000.

TWENTY-SECOND WARD SITE EXCHANGED

Good Sales in Braddock and Turtle Creek — Drug Store for Wylie Avenue — Rapid Building in Brownsville Road.

The property, Nos. 611 and 613 Smithfield street, adjoining and in front of the rear extension of the Lewis block, at Sixth avenue and Smithfield street, has been sold by the owner, D. T. Watson, to Henry W. Oliver. The purchase price, it is said, is $200,000. Mr. Oliver is the owner of the Lewis block and this purchase squares out his property. In addition he has a rear entrance, through the ownership of the George K. Stevenson block, to Sixth avenue and Strawberry alley. The property sold is 40 feet front by 60 in depth. The sale was made on a basis of $5,000 per front foot in Smithfield street for the realty, and in addition to the appraised value of the building. The building is comparatively new, of granite front and steel construction, eight stories in height, the floors and height being on a level with those of the Lewis block adjoining. The exact cost of the building is given as $80,000, but allowing for depreciation, the present value was estimated to be $60,000, making the total amount of the sale $200,000. The negotiations were conducted by the Real Estate Trust Company.

Tombaugh & Co. closed an exchange deal yesterday amounting to $22,500. By the transaction John H. O'Donnell, the real estate broker, acquires 259 feet of vacant frontage in the corner of Lloyd street and Reynolds avenue, Twenty-second ward, formerly owned by Mrs. Nannie H. Robinson. One section of the property is situated on the west side of Lloyd street and has a frontage of 240 feet. The other fronts 55 feet on the east side of Lloyd street. The property lies in what is known as the Lang avenue plan of lots, between the Woodsell residence and the Coleman mansion. It is only a short distance from Point Breeze, which is rapidly becoming a very desirable residence section. In exchange Mr. O'Donnell transfers to Mrs. Robinson a one-story frame house and a double two-story frame house, lot 31x125 feet, on the east side of Carrara street, in the Twentieth ward. This property is valued at $8,500. The balance of the purchase money was paid in cash.

Tombaugh & Co. also sold for Mrs. M. J. McAdams to Wilbur Crawford a two-story brick house, lot 20x60 feet, at 1413 Pasture street, for $15,650.

The Union Realty Company sold for Frederick W. Kramer an improved property, situated in the Fourteenth ward, consisting of a lot with a frontage of 40 feet on the west side of Terrace street by a depth of 150 feet and being 59 feet wide in the rear, being lot No. 4 in the plan or sub-division of W. H. Dauler. The consideration is $3,100.

Thomas A. Colvin of Braddock sold for William Orr to Philip Dugel a residence property at Hawkins, for $4,-000. The lot is 40x158 feet, and lies on the north side of the Pennsylvania tracks. It is improved with two frame houses, one of eight and the other six rooms, which the purchaser will rent.

W. A. Bryant of Turtle Creek closed a sale yesterday of a three-story business block in Westinghouse avenue, near Station street, Wilmerding. William Osterman was the former owner and Elmer E. Locke the purchaser. The purchase price was $5,500. The block is now occupied by a wholesale liquor store and residence apartments and was bought for an investment.

UNION'S ANNUAL MEETING.

Presbyterians Elect Officers and Discuss Plans for a Banquet in December.

The Presbyterian Union of Pittsburgh and Allegheny held its thirteenth annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church parlors. The Rev. E. R. Donehoo, treasurer, read his annual report, showing a balance of $312 26 in the treasury. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, William C. Lilley, Esq.; vice president, the Rev. D. M. Skilling, of the Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny, secretary and treasurer, the Rev. E. R. Donehoo, D. D.; executive committee, Prof. A. S. Hunter, Prof. James E. Morrow, Marcus C. Acheson, Esq., Prof. J. C. Armstrong and E. E. Fulmer, Esq.

Plans for a banquet in honor of the moderator of the general assembly, the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Minton, were discussed. The matter was referred to the secretary with instructions to make arrangements for holding the banquet during the first week of December, if practicable.

Accused of Beating a Boy.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 4.—Miss Jennie Prentice, the pretty Bairdstown school teacher, who is alleged to have cruelly beaten Hazlett Hosack, 14 years old, recently, has been held for the November term of court. Bail was furnished by her friends at the office of Justice J. B. Torrence of Bairdstown. The evidence adducted at the hearing was considered sufficient grounds to hold the young woman for trial at court.

Cattle.

Receipts of cattle at the East Liberty yards amounted to 180 cars, and the supply was more than equal to the demand. The inclement weather was blamed to some extent for the dearth of buyers, for selling was slow. Best grade exporters and prime butcher stock were in light supply, and sold at prices just about steady. Prices for medioms were from 10 to 20 cents lower. There were very liberal receipts of medium cattle, cows and heifers, with the market very dull and selling irregular, and a decline of 10@20 cents. Receipts were from Ohio and West Virginia, as well as Pennsylvania, with some Chicago cattle also arriving. Considerable stock was left steady. Prices: Extra, 1,400 to 1,500 pounds, $5 70@6 00; prime, 1,200 to 1,300 pounds, $5 60@5 80; good, 1,200 to 1,300 pounds, $4 60@5 00; fair, 900 to 1,000 pounds, $3 90@4 20; common, 800 to 900 pounds, $3 50@3 80; mixed steers, $3 60@4 00; common to fat cows, $2 00@3 00; fresh cows, $35@50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Arrivals of sheep and lambs today were about the same as last Monday, when 30 car loads were received. This is but a fair supply, not heavy, and prices held steady for sheep, which composed the larger portion of the receipts, and higher for best lambs, which were quite active. Other grade lambs were steady. Stock was not of very good quality. Quotations are: Best wethers, $5 10 to $5 25; $3

JANE TOPPAN A SANE WOMAN

Lunacy Will Not Be the Defense of the One Accused of a Dozen Murders.

DETECTIVE ASSERTS HE HAS STRONG CASE

Will Not Say Anything About the Evidence He Has Collected—One Theory is the Defendant Got Her Poison from Embalming Fluid.

(Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 4.—The conversation and acts of Jane Toppan belie the statement that she is insane. Even her counsel, Mr. Murphy, after having held a long consultation with his client, said to your representative tonight: "I do not believe that Miss Toppan is insane. I am not an expert, but that is my opinion."

Search of the records of the various pharmacies about this section has failed to find any place where Miss Toppan secured arsenic. It devolves upon the government to prove that Miss Toppan had arsenic in her possession, but the officers have not found a single clue along that line. Pharmacies are not numerous in this section of the state. It would have been possible to purchase arsenic at Buzzards Bay, Woods Hole, Falmouth, Barnstable or Hyannis. Miss Toppan was acquainted in Woods Hole, having conducted a dining-room there, and she visited Buzzards Bay; but at neither locality did she purchase arsenic, nor do the records show a sale of arsenic to any person, so far as could be ascertained by a reporter.

The theory has been advanced that Miss Toppan possibly secured the arsenic from the embalming fluid. This theory has been advanced by one government official.

Difficulty to Prove the Theory.

The government, to prove this, would be compelled to show that the nurse was sufficiently well versed in chemistry to perform the experiment, and also to show where she did it. No one at the Davis house ever saw Miss Toppan conducting chemical experiments, and it is asserted that the necessary apparatus was not at hand with which to extract the base of embalming fluid.

This theory also fails to explain the matter satisfactorily, since the undertaker employed on the case previous to the death of Mrs. Gibbs would have noticed had any extra fluid been taken by the nurse or would have missed it from the bottle containing it. It is, nevertheless, pointed out that Miss Toppan was greatly interested in the process of embalming, and that she assisted the undertakers in preparing bodies for burial. In fact Jane Toppan practically prepared the body of Mrs. Annie G. Gordon for burial under orders of Alvin P. Davis.

Quite a commotion was caused at this time in Cataumet by Davis. Davis was eccentric, and among those eccentricities was his distrust of undertakers and his hatred of "the coffin trust," which prohibited undertakers selling coffins to persons other than those of their profession. The day of the funeral of Mrs. Gordon the old man addressed the mourners and neighbors assembled in the Jachin house, and in a rabid speech declared he would fight the coffin trust to the death; that he "would smash this trist."

Had to Bow to the Trust.

After Davis had failed to purchase a coffin he called in an undertaker and the remains were buried.

"When we have told all we know to support the charge we have made against Miss Jane Toppan, the Robinson poisoning case, the most famous that has ever been heard in a Massachusetts court, will sink into insignificance."

This statement was made today by Gen. J. H. Whitney of the state police force, the man who knows more about the evidence the government has gathered to substantiate its charges against the woman than even District Attorney Holmes, who ordered her arrest.

"But I cannot tell you more," said Gen. Whitney. "For the present I must tell it only to the district attorney."

Gen. Whitney reached his home in Medford yesterday morning from New Hampshire, where he had been on a case in which Miss Toppan is not interested, and this is the first time he has talked with a reporter since her arrest. He admits that after he took Miss Toppan into custody in Amherst, N. H., he warned her not to talk to any one but her attorney about her case unless she decided to tell the government what its representatives think she knows of at least 12 deaths.

"She did not tell me a single thing that will help us in clearing up the mystery surrounding all the deaths that have occurred," said Gen. Whitney; "but I will say for her that she was very lady-like, and acted as if she was as eager to have everything cleared up as we are. When I placed her under arrest she did, not make any objections, and although she could have caused me considerable trouble to get her out of New Hampshire, she consented to accompany me to Massachusetts as soon as I was ready to bring her."

GOING HOME TO VOTE.

President Roosevelt Journeys to Oyster Bay to Exercise the Right of Franchise.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt and party arrived in New York at 6:20 tonight, an hour and 20 minutes behind schedule time. The party will remain in New York over night and tomorrow will be taken to Oyster Bay, Long Island, where the president will cast his vote. He will remain scarcely more than an hour in Oyster Bay, returning in time to take an afternoon train tomorrow out of the Jersey City depot of the Pennsylvania railroad for Washington.

The president was in excellent spirits and enjoyed to a degree the little respite from official exactions. He spent most of the trip from Washington chatting jovially with the rest of his party, or on the observation platform of his car. Arrived at New York the president and party were driven to the residence of the president's aunt, Mrs. James H. Roosevelt.

SCRANTON, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Recorder Connell today signed the ordinance imposing a tax on the gross receipts of gas, water, light, telephone, telegraph and trolley companies.

The new ordinance will compel these public service corporations to contribute $100,000 annually to the city treasury or enough to pay one-fourth of the municipal expenses. The ordinance was made possible by Scrantons new second class city charter, and the much maligned "ripper bill."

MEADVILLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—About 400 of the employes at the Erie railroad machine shops in this city have received an advance of 10 per cent. in their wages.

Buy the Best You Can Afford,

But Don't Spend Any More Than Is Necessary.

That's a good rule to follow in buying your clothing. You know how much you can afford to spend. The only point at issue is: WHERE WILL YOU GET THE BEST CLOTHING FOR THE PRICE YOU WISH TO PAY? Surely not there, where, owing to his limited business or ability to make quick payment, the dealer must pay more for his goods, and must sell them at higher profits, than we do. Don't you think that "The Big Store," having the largest outlet in town, can well afford to undersell all other stores? Well, the fact of the matter is, we not only can, but we DO. Here is an example to prove it:

The Suits and Overcoats We Offer at $10

We take this for an illustration, because every store in town has its "$10 line."

Our Suits at $10 come in extra quality hair line Worsteds, fancy Gray and new Striped Worsteds, Oxfords, Cheviots, &c., warranted PURE WOOL, while the Overcoats come in Oxford Gray Vicunas, new Gray Mixed Worsteds, &c., cut in medium or extra lengths, and strongly lined, made and finished—just such Suits and Overcoats as you will have to pay $15 for elsewhere. We shall only be too glad to have you take one of these Suits or Overcoats to any Pittsburgh store for comparison. The result will show that we are right, and what we have said about our $10 garments applies also to our finer and finest ones at $15, $18, $20, $25, $30 and $35.

Pure Worsted Dress Pants $3.50

In very latest stripes, cut and made like to-order work, highest quality, $5 and $6 values, at.....
